

Contracted a Heavy Cold.

It Became a Lung Splitting Cough.

Mr. J. H. Richards, 1852 Second Ave. East, Vancouver, B.C., writes: "Allow me to write a few lines in praise of your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Last fall I contracted a heavy cold which left me with a hacking cough and every time I would get a little more cold this hacking cough would become a lung splitting one. It kept on getting worse and I kept on spending money buying different cough remedies until a friend asked me if I had ever tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I told him I was willing to try anything I thought would cure, and on the same day bought two bottles. Before half the first one was used my cough began to get much easier, and by the time I had used a bottle and a half my cough was gone. I am keeping the other half bottle in case it should come again, but I am sure I have a positive cure. Let me recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to all who suffer from a cough or throat irritation of any kind."

So great has been the success of this wonderful remedy, it is only natural that numerous persons have tried to imitate it.

Don't be imposed upon by taking anything but "Dr. Wood's."

Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25 cents.

Pippin, Baldwin, Yellow Newtown, Northern Spy, Blenheim Orange and King.

The visitors evinced great interest in all the varieties, but gave most praise to Grimes' Golden Pippin, Yellow Newtown and Northern Spy, the last a very popular variety in all our markets. This particular exhibit had come from Birmingham and Sheffield, and had received the gold medal at both shows, and Leeds gave the same high verdict.

The apples were part of the annual show of the Leeds Paxton Society. The display of flowers made a perfect riot of color, especially the thousands of chrysanthemums, and enhanced even the stately beauty of the auditorium of the Leeds town hall. These shows are a great feature of English life. Every town and village has its local floral society, and these societies are doing a most commendable national work in inculcating a love of the beautiful in nature.

An especially praiseworthy feature of the shows is the opportunity given to school children to see the beautiful flowers and fruit. A small charge of one penny is made, and the children come in charge of their teachers. The eagerness with which they look around at the mass of glowing colors is good to see, and a fine antidote for pessimism. Five thousand children visited the Leeds show on the Saturday morning, and it was no mean feat to marshal and control such an army of the coming generation. How the boys and girls stared at those lovely British Columbia apples and only the eternal vigilance of the attendants prevented the moral downfall of many a boy faced with such a great temptation.

But a chance was offered not only to see but also to possess, for the brightest boy and girl. Essays are submitted by the boys and girls describing what they have seen, and to the best prizes are awarded. Mr. Ellison generously added a box of apples as a prize for the best boy's essay, and another for the girl's.

The British Columbia government is doing an excellent work for the province by these fine displays of what can be done in growing the highest qualities of fruit.

KEEP FEW PLANTS AND CARE FOR PROPERLY

EDITOR FARMER'S ADVOCATE:

In driving through this western country, especially the newer parts, the farm houses do not, as a rule, give one the impression that they are homes. They are temporary abiding places, and there is so much work of absolute necessity to be done, and so little help and time in which to do it, the beautifying of our surroundings is crowded out.

In summer a few vines are a vast improvement. Sweet peas, wild cucumber, hops and Virginia Creeper make pretty screens, and, after planting, require no care, except to be given support and occasional watering, should it be very dry.

Then, for plants for growing inside the house, we need varieties that are not too tender and that do not require too much attention. Given a sunny window and a moderate degree of heat, it is possible, even in a shack, to have flowers.

One of the best is the geranium of any variety. Some have beautiful foliage and all bloom freely. For winter blooming, take slips early in summer, pot in rich soil and water when it gets dry, and you will have a profusion of bloom. Don't keep them until too old. If you want plants to branch out, pinch off the small leaves at the top. Geraniums can be pulled up, dirt shaken off, and hung up by the roots in the cellar until spring, when they make excellent bedding plants.

Fuchsias are not hard to grow. They require rich, moist soil and can be cut down to the ground and rested in the cellar, either in winter or summer, and when given light, heat and moisture will grow with renewed vigor.

For foliage, asparagus sprengeri is one of the best with its long feathery leaves. It will grow from seed in almost any position with no particular care, and will withstand dry atmosphere. An umbrella plant or date palm will grow away from sunlight, if
