ANOTHER RAILWAY WANTED. We have waited, and, it seems, waited in vain, for action to be taken by the Mayor and Town Council in the matter of advocating a new railroad to Goderich. At the regular meetings of the Council every conceivable subject is discussed, except the railway question, and it appears to be eschewed by every member of our corporate body. It will be remembered that loud promises respecting action on the railway question were made by many of the members of the Council at the last nomination, and if there was one plank above all others upon which unanimity existed amongst the candidates, the necessity for prompt action on

In this way, beautiful passages of Scripture have, by regular, hackneyed, indiscriminate use, become almost by words among frequenters of certain meetings. "Long prayers in the closet make short prayers in the church "; and if ministers who inflict lengthy and sometimes almost meaningless prayers upon patient congregations were to offer two-thirds of their prayer softly in the vestry prior to coming before the waiting people, their hearers would doubtless be just as fully edified, and be in a better mood to listen to the sermon. Cambling

To the Editor of the Signal SIE,—A few weeks ago I noticed a hort communication in THE SIGNAL, inveighing against the prevalence of gamb-ling in Goderich, and as my attention has also been taken with has also been taken with an expose of the same vice at Montreal, through the columns of the Mail, I thought, mayhap, a few observations on the subject might ot be amiss.

That gambling is wrong, is hardly questioned, nowadays, by persons of well-balanced mind. Time was when in England it was the fashionable amusement of the day, and when it was the thing for Lord What's-his-name to be inveigled into the salon of Lady Who-d'ye call-her, and be plucked like any other But times are changed, and although pleasure card parties obtain, the gaming for money at private houses, and in all respectable public houses is, happily, a thing of the past. Now it is possible to be a gentleman without backing the title up with wagers that eventually become the property of the most adroit trickster; and the lady of to-day does not think that she is less entitled to be ranked as such, simply because she cannot manipulate the "devil's pasteboard," with the facility of her predecesor of a century ago.

presume, profit from the indulgence of this questionable amusement. From what I learn, Goderich has an unenviable reputation throughout the province for the powers of manipulation and "tricks of deceit and ways that are vain," of not a few of her male popula-tion. There are, too, I have been led to believe, many of our apparently straightlaced people who occasionally "relax" in a little quiet "poker" for pools of vari-ous sizes, while "euchre" at twenty-five "relax" in ous sizes, while "euchre" at twenty-live char the clean hewspaper is induced to day than it was four or five who would enjoy the pleasure of killing years ago. It is also safe to predict more time for their money's worth. To such an extent has the latter of late been wish to protect their own family from carried on, that a manifesto from Inspec-tor Yates to the various hostelries has been deemed in order, and this has, to a class of journals, called "enterprising," certain extent, tended to a decrease of the evil, so far as the public houses are dirty scandals, they will be careful t

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 2.-It is enerally accepted that the reason of the ltan's zeal concerning the enquiry into the death of Abdul Aziz, the former ly among those classes that practice vice sultan, is that a serious conspiracy was organizing against himself. The treasure Abdul Aziz amassed mysteriously disappeared after his decease, and the Ministry gave out that it was used for a war istry gave out that it was used for a war expenditure.
