under control. The building this morning presented a very uninviting appearance. The immence quantity of water that had been poured into it last night was dropping from the ceiling of the second floor like rain. The wall-cases on either side of the ground floor nad been covered with rubber sheets, by the members of the salvage corps, and much of the stock in the retail department, will probably be saved. The firemen this morning removed from the top of the building, the heavy metal cornice that overhung the sidewalk, and threatened to fall.
