

this original form of baptism, though perhaps necessary in our northern climates, has rendered obscure to popular apprehension some very important passages of Scripture." See "Life of St. Paul."

Archdeacon Farrar, D. D., F. R. S., says in his famous, "Life of St. Paul": "The life of the christian being hid with Christ in God, his death with Christ is a death to sin, his resurrection with Christ is a resurrection to life. The dipping under the waters of baptism, is his union with Christ's death; his rising out of the waters of baptism is a resurrection with Christ and the birth to a new life."

Canon Liddon, in his "Bampton Lectures," page 346, says: "As the neophyte (i. e., new convert) is plunged beneath the waters, so the old nature is slain and buried with Christ. As Christ crucified and entombed, rises with resistless might from the grave which can no longer hold him, so, to the eye of faith, the christian is raised from the bath of regen-
