CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations, and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA?
Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulence, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aiding the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Prohibition's Influence.

The prohibition is having a most marked effect in Ontario in very plainly reflected in the annual report of jails and district lock-ups for the year 1917, just issued, which shows a marked decline in commitments for nearly all serious offences. The total of offences of all kinds committed in jail during the year was 12,445, a decrease of 3,655 over the year of 1916. The commitments for drunkenness totalled 3,907, a striking contrast with the previous year. Strangely enough, Toronto shows an increase in drunkenness commitments in 1917 of 278 over 1916 and Ottawa an increase of 214. Another remarkable revelation of the report is the fact that Ontario had five more cases of manslaughter in 1917, and an increase of 19 in the number of insane persons committed to jail. Besides generally reducing crime, prohibition brought about a slight reduction in the expense of jail maintenance, despite the heavy increase in living cost. Gratifying as are the results of the first year, it is confidently predicted that in subsequent years the showing will be even more convincing.

For Girls Who Must Work.

In spite of all the new occupations that have opened to women within the last twenty years, teaching is still the great resource of the girl who must work for a living. The attitude of girls toward their work is a matter of frequent comment. They seldom regard the occupation by which they gain their livelihood in the same way that a young man regards his. Both the young man and young girl, if they are normal, look forward to marriage. Both hope some time to have homes of their own, with children in them, but there the parallel ends. To the young man his occupation is a permanent thing; the means by which he will get and maintain the home. To the girl, on the other hand, the present occupation is not permanent, but temporary; it will end at the threshold of the home. Because of these facts, teaching as a profession for a girl is a profession that a girl can carry over into her home; the only one that trains her for the proper upbringing of her children. That has always been true, but in the present age it is more emphatically true than ever before. The child now goes to school earlier and stays longer. Moreover, while he is there, the school does more for him. It begins by safeguarding his health; it ends by teaching him a trade, and in all the time that intervenes in his training his mind, influencing his moral character, and even directing his play. With the passing of the simpler conditions of life that prevailed a generation or two ago, a mother, although still the natural and the best teacher, can now seldom give her daughter the technical training that she needs in managing a home. The school steps in and does it for her.

A quarter of a million dollars is to be raised by Anglican Sunday schools throughout Canada through the purchase of Victory bonds, each school undertaking to buy at least one fifty-dollar bond. The movement has three objects: (1) To help Canada by buying the bonds; (2) To help the Church by providing funds for the Forward Movement; (3) To help commemorate the fallen heroes from each Sunday school. There is no reason why such a splendid movement should be confined to the Sunday schools of the Anglican Church.

Leader's Thrift Rules.

Harry Lander, the famous Scottish singer, who has made a fortune and knows how to keep it, explains his native thrift: "Who is better equipped than the talented and thrifty Harry Lander to father this doctrine of savings? I have toward your purse as you would toward your best friend. View the reckless spending of money as criminal, and shun the company of the reckless spender. Dress neatly, but not lavishly. A bank pays a higher rate of interest than your bank. Take your amusements judiciously; you will enjoy them better. Don't throw away the crust—eat them. They are as nourishing as beef. It is more exhilarating to feel money in your pocket than beef in your stomach. Remember it takes only twenty shillings to make a pound, and twelve pennies to make a shilling. You can sleep better after a hard day's work than after a hard day's idleness. Get good value from your tradesman. He gets good money from you. A bank book makes good reading, better than some novels. We believe MINARD'S LINIMENT is the best; Mathias Foley, Oil City, Ont. Joseph Snow, Norway, Me. Charles Whitten, Mulgrave, N. S. Rev. R. B. THIS WOMAN SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, One of Thousands of Such Cases.

Black River Falls, Wis.—"As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation, I cannot say enough in praise of it. I suffered from organic troubles and my side hurt me so I could hardly be up from my bed, and I was unable to do my housework. I had the best doctors in East Claire and they wanted me to have an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me so I did not need the operation, and I am telling all my friends about it."—A. W. Burns, Black River Falls, Wis.

It is just such experiences as that of Mrs. Binsler that has made this famous root and herb remedy a household word from ocean to ocean. Any woman who suffers from inflammation, ulceration, displacement, headache, nervousness, irregularity or "the blues" should not rest until she has given it a trial, and for specific advice write Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Wanted to Britain.

The Philadelphia Ledger makes a very interesting tribute to the magnificent statesman who has taken in the prize of the world. Following is but a small part of what we all knew the stuff of which the great statesman was made. "We all knew the stuff of which the great statesman was made, and we all knew the stuff of which the great statesman was made, and we all knew the stuff of which the great statesman was made." The British have had a bad record for as ambitious despots to face they brought Philip of Spain to his knees—they curbed the power of Louis the Great of France—they grappled with the mighty Napoleon and never let go.

If the Kaiser possessed precedence or honored his history, he must have advanced as tradition says we do if some one steps on our grave—we know for certain that his spies had lied, and that the stubborn, stick-to-it-but-dog British had decided to it was done with the French.

The British have had a bad record for as ambitious despots to face they brought Philip of Spain to his knees—they curbed the power of Louis the Great of France—they grappled with the mighty Napoleon and never let go.

So they entered upon the task of bringing down—to paraphrase Kipling—the beast that walked like a Man. They were under obligations to see some eighty thousand soldiers to help the French. The Kaiser, measuring their honor by his own, thought they would perfunctorily and literally redeem this pledge and let it go at that. Hence his remark about their contemptible little army.

