NAPOLEON IN THE TUILERIES.

The fifth of this month we dined at the Tuileries with Bonaparte. After passing through various ante-chambers where were heard the military music, we at length reached the room where Madame Bonaparte sat under a canopy blaring in purple and diamonds. More than two hundred persons were assembled and Bonaparte walked about the room speaking politely to everybody. His countenance is delightful when animated by conversation, and the expression in the lower part of his face pleasing to the greatest degree; his eyes are reflection itself, but so charming a smile as his, I never saw before. His dress was simple and his air, reserved, announcing everything of the polished gentleman. The band struck up on our going in to dinner, to which Bonaparte led the way by taking the Regal prerogative of walking out of the room first. Everyone followed indiscriminately and both Bonaparte and Madame sat down at the side of the table without any regard to place. Lady Mount Cashell looking beautiful and dressed in black erape and diamonds was handed in to dinner by the English Minister, and I by General Grouchy, Madame Condorcet's brother, a highly polished and pleasing man. He was my society during dinner. For on looking to my right hand, who should I see gabbling like a duck but Talleyrand. We however renewed our acquaintance for two or three minutes, and then I left him to the destruction of all the poultry he could lay his claw upon. General Grouchy was second in command in the affair of Bantry Bay, on board the "Fraternite," and had every intention of snapping the grappling irons which attach Ireland to England. We laughed heartily at the

HEART AND NERVE PILLS

My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep. I would take soothing spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but got no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is.

MAKING AMERICANS OF THEM.

(New York Evening Post.)
"Oh, they don't estimate the hundreds and dozens that why the northern immigration is so much superior." Many will think this familiar but quite superficial opinion is applied to the figures on the citizenship status of adult foreigners issued this week by the Census Bureau. There is a lot more to it than that. The Census Bureau said a half million immigrants in the Republic, all of whom not quite half—487 per cent—are naturalized. The Welsh take the position of honor. No less than 74.4 per cent of them have become full citizens. Of the immigrants from Germany, Sweden, and Denmark, more than seventy per cent are naturalized; of those from England, Ireland, and Norway, more than sixty-five per cent. But look towards the foot of the list. The Poles, Italians, Hungarians, Jugoslavs, and Latins do not top thirty per cent, and the Greeks and Portuguese do not reach eighteen per cent. Does this report not show what is really Americanized (and who is not?)
It shows nothing of the sort, for it takes no account of the criminal factor, the time element. A vast majority of immigrants from the British Isles, Scandinavia, and Germany have been here many years, while most of those from Southern and Eastern Europe are newcomers. In 1910, 2,972,000, and in 1920, only 2,002,000. That is, most of the British born have been here so long that

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK

HEART WAS SO BAD
Many women get weak and run down and unable to look after their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired as the nervous system unstrung.
Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and weak. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work, sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes affected and she gets irritable and nervous, has hot flashes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night.
To all women whose heart is weak and whose nerves are unstrung we would recommend as the best remedy to tone up the system and strengthen the weakened organs.

Mrs. Daniel Beanson, Loganville, N. S., writes: "As I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me.
My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep. I would take soothing spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but got no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is."

Relieves Rheumatism

Musterole loosens up stiff joints and drives out pain. A clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It usually brings relief as soon as you start to rub it on.
It does all the good work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster, without the blister. Doctors and nurses often recommend its use.

the very considerable current immigration lags behind the death rate. The figures for the German-born are similar—233,000 in 1900, 249,000 in 1910, and only 1,648,000 (deductions were made for excised territory) in 1920. This old stock has had time for naturalization. But of the Italians there were less than a half-million in 1900 and nearly one and a half millions in 1920. There were 8,513 Greeks in 1900 and 161,000 in 1920. Great numbers have not had time to wise down. The Germans with first papers are less than one-tenth as many as the fully naturalized Germans. But the Italians, with first papers, making haste towards full citizenship, are more than one-third the number fully naturalized.

Careful students believe that the "new immigration" tends to become naturalized even more rapidly than the old. A Briton coming here finds himself in a land much like Britain, and often sees no reason for a quick assumption of the new citizenship. The Slav usually feels that he has burnt his bridges behind him. He is in a totally new and much better land, and wishes to identify himself with it.

THE LOOP LINE.

To the Editor of the Times:—
Sir—Some weeks ago, before Christmas, in fact, it was announced that the Power Company was going to start the operation of the "Loop Line" car in West St. John. The tracks were cleared, and residents of that section thought there might be something in it. Then it was announced, at Christmas, that on account of a broken generator, the cars would not run till repairs were made, which would be in about two weeks. So we settled down with what hope and patience we could muster, and we are waiting still, for nearly four weeks. Apparently the matter has slipped the mind of the manager of the Power Company, as well as that of the mayor, but the people who live in that locality, walking the weary distance to and from the city, in the biting winds and inclement weather, have by no means forgotten. We are not forgotten when the tax bills go around—oh, no—but otherwise we can go hang, as far as rights and privileges are concerned. Will you kindly allow the space in your paper to register this protest, and oblige.

TAX BACHELORS TO AID "RICH IN CHILDREN"

London, Jan. 21.—The German National League of "Kinder Reichen," that is the "rich in children," has petitioned the government for a special fund to ameliorate the conditions of those having large families. It is implied that a special tax on bachelors and childless families would be proper at this time to help those who are keeping up the population. The league points out the great suffering and privations of those who are "rich in children," but poor in every thing necessary to feed, clothe and educate them.

EVANGELISTIC.

An evangelistic service in Ludlow street Baptist church, West End, was well attended last evening. The speaker was Rev. G. D. Hudson of the Victoria street church. His address made a marked impression on those present. The pastor of the church, Rev. Isaac Dring, conducted the service last evening.

Anaemia

Thin, watery blood is no more nourishing than thin, watery milk—skim milk.
But you can soon enrich thin blood, overcome the anaemic condition and build up the whole system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. F. C. Simmons, 42 Curtis St., Brantford, Ont., writes:

"For about eight years I suffered from anaemia. My circulation was poor, my gums and lips were pale, and my hands and feet were always cold. I was nervous and unable to sleep well. I had frequent headaches, seemed restless and easily worried or irritated. There was a buzzing sound in my ears. Indigestion was also one of my complaints, and I often was attacked by weak spells. I went to a doctor, who told me I was anemic, but as I did not get any better I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after the first box I felt brighter and my headaches completely disappeared. I continued using the Nerve Food for quite a while. I am quite well now, and cheerfully and gratefully recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to people suffering as I did before I used this splendid medicine."
