DISCRIMINATION IS VETERANS' CHARGE

C.E.F. Men Outside Canada
Are Debarred From Recent Pension Increases.

C. E. F. veterans resident outside of Canada, no matter whether in Berlin, Paris, New York, London or Minneapolis, are not included in the 30 per cent. increase in pensions recently passed by the Dominion House of Commons. A notable visitor to the office of Comrade W. E. Turley, provincial secretary G.W.V.A., Ontario, yesterday, F. Gordon Wright, secretary G.W.V.A., Minneapolis, made this very clear in an interview he gave to The World last evening.

"I may say that there are 5,000 C.E.F. veterans in Minneapolis alone, and perhaps 50,000 in the United States, who are debarred from the benefits of this increase which goes into effect on September 1. You will recall that on September 1 last year the Canadian government granted C.E.F. pensioners a twenty per cent. increase, applicable to all members, outside and inside the country. This 20 per cent. increase automatically lapses a year from next September, that is in September, 1921. The position, then, is that the C. E. F. pensioners resident outside the Dominion will continue to receive the twenty per cent. increase they have received since last September, but will not be entitled to the 30 per cent. increase which goes into effect on September 1, this year. The 20 per cent. increase they are now receiving will lapse automatically unless sufficient influence is brought to bear upon the Canadian government to do justice by them.

It must be remembered that these C.E.F. men in the United States who are so seriously discriminated against in this matter are practically seventy per cent. American men who came over from the United States in 1915 and 1916 or who were already in Canada when the war broke out and enlisted with the Canadian forces, and as such are at least as much entitled to consideration as others who enlisted with the Dominion forces."

Privileges Compared.
Comrade Wright in conclusion drew a comparison of privileges received by A. E. F. returned men in the U. S. A. and those received (or not received) by C. E. F. men resident in the States. A. E. F. veterans, he said, received a federal bonus of $50, a state bonus of about $200, war risks on a basis similar to that of the C. E. F. veterans, and vocational training. C. E. F. veterans resident in the United States were debarred naturally from all privileges given to A. E. F. veterans. Also, they did not receive vocational training privileges, these being reserved for those C. E. F. veterans resident in Canada. They were not excluded from pensions but

ARE WAR WIDOWS TREATED UNJUSTLY?

Many Returned Men Declare the Women Should Receive Full Gratuity.

Widows of C.E.F. men who fell in battle are entitled to gratuity with respect to their husbands who fell in battle, but not only are they debarred from the full gratuity received by men lucky enough to return to their homeland, but also they suffer the deduction of the two months bonus in pension received when pension to widow was originally granted.

This is apparent from a memo sent out by the Dominion Command of the G.W.V.A. to provincial offices. In a detailed communication upon the subject, it is pointed out that where the two months' pension was not originally paid the dependent she is entitled to the $180 received in gratuity by dependents of C.E.F. veterans, but where it can be shown that the widow or other dependent of a soldier who died while on active service has received the two months' pension bonus this sum, often amounting to $44 or $80, will be deducted from the gratuity to which she is entitled, viz., $180.

Veterans are generally of opinion that this action on the part of the government is discriminatory against dependents of returned men, the feeling being that if the returned man is lucky enough to return to the Dominion receive the full gratuity of $420 or $600, widows are morally even more entitled to that full gratuity, especially in view of the fact that the loss of the bread-winner of the family is a great hardship for both the widow and her children, the widow being now burdened by the additional anxiety of providing for the family, an anxiety which lessens her influence within the family circle.

MANY APPLY FOR MOTHERS' PENSIONS

At a meeting of the newly-appointed mothers' pension board yesterday it was announced that ten investigators would be appointed, preferably trained nurses and social service workers. They will be located at the larger centres of population throughout the province.

So far, Rev. Dr. Bryce, the chairman, said, a great many applications for pensions had been received. After the investigators had been appointed these would be dealt with as soon as possible.

The board will meet again next Wednesday.
