DEVELOPMENT OF

TOURIST BUSINESS

(Moncton Transcript.)

The St. John Evening Times prints some editorial comment from The Transcript on tourist traffic and adds the following:—

"Two things are essential to a successful tourist business, now that we have good roads. One is publicity and the other hotel accommodation. The latter should really come first. The tourist does not care whether he finds a palatial hotel or not so long as what he gets for his money is to his taste. A suggestion has been made to the Times that if we had in New Brunswick an association of hotel men, who Times that if we had in New Brunswick an association of hotel men, who could take counsel together and disseminate such knowledge as would enable all of them to meet better than most of them do at present the requirements of the tourist; and if there was a clever man whose sole duty it would be to go about and arouse local interest in city and town and village in making each locality more attractive to the tourist the reward would more than compensate for the effort and the expense. There is no doubt about the existence of the traffic. Maine gets it, and Maine has nothing to offer that the winter and spring afford opportunity for a get together movement. It is not enough to advertise. Behind the advertisement must be the goods, or roads will speak for themselves, but the tourist wants comfort in order to enjoy the other features of a tour or a visit. Cannot a movement be inaugurated that will bear good fruit during the present year? Not to make the effort is to go on ignoring a great source of revenue throughout the summer season."
