WHAT FAITH IN GOD THROUGH JESUS CHRIST HAS DONE FOR THIS PRESENT LIFE.

REV. W. D. REID, B.A., B.D.

There are some who tell us, that as soon as a man becomes a Christian, in the evangelical sense of the term, his usefulness is done as far as this world is concerned; in other words, that as soon as a man exercises a living personal faith in God through Jesus Christ, other worldliness causes him to neglect the improvement of his environment in this present life. I wish at present to deal with this claim from a purely historic standpoint.

In dealing with this subject, let us disencumber it of all ideas and questions as to the "Church." While the Church is the place where the principles taught by Jesus should be embodied and lived, no candid man will deny that too often
