

It is with pleasure the Court would note the hearty manner in which the congregation join in the rendering of the Psalms and Hymns contained in our admirable Hymnal, proving that a well trained choir can be made a help instead of a hindrance in leading our Songs of Praise. The cost has, necessarily, been somewhat increased, however, only $1000, or a reduction of $300 on the previous year, has been charged to the ordinary revenues of the church, and the balance has been provided for by special subscriptions.

CONCLUSION.

From the foregoing report it will be gathered that the various schemes of the Church have been liberally sustained.

God grant that during the year upon which we have entered, the Congregation may by their prayers and offerings show an increasing interest in all the work we have undertaken to do.

The whole respectfully submitted.

GEO. HYDE,
Clerk.
