The chicken fattening stations established in various parts of the province last year by the Dominion government proved of such practical value that the experiment will be continued this year on a larger scale. The Farmers' and Dairymen's Association has requested the local government to co-operate with the federal body and while the request has not yet been acted upon it is probable that it will be complied with and this season there will be stations at various points throughout the province, including Sussex and Havelock, Kings county, and Andover.

Others may be decided upon later. Last year the stations were at Sussex and Andover.

The county's claim is that the amounts charged by the board of health are excessive and that the costs should be borne by the province.

The government decided that the question should be referred to a sub-committee of the executive to hear the claims of the municipal council at Bathurst. Premier Tweedie was appointed the committee and will visit Bathurst on Feb. 24. There the hearing will take place.

HOSPITAL INQUIRY.

Said Government Will Be Asked Today to Appoint a Commission.

When Premier Tweedie arrives in th city today he will probably be asked by the hospital commission to appoint a commission to enquire into the condi-tion and management of the general pub-lic hospital. This comes as a result of the emplaint made by Mrs. Trombley, and was one of the subjects discussed at yesterday afternoon's session of the hospital commission. At least The Telegraph was reputably informed to this effect last even-ing though when some of the commis sioners were questioned as to the meeting they stated the business transacted was merely of a routine nature and that this question was not taken up. Another mat-ter which will be discussed by the govern-

Extend Breakwater to Partridge Island. same commission will inquire into the advisability of discontinuing the practice of admitting sailors to the hospital. It may be stated that the government and hospital commissioners are a unit in believing that it is unwise to admit sailors to the hospital.

In reference to the hearing of charges against the hospital management it will be left to the commission to decide whether or not to allow counsel.

The government also considered at last Wednesday's session the admission of seamen to the hospital. Under the present arrangements they are admitted there and treated under an agreement with the dominion government but the commissioners feel that this should not be done and cite the admission of the sailor Barton who To the Editor of The Telegraph: waves running up the west channel.

Don't you want to know more about a remedy like that?

I have spent a lifetime in learning how to strengthen the inside nerves. My success comes from bringing back the nerve power that operates the vital organs. I make weak organs strong by giving them the power to act. My method always succeeds, save where some condition like cancer makes a cure impossible. Without this nerve strength one never can be well.

tablishment of school savings banks seems to me to have a wrong side to it which I have not yet seen exposed, and which I think would render the system highly undesirable. The principal objection I find is that all the money to be invested in these banks would necessarily have to come from the parents, as it is out of the question for the most enterprising girl and but very few boys to earn more than enough to help clothe and feed him or her while going to school. It would therefore rest with the parents what the scholars' bank accounts would amount to and the natural with the parents what the scholars bank accounts would amount to and the natural juvenile tendency to boast would result most directly and most undesirably in creating bickerings and jealousy and bad feeling among the scholars. The poorer ones would most necessarily be made to feel badly and a sentiment of the aristocracy of wealth would inevitably be incul-cated among the children of the well-to-

Surely if looked at from this proper point of view the scheme is a mistaken one. Fortunately or unfortunately, our city has not yet attained many families which can afford to give their children a sufficiently affluent spending allowance to enable them to save much out of it if their little works and luxuries are fairly enable them to save much out of it if their little wants and Inxuries are fairly attended to. Is it not much better to encourage the children who have a few pennies to spend to share their blessings with their needy friends, than to encourage in them the habits of a miser? Is it not sufficient to let the parents do the saving? Educate the people in all sorts of thrift if you will, particularly when they reach the years of discretion and can appreciate formation of character during his school course must come largely from fireside influences. I maintain therefore that the establishment of school savings banks in a place like this could not fail to have an exceedingly unwholesome effect, far outexceedingly unwholesome effect, far out-weighing all alleged advantages.
