I., is, like ourselves, usually a bit busy at this season of the year, and Tuesday last was one of his busy days. He informs us that he left home at 5 o'clock and drove to Alberton, twelve miles; then on to Killdare, where he delivered two pairs of faxes to Messrs. Stewart & McKinnon, Montague, which he had previously sold to them for $25,000; bought two more pairs of faxes, one from H. Lewis and the other from H. Gordon; ordered a carload of lambs for shipment next day; then took the evening train to Tignish and met the representative of the Farmers' Institute and closed with him a deal for 1,000 head of lambs and sheep, on which he paid a deposit of $300. Then, as old Pepsy would have said, "prayers and to sleep." Has anyone done a better day's work than this since Mr. Dalton sold his fox ranch?
