

Quebec Title at Stake

Johnny Bertrani, captain of the Union Nationale Blues, has thrown the whole football situation in "The Bell" Province into a state of confusion by putting his hard won football championship up for grabs in a provincial wide tournament. Johnny's team has taken a great deal of abuse during its reign, as other teams have severely criticized the Blues' approach to the formulation of league rules in the province and the type of affiliation with the Central Canada League. Johnny is also plagued with dissension in the huddle as Guy Cardinali will only take the ball on the option play or in plays of his own choosing, such as the Leonard Shuffle.

Bobby Bourassi, the rookie quarterback of the Liberale Reds, is recognized as an accomplished passer specializing in slightly spiralling federalist bombs. His main concern is the replacement of the popular receiver, Cloud Waggoner, who left the team in tears after the squad refused to vote him captain. Bobby does not believe that Cloud's departure will effect the overall corporate giant line men to bolster the calibre of play in the league. The Allouettes have donated their gate receipts to Bobby's cause.

Runny Levequi of the Separator Gang-Greens has waited with flushed expectations for this chance to become sole owner of the prized French Pig's Skin Trophy. His recent changes in the playing strategy should prove interesting to all spectators. His offensive front nine line-up in the opposite direction, with Runny over the ball. After a cadence count of 1-2-3, give-the-ball-to-me, Runny tears off a piece of the field and then runs over his own goal line. The Central Canada

Football Committee has yet to decide how to deal with these innovations to the game.

An affiliate of the Central Canada League, the Creditiste Green Backs have also entered the tournament. Their basic lack of strategy and overall simplicity makes them a rather unlikely choice for the crown. It is possible that the importation of "Talky" Caouetti from the Central Canada League could bolster their morale and enable them to chalk up a few points. Another team, the New Deal Please Runabouts, have indicated that they will also be contenders. Since the Runabouts have no quarter-back, halfbacks or linemen, they cannot be considered a threat.

An informed source from the "Bell" Province has indicated that this tournament will be the roughest and toughest that has been held in the Province for many a year. The Blues and the Reds seem to have the upper hand but no one is really sure what effect the radical offense of the Separator Gang-Greens will have on the outcome. The Central Canada League will be watching the play with great interest for they wish to clarify the status of the "Bell" Province teams in the Central League. There is also a rumour indicating that the game will be played on location in St. Leonard, but this is unconfirmed. In the spirit of sportsmanship in the "Bell" Province, we wish the ultimate winner, the best of luck.

War Games Here

Coming up this summer, in this locality will be the International War Games. The finals will be played throughout the Province and centered on the mud flats of Marysville, the most inclement area in this hemisphere for outdoor activities we could find, so that no team may have an unfair advantage in terrain.

Since the game's conception, fifty-six years ago, America has been on the winning side both times, with their capitalist allies (Canada, Britain, France), and Communist friends (Russia East Europe), ending up either in part or in whole on the victorious team. America, by its off-season efforts 1945-1970, has moved into the most prominent spot, followed closely behind by Russia and China, who have recently changed leagues. Contestants in this years competition are split into two classes, the first being individual groups with moral and armament support by any number of other teams, or a group effort, which is by far the better spectator sport of the two, and uses far larger playing field.

This championship is to be held here this year, because of the rising demand for a showdown by the local leftists, so that they may finally decide which team they can safely support (this year East vs West are the feature attraction) although there is great disparity in their ranks whether to support the winner or the loser.

In preliminary play, America is keeping a keen edge by hassling with the South East Asia squad, who have confused even their own coach, Huws Mao Friend, by their amazing lack of organization and unity. In other quarter final matches, the Arabs and the Jews are fighting it out for the Middle East Title, although it is not expected that this match will be finished in time. The Nigerians recently wrapped up the African Championship, although their performance was not very impressive, and they vastly depleted both of their resources and manpower.

This year's Tournament will be a knock-out competition with each pair of teams battling it out for exactly one week. There are no rules, with any team using whatever equipment or manpower they can muster, although each team has promised the local inhabitants that no germ or nuclear equipment will be used, and that fighting will take place only from 9-5. Each of the team piles up their equipment on either side of New Brunswick and the first team to secure the mud-flats and compile the winning number of points (69), wins, and proceeds to the next round. Plunder, rape, murder, and pollution are all key factors in the pointing system, with a number of points (1-10) being given each side in these different categories. Statistics are to be compiled on each of the teams so that comprehensive scouting reports can be published.

The winner of this years competition will have the honour of being number 1, the spot. The American Industrial War Company now hold, while the preliminaries start all over again for next decade's championship. We wish each team luck and may the best side win!

Will Sports Trade Jock?

Rumors have reached us here that there is a trade being negotiated between the Sports and News Department. A ply is being made by News to Secure the services of a certain sports writer. Preliminary reports are that News have offered 2 typists, an undisclosed amount of cash, and the first two draft choices in the freshman Bruns staff of '70. As of yet, it is not known what the Sports department thinks of this offer; this act would jeopardize the stability of the department, and necessitate the signing of contracts each year.

With exams just around the corner, bridge-playing students fold up the cards temporarily to allow for that rather important incidental - study. The UNB Duplicate Bridge Club reamins in operation year round and thus will continue their weekly sessions. There will be no game on Easter Sunday and after April 1st, all regular games will shift to the Lord Beaverbrook Hotel. This is due to an ACBL regulation requiring the club to hold all regular games under the same roof. Apparently the Hotel offers much better facilities.

The Club has been quite busy during the past month sponsoring special events and a Novice Tournament as well as their regular games under the same roof. Apparently the Hotel offers many Tournaments as well as their regular weekly games. The Team-of-Four representing the Club easily disposed of Edmunston over the weekend and will oppose St. John in the near future. They are seeking the Maritime Championships. This same team, composed of Bill Hogan, Mike Wood, Eric Balkam and Ron Bass, will attempt to make it three in a row over McGill University as they compete tonight in a Nation wide Charity at the Old Student Center at 7:30 p.m.

As this is the last Trump Card for the year, we would like to thank all those devious "Joes" who helped make this column interesting and informative. Good luck in your play over the summer and watch out for those eights.

Competition Here

Due to the failure of the Marble Shooting Contest last spring, the SRC (Sportative Radical Cop-ins) has decided to bring the well-known "Water Bombing International" to UNB this year. The competition originated in Washington several years ago with the Hawks maintaining a clear superiority over the low flying Doves. The conveted L.B.J. Saturation Plus Award will be presented to the best individual sharp-shooter while the residence with the highest percentage of hits will receive the "Escalottio" Trophy. The rules are quite simple - bombs must be thrown from the air (or building) and only prophylactics and baggies may be used as shell casings. Bombs from the first or second floor will be awarded 5 points for a direct hit and 4 points for a near miss, (within 5/4 feet). Third and fourth floors will receive 6 and 3 points while fifth floor and up get 8 and 2 points for their efforts. Add one point to each score if the target is a female and 5 points if the target is a rent-a-cop.

All entries must be in to David Jonah, c/o The Brunswickan Office by March 13 to insure eligibility.

This is Sir Max A's new racing team, the Blue Max's, here cleverly disguised as fifth year Civil Engineers. This dastardly bunch of fellows are secretly supported by their manager, who occasionally returns from England to watch his crew at work. The rumor is that they will enter their racer in the Formula 1 trials this spring at Watkin's Glen, N.Y. Undoubtedly, Sir M. A. will bring further glory to his name, and to our fine University.
