Settling Down.

Evening Telegram.

Sir,—The Squires-Coaker or-are settling down to about the ask they have any genius for, garbling men's words and giv-twist to them to suit their own ous aims. Men of any character rather suffer defeat than seek by any other than the most able methods. To wrest a sen-from its context so that a ous foreign to its spirit may be ed to it is about as low as one oop, and this is the method ed by the Squires writers. It omizes perfectly with the low of mentality which marks the who with arms akimbo and ngs by the village pump hurls uration and bitter invective an opponent. It is unworthy and it casts a slur upon the me of the country. "It is really y affair," says the personal or-nd then proceeds to invade the Ku Klux Klan. If Sir Michael be so happy as to have a son son-in-law who are manly and enough to assume the highest of citizenship, he is to be com-ted on the event. Not many this distinction. Then the misernuation that Mr. Bennett is not al leader of the Opposition s reiterated and made a shuttle-of by the paltry beings who run ve personal organs, as if they proud of a wonderful display of l acumen. If Mr. Bennett is not bit as capable as Sir Richard e, whose leadership has rein such disaster and confusion, not of much account. Sir Rich-Squires has done nothing to re-his name from mediocrity, but done enough to show us that untry backed the wrong horse . He has added nearly $20,- to the public debt, he has de-ted the country, and the ture and trampled on our con-on. Could such accusations be against a clean and capable Bennett may not be trained in ies of the corporation debt col-lawyer, but he had more than set to this supposed advan-he has manly worth, strict inand the milk of human kind-his veins. He is manly enough et everybody on the square, to what he means and to what he says. The coun-prepared to back him bility against anything the s-Coaker combination can pro-we read this talk about who l leader is, we are prompted who has been the leader for t three and a half years? Has Squires, Coaker or Campbell? the insinuation that Mr.

r has not remained true to ples espoused in 1920, it is the nt of men who realize the lessness of their situation. No-ure of himself could be so as to grasp at such a straw.
Lizegar does not repudiate one y expression of opinion held by 1920, unless it is that like another honest man he has dis-ed his mistake in not supporting rty of Sir Michael Cashin. In e complained that while in countries profiteering was crime, it was not so recognizthis country. This brings us to the point wherein the ety of Squires reveals itself clearly. Among the items listed r. Squires in 1919 as contributthe high cost of living, we find ering. "The excessive profit in some cases is being charged wholesalers, jobbers and re-
" says the Manifesto is reble for the high cost of living, nningly is interpolated the hat profiteers would be brought ox promptly the moment he power. Says this now in-us manifesto: "Profiteering has made a criminal offence in countries." The country was ely left to fill in the ellipse. tinuation was plain. The pro-is still going on as admitted personal organ. Squires has thing to put a stop to it. Is to be wondered at that Mr. er sees fit to oppose the man of city and every act of betrayal a eaking and empty demagogue be guilty of. Why should he er. Squires when every fibre in breast of a manly man tingles for ation. We have been made dupes Squires, Coaker and Campbell e shall wipe out the sting and ain of the outrage without deven the hour strikes.

Yours truly,

DECENCY.
