The War Situation.

In explaining to Sir E. Goschen, the British Ambassador at Berlin, the refusal of the Kaiser to refrain from violating Belgian neutrality, Herr von Jagow said: "they had to advance into France by the quickest and easiest way, so as to be able to get well ahead with their operations and endeavour to strike some decisive blow as early as possible. It was a matter of life and death for them, as if they had gone by the more southern route they could not have hoped, in view of the paucity of roads and the strength of the fortresses, to have got through without formidable opposition entailing great loss of time. This loss of time would have meant time gained by the Russians in bringing up their troops to the German frontier. Rapidity of action was the great German asset, while that of Russia was an inexhaustible supply of troops."

That great German asset has already been lost. The decisive blow against France was to have been delivered within four weeks. Fourteen weeks have now passed and France is not crippled. The easy road through Belgium and North France has proved as formidable as if they had contented themselves with paucity of roads and faced the fortresses of East France. The easy way brought in two great factors which have saved France and enabled her to gain time to present the strong front she is presenting to-day. Belgian opposition proved more stubborn than they expected, and "the contemptible little army" of Britain has proved the most formidable opposition they have met with. In addition to this, the German Dreadnoughts have had to quit the open sea, and Germany is faced with a total destruction of her overseas commerce, and in sacrificing her honour she has failed to obtain the advantage of time she placed so much reliance on. Russia has had time to bring up considerable portions of that "inexhaustible supply of troops" Germany so much feared. The attempt to divert large Russian forces to the Caucasus by inveigling Turkey into the war is not likely to neutralize materially the forces which have pushed back the Germans from the Niemen over their own borders in East Prussia, which has driven the Germans from Warsaw and the Vistula back to the Warthe and over their frontier in Silesia, and which is now driving the Austrians and Germans on towards Cracow and is working to the rear of the Austrian army confronting another Russian army on the San. The "inexhaustible supply of troops" is beginning to tell all along the line in the Eastern theatre of war. In the West General Joffre is not only holding his own, but he is gradually and surely gaining ground in pressing the German out of France. Sir John French after doing yeoman work in preventing the turning movement on the West in early stages of the war, and holding the lines on the Aisne in the neighbourhood of Soisson has defeated the gigantic effort of the Kaiser to back his way through Tynes and across the Yser to Calais. Not bad work for the "contemptible little army" against the violent attacks of twelve German army corps. But over and above all this is the spirit which animates the people in preparing a million British men who will be ready to take their place within the next twelve months. The spirit of the nation can be seen in the determined tone and inspiring speeches delivered at the Guild Hall last night. The sentiment in the speeches rings true. Asquith has made clear what Britain intends to do. Kitchener not only is a Maker of Armies, but his words show that he can stimulate the spirit of the nation and army and in his own way of putting it, that is what tells. The British bulldog is fully aroused, and now he has got his hold, he will not leave go, until the fight ends as Asquith says it must end with the destruction of Prussian militarism.

Marine Notes.

BOERS DEFEATED.

LONDON, To-day. General DeWet, rebel leader, says Reuter's Pretoria correspondent, has been in contact with and dispersed a small Government Commando under General Cronje, Member of the Legislature near Doornberg. In the course of the fighting DeWet's son, Daniel, was killed. The Government is sending strong reinforcements to Cronje. Reuter's Capetown correspondent gives the following concerning the fighting in South Africa. An engagement between General Lammer's forces and the Transvaal rebels under General Beyers occurred on Wet River, Southwest of Bloemhof on Nov. 8. The rebels were well armed and led by Beyers. They were entirely dispersed, losing 9 men killed, 11 wounded, 364 prisoners, 300 rifles, 300 horses; the loyalist casualties were 3 men killed, 9 wounded.

EMDEN'S CAREER ENDED.

LONDON, To-day. It is officially announced in London to-day that the German cruiser Emden has been driven ashore and burned. Twenty-two ships, mostly British, have been sunk by the Emden, to the total value of about four million dollars, which was destroyed by the Australian cruiser Sydney, was driven ashore on an island of the Coco group. The Sydney sighted the Emden yesterday morning and with a superior speed she at once closed in and gave battle. The German boat could not escape. There was a running fight, at the end of which the Emden, burning from the effects of the shells of the Australian boat, was beached. The casualties on the Sydney are said to have been slight.

This was the steamer that devastated so much shipping in the Indian Ocean. She bombarded Bombay and she also disguised herself as a Japanese cruiser and entered Penang, destroying a Russian cruiser. [The Emden is 3600 tons and carries ten 4.1 guns. The Sydney is 5400 tons and carries eight 6 inch guns. Her speed is 24 1/2 knots.—Ed.]

