Opens This Morning With the Evidence of Clithroe Who Tells the Story of the Tragedy on the Lewis River Near Hootalingua Last November. George L. Clark, charged with perjury, was before Justice Dugas this morning and elected to be tried by a judge and plead guilty. He will be up again tomorrow morning. The prisoner on the 19th of November made application to the gold commissioner for a hillside claim adjoining 99 below lower discovery on Dominion, swearing at the time that he had previously staked the ground.

THE ST. CYR MURDER TRIAL

George Thomas St. Cyr, accused of having on the 17th day of November last, at a point near the Lewis river, murdered a man named James Davis was on trial.

Both men were wood choppers and the only witness was one Clitheroe, a partner of the murdered man, who had formerly been in partnership with St. Cvr.

On the morning of the killing, Cli theree broke his ax handle and about to o'clock went to their joint cabin to rehandle the ax, and told Davis before going that as the job would take some time, he would not return before lunch, which he would prepare.

After he had been in the cabin a short time he went to the door to throw out some dirty water at which time he heard a shot from the direction in which he had left Davis. He also heard a noise between a shout and a groan.

Seizing a gun he ran to where he had left his partner, whom he found lying part way down the steep embankment intervening between the river and where he had been working.

Quantities of blood dyed the snow surrounding a deep crimson, and a great flow of blood had poured down the hill.

Davis was found to be in a dying condition, and told Clitheroe that St. Cyr had killed him and that he did not know why. He also told him that St. Cyr would kill bim also.

Davis was a very heavy man, and with 14 inches of snow on the ground thickly covered with stump and fallen timber, Clitheroe was unable to move the dying man, and left him to go to the Hootalinqua police detachment for assistance.

When the police arrived Dayis had concert: been dead some time, having bled to death from the effects of the shot which song, Miss E. Craig; recitation, J. had entered his chest just below the collar bone and cut a number of large tation, Barlay Craig; song, Mrs. Hines, blood vessels.

Thirty-nine years ago, in 1862, by the queen's explicit directions the order to be followed at her funeral was written and the order that will be followed will not differ materially from that directed by her.

It was her wish that the funeral ceremony over Prince Albert be copied for her and closely followed.

Purple Draperies.

London, Jan. 30, via Skagway, Feb. .-Great preparations for the funeral are being made in London, but the king's order that buildings be draped tion for the reason that many have already draped in black and the supply of purple is getting very short.

Queen's Funeral.

It is expected that the procession will be two

Chaos Reigns.

Ottawa, Jan. 29, via Skagway, Feb. 4 -The accession of a new ruler has made many changes in the Dominion. All officers of the government from the governor general down to the holder of the lowest commission must swear allegiance to King Edward.

There is no doubt but that parliament is not legally affected, but there is also no doubt that just now it is "functus officio" and, can not act until new commissions are issued. Chaos reigns and will reign in the judiciary until parliament finds some way out of the peculiar dilemma.

Referring to bis past differences with St. Cyr the witness stated that at the time he had dissolved partnership with the prisoner there had been a quarrel during which St. Cyr had struck him over the head with a gun, after calling him a sneak and a cur. He had taken the gun from the prisoner and thrown it out of doors.

At this point the court adjourned till 2 p. m.

Governor General's Proclamation. The following proclamation concern-ing officeholders in Canada has been received by Governor Ogilive as wired from Ottawa:
