A. McNaughton, Ex-Public School Inspector for Stormont, Still

Hale and Hearty.

Special to The Toronto World.
Cornwall, April 15.—A. McNaughton. ex-public school inspector for the County of Stormont, celebrated his 95th birthday, Saturday, April 14. For a period of 38 years he filled the position of inspector, resigning October 27, 1909. He was appointed inspector in June, 1871. Tho nearing the century mark, Mr. McNaughton is still hale and hearty and walks quite briskly. He goes down town to the postoffice for his mail every day, and his appearance and every act would credit him with being almost twenty years younger than he is.

Born in Killin Parish, Perthshire, being almost twenty years younger than he is.

Born in Killin Parish, Perthshire, Scotland, he came to America in 1845 and settled in New York state, where he taight school for four years. In 1846 he came to Ontario and taught school in, Vankleek Hill and L'Orignal for 18 years. In 1866 he resigned his position in L'Orignal and moved to Finch Township, where he engaged in farming for four years. In 1883 he came to Conwall, previous to which he resided in Newington for some time. At the time of his resignation he was the oldest inspector in Ontario. During the troublesome times of 1866, he closed his school and volumeered to serve on the frontier, with four of his senior pupils. His services were accepted and he was stationed at Conwall garrison for a time in the spring and afterwards at the garrison at Prescott, where he was enisgin in Company No. 3, of the 18th Battalion.

He is still keen of intellect and about 130 acres, nearly all under cultivation; good hay and grain farm; two-storey brick house, nine rooms, large cellar; barn, outbuildings and orchard; situated on Dundas street. Trafalgar: 15 miles from Toronto, 23 from Hamilton; convenient to Oakville, Streetsville, Port Credit and Erindale. Address E. House, Erindale.

Todon, April 15, via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—The Duke of Connaught inspected the Canadian camp at Witley, near Godalming on Saturday. The troops regarded the visit of the duke as a delicate compliment to their brothers in France, whose provess has won encomiums from the empire and its allies.

The Duke of Connaught spent two hours inspecting the camp and then witnessed evolutions on the parade ground, including gas drills. He afterwards separately inspected the various units, giving special attention to the infantry battalion recruited mainly from Irishmen in Canada, who displayed the colors recently presented to the regiment by the late duchess. The duke shook hands with the lieutenant-colonel commanding, and also with each subordinate officer, and, speaking with emotion, reminded the men of the high esteem in which they were held by the duchess. He alluded to the pride she took in presenting the colors and the expressed the certain belief that the men would worthly uphold the high esteem in which they were held by the duchess.