KOENISBERG BOTTLED UP.

LONDON, To-day. The German cruiser Koenisberg, which disabled the British cruiser Pegasus some weeks ago, has been bottled up at Mafia Island, on the coast of German East Africa, by the blocking of the channel to the harbor.

SEVERE FIGHTING.

PARIS, To-day. The French official bulletin given out in Paris this afternoon says that yesterday the action continued with great severity between the Lys and Armentieres.

Vice-Regal Visit to Commercial School.

His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson visited Springdale St. Commercial School yesterday and were accorded a hearty welcome by the Principal. The distinguished visitors spent about two hours at the school, inspecting the class rooms and examining the pupils. His Excellency expressed his great pleasure at the satisfactory answering of the pupils, and at the close addressed the three hundred pupils present on the subject of patriotism. He referred to the causes of the great war in which the Empire is now involved. He also made reference to the good showing made by the ex-pupils of the school of whom there are 74 in the ranks of the Newfoundland Regiment. Lady Davidson then addressed the girls and at the close of her remarks, some thirty of the seniors volunteered to join the sewing class to assist in preparing clothing for the soldiers of the Empire. Several patriotic selections were sung by the pupils, and the National Anthem brought the enjoyable proceedings to a close.

In removing clothes from the line, much trouble will be saved if they are pulled into shape and folded smoothly.

Persons wishing to send Parcels, for Xmas, to their friends and relatives now on active service with the Newfoundland Regiment or Naval Reserves, may send them any time up to Dec. 1st to MRS. EDGAR R. BOWLING, at the Balsam House Annex, Barnes Road. nov9,10,1914

JOHN B. AYRE.

This Date in History.

NOVEMBER 10.
New Moon—17th.

Days Past—313 To Come—51
WILLIAM HOGARTH born 1697. The celebrated engraver and painter who satirized the follies of his time in a series of engravings instinct with character, humour and power.

MARTIN LUTHER born 1483. He was educated for the law, but his deep religious convictions prompted him to retire to the cloister to study the Scriptures, after which he began to lecture on theology and was soon known for the strength of his opinions.

OLIVER GOLDSMITH born 1728. His poetical works are limited, but they are exquisite in their kind; he is one of the pioneers who broke down the artificial barriers which convention had erected against a natural literature. "The Traveller" and the "Deserted Village" belong to the highest order of descriptive poetry. He was enriched by his irregular and careless habits, and his generous disposition, kept him in perpetual embarrassment.

SCHILLER born 1759. German poet and one of the most sympathetic figures in literature. A man of singular purity of character, with a mind ambitious of reaching the highest, he strove, in spite of bodily weakness and the frowns of fortune, to attain the ideal in life and art.

ARMAGEDDON.

Arise ye Son of Men, the End is near! Rouse from your Slumbers, Christ shall soon appear. Millions of Armed Men, in battle fray, Are ushering in the dawn of God's Great Day!

Gird up your loins! see now the bright'ning ray Emerging from the gloom and smoke and glare! Doubt not that Righteousness doth still hold sway. Duty now calls that each the task may share Of helping onwards Christ's Eternal Day!

Nations at War, shall but prepare His Way. —Chas. D. Powell. Winnipeg, Oct. 1914.

"I am God's Sword."
Kaiser's Call to "The Chosen People."
An extraordinary proclamation, only comparable to the ravings of a megalomaniac in an asylum, is said to have been issued by the Kaiser to his army in the eastern theatre of war. A translation of it, taken from the Warsaw Journal Gazetta Poranny, has been sent by M. Ponarski, a Polish student of the University of Grenoble, mobilized at the beginning of the war, to his friends in France.
"Soldiers," it began, "remember that you are the chosen people! The spirit of the Lord has descended upon me because I am Emperor of the Germans. I am the instrument of the Most High. I am His sword, His vicereoy.

"Woe and death to all those who resist my will! Woe and death to all those who do not believe in my mission! Woe and death to the cowards! Let all the enemies of the German people perish.
"God demands their destruction. God, Who by my mouth commands you to execute His will!"
Priscners Held by Germans.
London, Nov. 6.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Amsterdam says that advices received there from Berlin are to the effect that up to last Sunday the German concentration camps and hospitals held the following prisoners:
French, 3,138 officers and 188,618 men.
Russians, 3,121 officers and 186,779 men.
Belgians, 537 officers and 24,907 men.
British, 417 officers and 15,730 men.
The correspondent adds that the Berlin despatch says these figures do not include prisoners not camped.
