Veteran Editor Deplores Tendency
Towards Confounding Newspaper
Men With the Police and the Seavenger.

Deprecating the tendency of the newspaper profession of to-day toward sensationalism, Colonel Henry Waterson, the venerable editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, addressed the members of the national Press Club in this city at a reception in his honour, on the personal relation of the newspaper toward the public. Mr. Waterson is on his way home after an extensive European trip.

"Pretending to be the special defenders of liberty we are becoming the invaders of private right," continued Colonel Waterson. "No household seems any longer safe against intrusion. Our reporters are being turned into detectives. As surely as this is not checked we shall grow to be the objects of fear and hatred, instead of trust and respect. Some one ought to organize an intelligent and definite movement toward the bettering of what has reached alarming proportions."

"I say this in your interest as well as the interest of the public and the profession, for I am sure that you are gentlemen and want to be considered so, whereas the work you are often set to do is the reverse of gentlemanly. It subjects you to aversion and contempt—brings you and a high and mighty calling into disrepute—by confusing the purpose and functions of the newspaper with those of the police and the scavenger. I have been proud of that calling all my life, and when I go to my account I want to see a clean and honored flag flying from the masthead."

The English Amusing Themselves.

Some years ago the English colony in Brussels established a rugby football club, and one of the local papers, in describing a match, said, "A vigorous kick announces the beginning of the game." A number of young men are at once seen rolling on the ground. As soon as one of the players, bruised and lacerated, seizes the ball, a mob pursues him, throws him over, buries him beneath a pile of arms and legs, and seizes by force the precious prey, which the brave fellow presses to his heart. The frenzied and brutal strife lasted more than one hour. Many passers-by, noticing the pitiable condition of the players, inquired if there had been an accident. "No," was the reply, "it is only the English amusing themselves."

A Man of Weight.

At one of the White House dinners Mr. Roosevelt delighted his guests with an amusing story regarding his successor, Mr. Taft, the stoutest President the United States has ever had. He said, "When I started for Panama on the same warship that Taft had travelled on, I noticed a slight list to starboard. I called the captain in and asked him how it happened that we were not running on an even keel. He was somewhat embarrassed."

The Exception.

In a home where the mother is somewhat aggressive and the father good-natured and peace-loving, a child's estimate of home conditions were tersely expressed the other day. While dressing, the mother paused in the act of putting on her shoes and said, "I certainly am easy on shoes. I have worn these for four months. I don't know what you would do, John, if I were not. I am easy on everything." The little girl looked up from her dolls and remarked, "Except father."—Success.

Secret of Ancients.

Ancient Method of Tempering Copper a Lost Art.
What was the combination of metals from which the Egyptians, Aztecs, and inhabitants of Peru manufactured their tools and arms? Though each of these nations reached a high state of civilization, none of them ever discovered iron, in spite of the fact that the soil of all three countries was largely impregnated with it. But they substituted for it a combination of metals that had the temper of steel, and the secret of the combination is lost to mankind.

Humboldt tried to discover the lost art by analyzing a chisel found in an ancient Inca silver mine, but all he could make of it was that it appeared to be a combination of small portions of tin with copper. No present metals will give the hardness of steel, so there must have been in the chisel something else which Humboldt missed.

And these ancient races were able to prepare pure copper so that it equalled the temper of the finest steel produced at the present day by the most scientific process. With their bronze and copper instruments they were able to quarry and shape the hardest stone, such as granite and porphyry, and even cut emeralds. The ancient peoples must have independently discovered the art of tempering copper, and yet it is a secret that baffles modern scientists of the whole civilized world.

A Curious Chimney.

One in Wales Two Miles High With a Brook Running Through It.

Who ever heard of a chimney two miles high with a brook running through it? Yet such a chimney exists in connection with the copper works at Cwmavon, near Aberavon, in Glamorganshire, South Wales. This is how it came to be built:

About sixty years ago the copper smoke from these works was the plague of the neighboring countryside. It settled upon and destroyed the grass for twenty miles round, while the sulphur and arsenic in the fumes affected the hoofs of cattle, causing gangrene. The owners of the works tried all sorts of devices to remedy the trouble, but in vain. Finally Robert Brenton, who was afterwards a successful railway engineer in India, solved the problem.

The copper works are at the foot of a steep hill. Mr. Brenton constructed a flue, or chimney, running continuously from the base to about a hundred feet above the summit, following the natural slope of the ground. The brick which lined it and of which it was largely constructed was burned close by. A small spring gushing out near the summit of the hill was turned into the chimney and allowed to flow through almost its entire length to condense the smoke. Once a year it is swept out and about a ton of precipitated copper obtained. Its top can be seen for between forty and fifty miles.—London Answers.

