WESTON ENDS HIS LONG TRAMP

Crosses United States in Seventy-Seven Days, Beating Schedule by Thirteen Last Stage Was a Triumphant March

Yonkers, N. Y., May 2.—Refreshed after his rest here on Sunday, Edward Weston, the 27-year-old pedestrian, set out early today on the last twenty miles of his long tramp from Los Angeles to New York. Several hundred persons assembled in front of the hotel where the intrepid man had spent the night and it was difficult to force his way through the cheering throng into the road. Weston was in high spirits and took the buffet by the hand in an encouraging greeting. "Bully for you old fellow," he retorted in a low thank you. "I feel like a two year old. An escort of police had been provided for the New York city line, the blue coats opened the way for him. Behind automobiles tooting their horns, the feat which Weston brings to a conclusion today is unique in the annals of the continent. The original programme called for the crossing of the distance from the Pacific to the Atlantic, approximately 2,400 miles in ninety walking days. In the face of rain and storms, in defiance of heat and cold, undeterred by minor accidents, and in the last stages of the journey, trudging along in spite of a sprained ankle, the heroic old walker has made it in seventy-seven days.

JOHN T. HAWKE STIRS MONCTON TO SENSE OF DUTY TO THE BOY

Compulsory Education Act Called For By Methodist League—Supervised Playgrounds, Curfew Bell and Other Reforms Urged—Plans For Knights of Columbus Convention

Moncton, N. B., May 2.—(Special)—At a meeting of the men's league in the Central Methodist church on Sunday afternoon, a resolution was passed asking the city council to proclaim a compulsory education act for Moncton soon as possible. This followed a stirring address by John T. Hawke, chairman of the school board, who urged supervised playgrounds, establishment of moving picture shows, regulation of juvenile houses, and also proclamation by provincial authority of the dominion juvenile act, instead of the establishment of a provincial school for young criminals, instead of their being sent to Dorchester. He said that forty-two juveniles were arrested in Moncton last year. The pointing out of the number of juvenile criminals and the alarming growth in juvenile delinquency rather startled the audience. The speaker's address was at times a most impressive appeal to the conscience of his auditors. He laid stress upon parents' responsibility, being lacking in too many cases. The children of such parents had a right to demand that they be given a fair chance in the battle for life. The audience was deeply moved by the address and it is believed that the men of the school board will meet in public. The Knights of Columbus will meet in state convention here tomorrow week. There will be processions on Tuesday morning to St. Bernard's church, and on Tuesday evening a civic reception will be tendered, while on Wednesday a banquet to the visitors will be given. The biennial convention of locomotive engineers will be held in Detroit on April 11. Norman Sinclair, of Moncton, will present the B. of L. E. for the I. C. R.

GORKERY HERE ON WAY TO AMHERST TO RACE CAMERON

Ontario Runner Would Like Match With Stirling—Tim O'Rourke Talks of the Professionals

James J. Corkery, of North Bay (Ont.), who ran third to Cameron of Amherst, in the recent Boston Marathon, is in the city at noon enroute to Amherst where he will meet the little champion on Wednesday in a ten mile indoor contest. He is accompanied by Tim O'Rourke, manager of the Irish-Canadian Club and one of the best known athletes in Canada and himself an athlete. Tall, lithe, about 5 feet 8 inches in height and weighing about 140 pounds, the Ontario runner looked in the pink of condition. He is barely out of his teens. He says that the only race of any importance he has run before the Boston one was at Hamilton on Christmas day, 1909, when he won the highest terms of Camery's race. Speaking of the Boston contest he says the heat interfered with him somewhat but thinks that at the shorter distance he should be able to win from the Amherst man. On his return Corkery says that he would be glad if a race could be arranged for him with Stirling or some other local runner. O'Rourke gave interesting opinions of some prominent professionals, Longboat, he says, is passing. He is not keeping in condition and is letting some fine chances to make money slip by for no other reason than that he is too indolent to train. At once would be a great runner, but he is an Indian and you can't do more with him. His ambition was satisfied when he won from Longboat. He was not satisfied with a purse of $100. He could not be coaxed to enter the Canadian Marathon on New York, he was. He was back to the reservation say to get back to the highest terms of Camery's race.