The fact that Great Britain alone has sent over land and sea a total of six and a quarter millions. Her Empire has added two and a quarter million more to this. Over eight millions instead of eight hundred—a hundred in place of one—this is the British way.

While the Allies of nations will have done as well—but not until then.

England was no more a military nation than America when the war began. They learned to fight by fighting—and dying. We are profiting today by her tragic experiences. Thousands of our American lads will come to us alive and whole because thousands of our blood brothers from the British Isles have been killed and mutilated—and have taught us how to escape. Britain made her armies while France and her own army had the gas and then she poured them into France and Flanders by the millions to fight back the eruption of Caesar that threatened to submerge civilization.

The medium broad high top is popular with many men who want a roomy wide-fitting shoe. Blucher: black or brown leathers, $5 to $10.

The High Cost of Whims

THE United States Government has found it necessary to issue strict orders regulating the styles of shoes. Why? Because the high cost of fads imposes a burden all along the line—upon manufacturer, dealer and consumer, and upon the Government itself.

Such action may be avoided in Canada, if you—the consumer—will co-operate with the manufacturer in reducing the demand for extravagant styles—if you will buy prudently, for service rather than for effect.

To do this will be a direct benefit to you. You will get better and longer service, more comfort, and your shoes will be quite as neat and attractive. You will need fewer pairs of shoes in the course of a year.

More than that you will help to cut down needless extravagance, to reduce superfluous stocks on the dealers' shelves, to keep prices down, and to release essential supplies of leather for our forces overseas.

New Health For Women.

The most fatal years in a woman's life are those between forty-five and fifty. Many of the sex enter this period under depressing conditions through overwork or worry about the home, or through a condition in which the blood is weak or watery and so they suffer heavily. Among the commonest symptoms are headaches, nervousness, palpitation of the heart, dizziness, backaches, depression and other well recognized disturbances of the health which signalize that the blood requires attention. Women urgently need rich, red blood all their lives, but never more so than in middle life, when the nerves are also weak and overwrought.

Now every woman can prove the prompt help afforded to her health by treating and building up the blood. It is a fact that any woman can make by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for these pills make rich, red blood, which in turn stimulates the appetite, strengthens the nerves and restores full robust health. Thousands of women have found in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills new health and with these a new happiness and interest in life.

So if you suffer, avail yourself at once of the splendid home treatment which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills so easily afford, and you will be among those who rejoice in regained health. These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Effect of One Letter.

A printer once made a prospectus for a gold mine speak the truth by accident for it read: Issue of one hundred thousand shares at one pound each. The writer meant share of course, but it was true as it stood. An Irish paper some time ago in the course of a very laudatory article on the late Mr. John Redmond described him as 'the greatest thief Ireland has known since O'Connell.' The compositor had lifted a 't' for a 'c' that was all.

In the days before the Liberal and Tory truce, the Conservative organ of a big provincial paper got a nasty struggle on the chances of the Liberal candidate at the bye election, and all through a single letter of the alphabet! The Liberal paper was describing a Tory meeting, and in the course of the article it said: 'The arrival of the candidate on the platform was greeted by the great uplifted snouts of the entire audience, the ladies making themselves particularly prominent.'

But probably the climax is reached in the case of the arch-bishop who was credited with saying 'he had been on the drink for a month,' when he only said 'brisk.'

One Result of The War.

Oberammergau, the little village in Bavaria that became world-famous as the home of the Passion Play, is virtually a deserted village where sorrow broods. All of its male inhabitants capable of bearing arms have entered the ranks of the Bavarian army, and many have fallen in battle. Miss Madeline Doty, who has visited the village, in recording her experiences relates a conversation that she had with a waitress at the little hotel.

"The town is sad," she averred. "Why shouldn't it be?" she retorted. "We have lost so much." "How many men have gone to war?" we asked.

"Every one, under 45. Five hundred and fifty out of a population of 1800." "We passed a moment—it seemed brutal to go on now, but we wanted information."

"There were 40 killed and 48 wounded the first year. I don't know the number now." "Will there ever be another Passion Play?"

"She shrugged her shoulders. 'How can I tell? Some of the players and musicians have lost an arm or a leg and others are dead. The town no longer has any money.'"

"We pushed back our chairs and went out into the golden sunshine. No one moved about the streets. It was like a village swept by a plague and deserted. War has been a special disaster to Oberammergau. It has dealt a blow at its spiritual as well as its physical welfare—Atlantic Monthly

Where The Cotton Goes.

A 12-inch gun disposes of half a bale of cotton with every shot fired. A machine-gun in operation will use up a bale in three months. In a naval battle, like the one off Jutland, from five to six thousand pounds a minute are consumed by each active warship.

It takes over 20,000 bales a year to provide absorbent cotton to staunch and bind the wounds of the injured. One change of apparel for all the troops now engaged in the war represents more than a million bales of cotton.

Disease germs cannot live in rich, red blood. It is people in low vitality that fall victims to germ diseases. By using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you enrich the blood, increase vitality and prevent disease germs from finding lodgment in your body. There's wisdom in prevention. It's easier to keep well than to get well.

Many of Lord Halsbury's reminiscences are amusing. Once when Lord Chancellor, he had occasion to visit an asylum in England, and he announced to the attendant at the door: 'I am the Lord Chancellor.'

The attendant was in ignorance of the intended visit, and replied cheerfully but firmly: 'This way, sir. We have three more of them in here.'
