CRUSHED BRAKEMAN

WILL LIKELY RECOVER

Martin J. Kenny Is Greatly Improved and Has Now a Good Chance.

Martin J. Kenny, of 848 Dundas street, a Grand Trunk brakeman, who was crushed between two cars while making a coupling at Komoka on Saturday morning, and who was at first thought to have been fatally injured, is now very greatly improved, and his ultimate recovery is looked for.

A cursory examination made it at first appear that Kenny had been seriously injured about the head and that his spine was affected. However he rested well on Sunday, and it is now believed that he will be completely restored to health.

Mr. Kenny was a member of the congregation of St. Mary's Church, and prayers were offered for his recovery at the different masses there Sunday.

WATER COMMISSION IN BOARD OF CONTROL

Aldermen Favor Plan to Centralize Civic Bodies.

The water commission will be placed under the jurisdiction of the board of control, if the recommendation of the special committee is adopted.

At the next meeting of the committee to be held shortly, this will be made very clear.

"There seems to be no logical reason why this should not be," said Ald. Spittal. "I think all the members of the committee are unanimous on that question."

Agency Moves Into New Offices.

The Baker Agency, Limited, of Toronto, under the presidency of Mr. R. A. Baker, formerly a well-known newspaper manager, moved from their Adelaide street offices, where they had been located for about one year, to 15-20 Wellington street east, Toronto. This agency entered into the advertising arena something over one year ago, and is now placing some of the largest advertising accounts in Canada. Owing to the increase in business it was necessary to obtain larger quarters, and their new offices are models of convenience.

KING STREET PEOPLE ARE STILL WAITING

Work of Putting Awful Roadway in Repair Has Been Stopped.

King street people are wondering why the work of improving that thoroughfare has been stopped. Previous to Fair week one block, that between Wellington and Waterloo streets, was put in shape, and it was stated that work would be commenced on the other blocks after the Fair.

However, nothing has been done, and it is now stated that there is no money to go on with the job. The street, on which an alleged Kentucky rock asphalt pavement was put down some years ago, is a mudhole, and the people are still paying a frontage tax for the greatest fake in the pavement line known to London or any other Canadian city. It did not last three months.

WOMAN MERELY EXISTS

Miss McLaurin Describes Life Among Females of India.

The four stages of female life in India was the topic on which Miss McLaurin, an Indian missionary, based her remarks in an address in the Adelaide Street Baptist Church on Friday night. These four stages were: the child, the woman, the wife and the widow.

In the Indian life, the speaker stated that the woman did not actually live, but existed. With the entrance of the gospel the barriers were being broken down and the women were rising somewhat in the social scale.

Despite the inclement weather a large number turned out to hear Miss McLaurin speak.

And His Stomach Is All Right

Thousands With Poor Teeth Have Good Digestion by Using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets After Meals.

Whether or not we eat too much is a matter for individual judgment. Benjamin Franklin tried the experiment of living on a handful of raisins. But he discovered that the quantity thereof, but one grain of raisin, was enough to cause indigestion and assimilation. The normal person eats heartily, and with keen enjoyment. But if he has another grain of raisin, he does have an attack of sour stomach or indigestion. He knows that the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give quick relief.

"That from and after the date hereof the party of the first part shall hire and employ union stage hands only, except in such cases and at any time when such stage hands are not available (clearers at all times excepted), and shall pay to them for their services the following union schedule of prices or wages for and during a period of one year from Sept. 1, 1910, covering the years from 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914 and 1915, with the privilege of continuing the same union schedule thereafter if satisfactory to both parties. And that the said party of the first part shall pay the following schedule of prices during the said terms above mentioned. (Here follows the wage schedule).

"The party of the first part shall have the right to discharge any member of the party of the second part who shall through incompetency, dishonesty, drunkenness or insubordination of the rules made by the management of the Grand Opera House to maintain discipline therein, so that a good and safe personage may be given at all times and with due regard to the general safety of the patronizing public, without any prior notice other than to bring it to the attention of the local union No. 105, so that the union can properly discipline said member for the protection of the management of the theatre. The stage carpenter is to engage all local hands who are employed by the performance, subject at all times to the approval of the house manager.

All employees to receive double time for Sunday work. And the said party of the second part in consideration of the above agreement hereby ratify same, and agree to do the work required in a proper manner during the said term hereby created.

"In witness whereof the said parties have hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first above written.

"Montreal to Bristol" You Enjoy Your Trip

From the moment you step on board at Montreal until you reach England, you find a delightful sense of satisfaction with the splendid accommodation, careful appointments, and overmeasure service which characterize the R. M. S. Royal Edward and R. M. S. Royal George.

And then there's the way! The most romantic and scenic river route in the world. Admire the world's greatest bridge, the Clifton Suspension Bridge, and the world's longest tunnel, the Maidenhead Railway Tunnel.

Informal discussion among the insurance men along the lines advocated, followed, but no resolutions were passed.

Dr. Hill, of the Hygienic Institute, gave a practical address on Saturday afternoon in the parlour of the Tecumseh House to an informal gathering of life insurance agents on the subject, "Life Insurance as a Practical Measure for Public Health." Mr. George Davis, the president, was in the chair.

Dr. Hill told his auditors that it was strictly in their interests that their policyholders should live, hence it was their duty to take up the problem of public health. The healthy bodily condition of the people benefited them materially in their business. There were three ways in which the life insurance men could greatly help in the public health problem. First, by supporting the medical inspection of school children and starting the practice of inspection amongst their policyholders. The second way was to lend their influence in the reduction of infant mortality, and thirdly, by helping to fight infectious diseases. The medical profession could not undertake to wipe out the latter case by themselves as never half of the infectious case are reported.

To carry out this work properly, Dr. Hill advocated the appointment of a committee whose sole duty would be to investigate cases of infectious diseases, and have the patients isolated. He prophesied that this method would mean a great lowering in the general death rate, and considerable improvement in the public health.
