

5. To see that men when arriving on board after their day's work, are properly looked after and that the men's living compartments are attended to while the men are on the ice (cleaning up).

DUTIES OF BARREL MAN FOR SAFETY OF CREWS WHILST ON ICE

1. To see that when men are away from the ship at work killing seals or travelling in lots, to always set or take their bearing by compass in case of bad weather, snow or fog or the loosening up of ice.
2. To report to my Captain always during each day ice conditions or of any difficulties in the way of the men on ice of my own ship's crew or others for their safety.