GALT, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—A serious explosion took place this afternoon in the music store of A. S. Taylor, Main-street. Mr. Taylor was boiling a quantity of oil on a stove in the rear of his shop, when the liquid be-came ignited and within a few monents the store was filled with a dense moke, which, being unable to escape, caused an explosion.

The big plateglass window in the tore front was completely demolished. The fire was extinguished without the aid of the brigade. Mr. Taylor was badly burned while extinguishing

The Apostle James gives us an appalling picture of nominal Christianity saying. "From whence comes bustlings and controversies among you? Come they not hence even of your desires and possess not; ye envy and desire to have and cannot obtain." I will accept this wonder that take of when two of them asked that they might sit next to Him. what these can do that will be most pleasing in His sight; namely, they can show their thankfulness by accepting heartily, fully, His arrangement—the cup of experience which He sees best for them, the cup which is made incidentally a feature of this Great Salvation of the elect Church. This is the cup to which our Lord referred on the night of His Memorial Supper, saying, "This cup is the blood of the New Covenant shed for many for the remission of sins." It is His cup: it represents His sacrifice. In one sense of the word He drained that cup to its dregs, and yet in another sense of the word He lett a share of that cup for all of His followers to partake of, that they might be sharers in the sufferings of Christ and later on be sharers also in His Milennial Kingdom glory.

cup which our Lord refers to again. Does someone suggest that these are signs of increasing mental weakness? We reply, Yes; but the mental weakness is largely attributable to the prevalent spirit of selfishness and ambition, which desires more than it can grasp, or grasps more than it can endure. Then comes envy of others a trace of when two of them asked that endure. Then comes envy of others a trace of when two of them asked that the month of the same of the same of them to particles as necessary for them asked that the particles are the same of th

James iv., 1-3.

From this it is evident that not only the world is not in a properly thank file the eded assistance and grace to accept all the experiences, trials, testings, etc., which His wise and loving providence shall permit, relying upon His promise for "grace sufficient for every time of need."

Amongst the sacrifices of olden time submission to the divine will and is at-tainable thru the wisdom that cometh sacrifices of thanksgiving are not meretainable thru the wisdom that cometh from above. This heavenly wisdom or knowledge of the divine character and purposes is not granted to all mankind. Rather mankind in general are so out of tune, out of harmony with the Lord and his wise and gracious purposes, and present conditions in the world so misrepresent the divine character and plan that none can know the mind of the Lord, the purpose of