Backache Suffering

A wonderful medicine is this man's description of DR. CHASE'S KID-NEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mr. Fred Gummer, Lillies, Ont., writes: "I can honestly say that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a wonderful medicine. For six weeks last fall I could scarcely walk around for pain in the back and legs, and was most completely unfit for work. I tried several medicines I got a letter. I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised and bought five boxes. After I had used three boxes, I was greatly relieved and by the time I had them all taken felt as well as I ever did. I would advise anyone suffering from kidney disease to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

"We have also used Dr. Chase's 'Pain Expeller' and Turpentine for colds and sore throat and would be without these medicines for nothing."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one in a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers. Write to Dr. C. B. Chase, Toronto, for a free copy of Dr. Chase's 'Pain Expeller'.

Inventor of Ice Cream.

Dolly Madison was famous for her beauty, grace and social charm, but she has never been given due credit for her greatest achievement—the invention of ice cream. For the chroniclers tell us that she was the first to serve this national delicacy. The wife of the president must have been a wonderful woman, gifted in everything from diplomacy to cooking. Men have long suspected that some women invented both ice cream and matrimony, for men for generations have been inveigled into both. Let a boy and a girl go out walking, just anywhere, and suddenly the boy will find himself face to face with a soda fountain or an ice cream parlor. It's just like the man who starts along courting aimlessly, who suddenly finds himself engaged. He does not understand just how it happened. But he usually marches up bravely and finds that he enjoys both matrimony and ice cream. If every girl who eats a saucer of ice cream or a "sundae" would put a penny in the plate to erect a monument to the inventress of ice cream, they would build a tower so tall that it would make the Washington monument look like a fence post. While it was Dolly Madison who first made ice cream, they tell us that it was the wife of a young naval officer, Nancy Johnson, who invented the ice cream freezer. She deserves as much credit as the president's wife. They were one in achievement; they should be one in fame and immortality.—Baltimore Sun.

Accomplished.

An astonishing advertisement appeared some time back in a provincial newspaper. It asked for a "smart office boy," at a wage of 2s. a week.

In one of the replies the writer, who was evidently older than the average office boy, said: "I beg to offer you my services. I am fourteen years of age and understand the French, German, Spanish, and Russian languages, and am at the present time studying the Fiji language. I also understand shorthand, and can write a hundred words per minute. I am a fair knock-out at window cleaning, being in possession of three medals for same."

"I would commence at 1s. 10d. per week, and be willing for the 10d. to remain in the business (at interest to be arranged at interview). Should you deem my application worthy of a reply, I should be happy to put in an appearance with my boots well polished."

"P.S.—Should you require a premium, I could put down £100, and also provide a guarantee of £1,000. Would the 1s. 10d. include tea on Sunday, and should I have to work on that day?"

The total was $40,495,356 during the year just ended in comparison with $12,862,896 in 1908 and $31,713,045 in 1907, according to the annual report of Geo. F. Wealthy Miser.

Starving Though Possessed of Much Money.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 4.—Marshall McMurrin, a miserly old man living in a shack near this city, was brought here by a constable, who found him suffering from exposure and nearly starved to death. When he was found in a shack he was unconscious, but was revived by the use of stimulants. He was taken to a hospital, and when his ragged clothing was removed, $20,000 in greenbacks and $2,000 in gold certificates was found hidden in the pockets and in the lining of his clothes.

The money was turned over to a bank and efforts will be made to locate McMurrin's heirs. McMurrin has lived near this city for a number of years, but little is known of his history. He has been a recluse during his residence in this country and has always seemed to avoid interviews with people. At times he was thought to be demented, but as he was harmless no steps were taken to determine his sanity. No one suspected him of having any money and it is now believed that he has carried the small fortune for many years.

The Alibi.

A gigantic private in the Guards was brought before his commanding officer one morning, charged with being disorderly in the public street.

"Who makes the charge?" asked the Colonel.

"I do, sir," replied a sergeant. "I was in the town last night, when I heard someone bellowing and roaring songs about three hundred yards away. I went to the spot and saw the prisoner—Private Jones—singing at the top of his voice."

"And you could hear him three hundred yards away?" asked the Colonel.

"Yes, sir."

"Well, what have you to say, Private Jones?" continued the Colonel, turning to the prisoner.

"Please, sir," said Private Jones, "I was only 'umming'."

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down, a failure of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are the same: the more prominent being, sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour.

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY
