The Grand Jury's Decision

The action of the Grand Jury in "throwing out the Bill" in Sir Richard Squires' case, following the comprehensive finding of the Commissioner Walker and the considered decision of the Judge of the Magistrate's Court to send the case for trial, has formed the one topic of conversation during the past few days. Although the trial has been delayed, the events which led up to it are still fresh in the mind of everyone and do not require to be repeated. It is sufficient to say that they focussed the eyes of the world on Newfoundland, and the world awaits the outcome with as lively an interest as do our own citizens.

The protest raised by the Crown Counsel in connection with the drawing and summing-up of the jury received the consideration of the Judges of the Supreme Court, and yesterday we published the decision of the Court to uphold the status of the present Grand Jury and their reasons for arriving at that decision.

The situation which results from the finding of the Grand Jury is that Sir Richard Squires occupies a very unenviable position. He was charged with the larceny of public funds, and the decision of the Grand Jury has merely vetoed his right, for the time being at any rate, to a trial on those charges, and has in no sense acquitted him, as their only duty is to decide whether there is a prima facie case or not, and they are not called upon to deal with the question of the prisoner's guilt or innocence.

Naturally the general public have been at a loss to understand how it has come about that a case which caused such a sensation here and abroad, and which required such an outlay in time and money, could be disposed of in this summary manner. The only explanation is that so succinctly expressed by our morning contemporary in the following observation:

"What has puzzled the public is how any Grand Jury could arrive at a decision in about an hour when 66 counts, or even 33, were involved. It took Recorder Walker, K.C., some weeks to sift the evidence, and it occupied the attention of His Honour Judge Morris for a month, before committal was made. There are evidently greater minds in our midst than citizens have hitherto had knowledge of."

A Lecture on Printing Ink

The story of Printing Ink as told by W. E. Sharpe, Sales Manager of the Canada Printing Ink Company, in the Grand Hall last night, gave the audience a very graphic insight into the multitudinous fields of labour engaged in the production of the material, and clearly showed them the important part it plays in every sphere of activity in the civilized world of to-day.

Briefly sketching the methods adopted in the manufacture of ink by the early printers, he traced the growth of the printing business, and explained and illustrated by lantern slides the phenomenal development which has taken place in the industry of recent years.

The successful results of scientific experiments in the search of a suitable fluid were responsible for the wide circulation in modern times of the great journals of the world and the placing within the reach of everyone the works of the most celebrated authors.

The lithographic processes were fully described and the lecturer went into detail to show how the colors were obtained and produced, and the different ways in which they were used in the printing business. The reproduction of works of art, the importance of the colored inks on manufactured products and in the various lines of advertising, and the uses made of colors in the printing of stamps and bank notes were fully described. The lecturer showed how the manufacturer depended upon the oil wells, the fields of flax, the forests of the south, the natural gas, the coal tar products and the minerals which play such an important part in supplying the pigments and the other essential properties. For over an hour the audience gave their closest attention to the lecturer and their appreciation was shown in a very practical manner at the conclusion of the address. A vote of thanks to the lecturer, proposed by Mr. F. M. F. Quigley and seconded by Mr. F. Merner, was carried in a most enthusiastic manner. Mr. Quigley suggested that the colored printing process should be brought to the attention of the business firms of St. John's, in order that they might be led to adopt this method to give greater effect to their advertising campaigns, and in order that such work should be done here instead of abroad.

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

Oct. 13th.—A raw, cold day, and chills me to the very marrow when I go abroad. Amon to the Supreme Court, and there hear the Chief Justice give his decision in the case of Sir R. Squires, and he upholds the decision of the Grand Jury. At this, Mr. Howley moves for the release of Sir Richard, which Mr. Emerson asks to be allowed to stand over till tomorrow, and so the matter ends, albeit I am told how if the Cabal do desire it, Sir Richard may be called to appear before the new Grand Jury at the next quarterly sessions. This day talking with Mr. Halfyard, he do give it as his opinion that the election in Bonavista will be contested, but by whom he does not say. Few men give the matter thought, and is the least talked of election in my memory. This night, with Povey, to a partridge supper, which I enjoyed not a little, being good company, albeit more than a suspicion in my mind that the birds are from cold storage.

Susu in Port

The steamer Susu, Capt. Jacob Keen, arrived from the Fogo Mail Service at 2.30 p.m. yesterday, after a round trip of seven days. The Susu brought a large freight, consisting principally of fish and oil, besides the following passengers:—J. Ford, J. Simmonds, H. Burt, W. Wicks, W. F. Horwood, L. Green; Misses Hicks, Page and six in steerage. Captain Keen reports that the fishing around the Fogo Islands is now practically over. During the past week heavy seas prevailed, and none of the boats were able to get out. While the ship was at Port Union on Sunday a heavy gale sprang up from the N.E. with thick fog, and the Captain was compelled to put the ship at safe anchorage for the night. Otherwise excellent weather prevailed on the round trip.

Supreme Court

TRUE BILLS IN REX VS. J. T. MEANEY AND REX VS. JAS. W. McNEILLY.

The Grand Jury was present and reported True Bill in the matter of the King vs. J. T. Meaney and in the matter of the King vs. Jas. Whiteford McNeilly. Mr. Emerson moved for the arraignment of Mr. Meaney on tomorrow and Mr. McNeilly on Friday. Argument on the motion of W. R. Howley for the discharge of Sir Richard Squires and the release of his bondsman occupied the attention of the Court for the greater part of the forenoon. The Court gave no decision in the matter, but it is expected that judgment will be delivered tomorrow. Mr. Howley pointed out that the bond which was signed for the 'emancipation' of the Supreme Court of when Walter upon could be construed to mean a bond in perpetuity. The words "when called upon" he claimed were an addition to the usual form. Mr. Winter replying asked if Mr. Howley took exception to the form of the bond or if he was requesting the release of the bondsman or the prisoner. If it were the latter he pointed out that his instructions are that the Crown cannot consent to the motion, but it might consent if the motion was for the release of the bondsman.

Mr. Howley reiterated his motion for the release of the bondsman and the dismissal of Sir R. Squires, on the grounds that the Bill of Indictment had been ignored by the Grand Jury. He further argued that a bill on the same charges and supported by the same evidence ought not to be referred to another Grand Jury unless there was additional evidence or alteration in the charges. He claimed statutory authority for the right of a person against whom no bill is found to a right of discharge immediately and quoted 55 Geo. 3 Chap. 4 and 5. He also quoted Archibald in reference to possible future action by the Crown citing the cases of Regina vs. Semblé, 1843 and Regina vs. Austin, 1850. Mr. Winter dealt with each of the Sections in Mr. Howley's motion viz: (1) The proposition for discharge of the prisoner; (2) The proposition that the same bill cannot be sent up the second time; (3) That the same bill cannot be sent up to another Grand Jury, and submitted that it was proper for the Crown to keep the prisoner in custody until the jury was discharged as another bill may be sent against him.

He had no hesitation in stating that if necessary it is the intention of the Crown to bring the matter before a new Grand Jury and there is a possibility that the same bill may be sent back to the present Grand Jury.

The charges against Dr. Alex Campbell and W. F. O'Reilly are being considered by the Grand Jury this afternoon.

Candidates Given a Vociferous Send Off

HUNDREDS OF BONAVISTA FISHERMEN PRESENT.

The Prime Minister, Hon. W. S. Monroe, and Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Hon. W. G. Winsor, left by the express at 1 p.m. to-day to open the campaign in the Bye-election in the District of Bonavista Bay. Amongst those present at the station to see their departure were, the Executive and members of the Government, several prominent merchants, and upwards of 600 fishermen from Bonavista Bay. Before the train pulled out the gathering crowded the station platform and gave the Ministers a rousing send-off. Cheers upon cheer rent the air, and probably never before has such a demonstration been accorded members of a Government seeking re-election at the Polls. After the outburst of applause had subsided both the Prime Minister, Hon. W. S. Monroe and Hon. W. G. Winsor, addressed a few words to the large gathering from the platform of the car. They thanked the gathering for their attendance expressed their confidence in the result and their appreciation in the support which was so clearly behind the Party. Further cheering followed and only ceased when the train had passed out of the station.

AT HOME—Mrs. Richard Cramm will be "At Home" to her friends, at 171 Gower Street on Thursday and Friday, October 16th and 17th, from 3.30 to 5.30 p.m.—oct14,11

Body Picked up at Allan's Island

A message from Mr. C. C. Pittman, J.P., Laminine, to the Justice Department states that the body of another seaman has been picked up at Allan's Island and buried in the Roman Catholic cemetery. A number of papers were found on the body. The deceased is evidently one of the crew of the French schooner Raymond which was wrecked about a month ago.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

MACDONALD DELIVERS AN ORATION IN GLASGOW.

LONDON, Oct. 13. (Canadian Press)—Ramsay MacDonald's first public appearance in the present election campaign was the signal for a demonstration in Glasgow to-night of loyalty from his supporters. The Prime Minister entered the building through lines of people numbering several thousand who had been unable to get admittance and who interrupted and clamored for admission to cheer MacDonald on whom the audience had finished its ovation. Dealing with the question of foreign policy when Labour assumed office, he said they found the name of British lower in international reputation even than the Russian name. Much has been done to restore Britain's place in the world of politics, and to reassure other nations as to the dependability of Britain's policy. "Sheer humbug," was the way the Premier described the charges brought against the Government in connection with the suspension of the Campbell sedition case. "The common fear had got into the hearts of Liberal and Tory alike." He said that at least new heirs had been born to the hollow throne occupied so long by the old time parties. "It is our success that made the trouble," Mr. MacDonald asserted amid applause. "If I had made a mess of Europe and my friend Wheatley had made a mess of his job, we would not have been voted out in the House of Commons. They would have given us a much longer time together." Into the proposed loan to Russia the Premier emphasized that two thirds of it would be spent in British industrial centres. "This proposal for a Russian loan," he said, "is a proposal to increase available credits for British industry, and open the door for industry stimulated by that credit, because it will open up Russian markets to our goods." When he came into office, the Premier went on, he had found the League of Nations practically doing nothing because no great beneficial lead had been given to it. "We went to Geneva and gave that lead," he added, "and the League of Nations to-day is more vigorous than ever." The Premier complained that the Government had not had fair play in Parliament, where it had met with pettifogging partisan trickery aimed to prevent an honest government doing its work. In his peroration the Prime Minister appealed to the nation to put an end to contemptible party tactics by giving the Government a clear majority. Another salvo of cheers broke out as he resumed his seat.

CHICAGO ENTHUSIASM AMAZES THE PRINCE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13. Edward David Windsor, the heir to the British Throne, was Chicago's guest on a private visit for seventeen crowded hours to-day. At the visitor's stopping place the enthusiastic welcome of cheering throngs turned the affair into a cordial public reception. Lusty cheers and big throated automobile horns saluted him at every turn. "My worst" said the Prince to his host during one of the day's brief stops, "these Americans are enthusiastic and vigorous." He doffed his hat and smiled graciously in response to every greeting. Chicago picked up the Prince enthusiastically at Lake Forest, a suburb, soon after eight o'clock in the morning. He was the guest of Louis F. Swift, the packer. He was whisked along the Lake shore and through evergrowing throngs to the stockyards for an hour's inspection tour, and to the University of Chicago for a somewhat formal reception by college officers, city officials, and some 200 invited representatives of the community.

THE EXTREMISTS' PROGRAMME.

LONDON, Oct. 14. The announced program of the Communist Party in Britain includes the nationalization of big industries and banks, state control of foreign trade, capital levy, suspension of interest on the national debt, holdings of over £500,000 minimum weekly wage of £4 with a forty-four hour working week, a loan to Russia of £100,000,000 and cancellations of reparations war debt. Dr. R. Dunstan is standing as a Communist in Birmingham West, the seat held by the Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, in the remaining eleven Birmingham divisions straight labor candidates are being entered. At the last elections Birmingham "incividing Edgemoor" returned a solid doz Conservatives including two Chamberlains Austen and Neville. Dr. Dunstan was defeated last year by Neville Chamberlain. Probably the least exciting campaign in whole kingdom will be that in Scotland division of Liverpool, where T. P. O'Connor is returned unopposed with unflinching regularity at every election. O'Connor this year is not even issuing an election address, his principles he remarked to friends are the same as they were when he first appealed to the electors thirty-five years ago and he had nothing new to say.

TURKS DENY MOBILIZATION REPORT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 13. The Ankara Government makes a denial of the current report that there is to be general mobilization of Turkish troops on the Iraq front, but it is reported here that certain military dispositions have been made. Kemal Pasha, President of Turkey, is returning immediately from Erzerum to Ankara.

TURKEY'S CHARGES AGAINST BRITAIN.

GENEVA, Oct. 13. Accusing Great Britain of ignoring the League of Nations' decisions, Ismet Pasha, the Turkish Premier and Foreign Minister, to-day telegraphed the League that if the Turkish troops commit acts of aggression on the frontier between Turkey and Iraq, Britain must bear the entire responsibility. The Turkish telegram which was given out to-night indicated that it had been distributed to all the members of the Council at the request of Ismet, who asks that the Council act to ensure respect for the decision it has previously reached.

WAHABIS ADVANCE THEIR POSITION.

JEDDAH, Arabia, Oct. 13. The invading Wahabi forces which have been threatening the security of Mecca, the chief shrine of the Islam world, have advanced from their position some distance from the city and have taken a position astride the route from Jeddah to the fort of Mecca and Mecca itself. It was announced to-day by the President of the Council of Notables here. This move by the Wahabis has restricted communication and the movement of supplies between Mecca and Jeddah.

AVOIDING CONTESTS BETWEEN LIBERAL AND CONSERVATIVE.

LONDON, Oct. 13. Apprehension of another era of Labor Government has driven the other parties to an accommodation that all appeals in the past have failed to accomplish, namely the avoidance as far as possible of three cornered contests over Parliamentary seats to minority candidates. The headquarters of the Conservatives and Liberal parties officially disavow that any such accommodation has been arranged, and assert that anything of the kind if it exists is the work of local election originators. Nevertheless it clearly indicates that good understanding, and this is seen in the Unionist predictions already enumerating the large number of Labor seats which are expected to be captured in London and elsewhere by the avoiding of triangular contests. The first fruits of this understanding appeared to-night in the withdrawal of the Unionist candidate at Paisley, leaving H. H. Aquilith, the Liberal, with a straight fight against the Labour alone. Similarly in the Trade-union district of Glasgow, the Unionist candidate has withdrawn and the Liberal nomination has been left to contest against Thos. Henderson, the Labour candidate. The withdrawal of Conservative or Liberal candidates have been effected in other constituencies in accordance with local exigencies, and should the process be continued it will bring about a complete change in the election prospects making any fair prediction of results quite impossible.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14. After delaying his departure three hours to dance with nearly all of three score women at an exclusive dinner party at the Saddle and Cycle Club the Prince of Wales left for Detroit on a special train; at 3.35 a.m. to-day. Smiling and affable but tired after nearly twenty hours of constant activity, the heir to the throne was driven quietly from the Club in the private car of Sir Henry Thornton President of the Canadian National Railways attached to a special which had been held at the Prince's request. The Prince's progress through our city was hailed with outbursts of enthusiasm that several times threatened to overwhelm him and his hosts.

ZR-3 to-day was steering a beeline course across the Atlantic from the Azores Islands to Lakehurst, N.J., in its flight from Friedrichshaven, Germany. Word that the airship was following a direct course to its hangar at Lakehurst was received by the Navy Department here early to-day in a delayed message from Capt. George W. Steele, U.S. Naval officer on board. The message was sent as the cruiser passed over the Azores yesterday afternoon, said she was then turning with only three of her six engines to save fuel and was averaging a 48 knot speed.
