Many Still Love to be Humbugged
It was a famous American showman who declared that the American people love to be humbugged. That saying is many years old now, but sometimes it seems that there is about as much truth in it now as there was when it was first uttered.
People as a rule do not like the idea of having "something put over" on them, but from the way in which the great mail order houses in the big cities flourish it seems that a great many people do not mind it a bit.
The business man who, when he gets a call for an article which he has not in stock, attempts to substitute some other article of a similar nature without telling the buyer of the substitution, is "putting something over" on his customer. Few retail merchants nowadays attempt to do a thing of that kind. The great majority of merchants do not do this for two reasons. One reason is that they wouldn't do it if they could and the other is that they couldn't do it if they would. The man who buys an article over the counter and sees what he is buying before he pays for it, is pretty sure to get what he wants.
Ordered Shirt, Got Pyjamas.
But there is another class of merchants, of which the same thing can be said. A man who has been closely connected with some of the big mail order houses is authority for the statement that the heads of the various merchandise departments.
