GERMAN ARMY'S STILL IN RETREAT

Crown Prince's Army Still Fighting to Break Through French.

SIEGE GUNS AT NANCY

Germans Bring Up Heavy Artillery, Which Has Had Little Effect.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—10:25 p.m.—The battle of the Marne, as the French have christened the great struggle which now has been in progress for a week in the territory between Paris and Verdun, with the allied armies of France and England on one side and the Germans on the other, has not yet reached a decisive result. The German right, however, in the face of superior forces and threatened with an outflanking movement, continues to retire to the north along the route over which Gen. Von Kluck made his famous lightning advance on Paris from the Belgian border after having defeated the Allies at Mons and again at Cambrai and St. Quentin.

With Gen. Von Kluck also, according to French official reports, the right wing of Gen. Von Buelow's army, which supported his left, is falling back toward the Rivers Aisne and Oise. On Von Buelow's left the army of the Prince of Wuertemberg, which had been trying for weeks to break through the French line, also has stopped fighting and retired north. The German left wing, however, composed of other sections of the Prince of Wuertemberg's army and the army commanded by the German Crown Prince is still fighting with varying success. Three armies appear, however, to have passed Verdun, as Berlin reports say they have been bombarding fortified positions south of that fortress.

Although the Germans have had to send some of their best troops back to Prouss, to meet the Russian advance, it is not for a moment thought here that there will be any pause in their efforts to beat the French. Crown Prince Frederick William, who has with him a portion of the Prussian army, is still fighting, and all that is reported says of this battle is that there is no change in the situation, there being alternate advances and retreats.

The Germans have brought up some siege guns against Nancy, and here, as in the Vosges, it is reported there is no change in the situation. The British public seems well satisfied with the result of the battle so far as it has gone, but the military experts warn them that it is not over yet. It is suggested by some of the military men that the French are only holding the line of the Marne on sufferance, while the Germans are making some changes in their line of communications. Among these experts it is considered that there is no reason to suppose that the German army has yet been brought to a standstill.

Belgian Grasp Opportunity.
The distress of the German right wing has given the little Belgian army another opportunity to do something, and it is taking advantage of it by harassing the German reinforcements, which are hurrying south to Gen. Von Kluck's assistance, and also to attack the Germans' left in Belgium. As only a few troops of the German line are left there, the Belgians have only to cope with the landwehr.

It is reported that Germany is withdrawing troops from Alsace, but whether they are for the Prussian frontier or to support the armies which are facing the allies in Western France has not been disclosed. It is considered likely, however, that the general staff will gather all the forces it can get together, to get through by French forces east of Paris, either the route they have been trying to force last week or by way of Lunville.

Situation in Galicia.
In Galicia the Austrians, who are being supported by the Germans, are still putting up a fight against the Russians, although it has been predicted for days that their surrender or annihilation was imminent. The Russians claim to have had another success over the Austrians near Krasnik on Wednesday, and add that sanguinary fighting is proceeding on the Tomaszow-Rawa front as far as the line of the Ruzsky. It is apparent that the German enveloping movement is not developing as rapidly as was expected, and it may have been delayed by the offensive movement, which, according to Russian advice, the Austrians have resumed in the Lemberg district.

Interesting in East Prussia.
Matters are getting a little more interesting in East Prussia, where for a while Russia is said to have had things virtually her own way. The Germans are reported now to have moved some of their best troops into this section of the theatre of war, and the Russians are said to have been compelled to withdraw. Petrograd says its only retirement has been its advance guard, who are keeping in touch with the German advance, but the Germans claim to have scored another victory over the Russians. The army is said to have received a rather severe check between Aug. 25 and 27.

It is possible that the Austrians have kept the Russians busy in Galicia just long enough to enable Germany to get her troops into East Prussia, before the Russians were able to dispose of the Austrians and sweep down upon Silesia, Posen and Prussia.

Victory for Serbia.
Serbia is celebrating another victory over Austria, having taken Semlin, just across the river from Belgrade, the Serbian capital, which has been under an intermittent bombardment ever since the commencement of the war. This success, it is thought, may enable Serbia, which is also advancing into Bosnia, to put an end to the guns which have been put so long firing on her capital.

Turkey has taken advantage of Europe's occupation to abrogate capitulations which she so long objected to. Her diplomats deny that this means, or implies, any bellicose attitude on her part, and say Turkey believes the time has arrived when she should enjoy the same status as other independent countries, particularly as Great Britain and Austria have just agreed to the abrogation of capitulations in the territory which Greece recently acquired from the Turkish Empire.

LLOYD GEORGE'S SONS ENLIST.
LONDON, Sept. 12.—Richard Lloyd George, the eldest son of David Lloyd George, the British chancellor of the exchequer, has enlisted in the 1st Battalion of the Carmarvonshire Territorials. The young man volunteered also for active service. His brother, Gwyn Lloyd George, has been appointed a lieutenant in the same battalion.

Germans Driven Back on the Left Wing and Centre—The French Capture Another Flag and Continue to Pursue Enemy.

[Canadian Press.]

PARIS, Sept. 11.—11:13 p.m.—The following official communication was issued here today:

"First—On the left wing our success increases. Our progress has continued. North of the River Marne and in the direction of Soissons and Compiègne the Germans have abandoned to us great quantities of ammunition, stores, some wounded and some prisoners. We have taken another flag. The British army has captured 11 guns and some important stores and has taken from 1,200 to 1,500 prisoners.

"Second—In the centre, the enemy has given in right along on its front between Sezanne and Revin. The Germans have not yet fallen back from L'Argonne. Notwithstanding the strain to which our troops are subjected during the last five days of battle, they still find energy to pursue the enemy on its left wing.

"Lorraine and the Vosges—There is no change in this territory.

"Austro-Russian Centre of Operations—The Austrian army which was defeated at Lemberg has not been able to assume the offensive, and in spite of heavy reinforcements, it is being repulsed. On the front between Jalonne and Rawa and the River Dniester, the Russians are besieging the fortified town of Grodek. The second Austrian army has been attacked near Tomaszow, and has been compelled to retreat.

"Austro-Serbian Centre of Operations—The Serbian troops have crossed the River Save at Shabatz and Obrenovatz. In Bosnia they have assumed the offensive in the direction of Visegrad."

REVIEW OF SITUATION.
A review of the recent fighting east of Paris from the standpoint of the French war office is made in an official communication, issued this afternoon. The offensive movements of the allies are described as successful. The statement follows:

"As we already have announced a battle has been taking place since September 6 over a front extending from Paris to Verdun."

"From the very outset of the action the German right wing, commanded by General Von Kluck, which was obliged to fall back, because of the danger of being enveloped. By its clever and rapid movements, this army was succeeding in escaping from the Allies' grip, and was throwing itself with the greater part of its force against the French right wing to the north of the Marne and the west of the Ourcq River. But the French troops, which were operating in this region, powerfully aided by the bravery of our British allies, inflicted considerable losses on the enemy and gained the time necessary to allow our offensive to proceed forward, and at present, on that side, the enemy is in retreat toward Aisne and the Oise."

SITUATION UNCHANGED.
"On the Ourcq River, as between the Argonne Forest and the River Meuse, where the armies of the Prince of Wuertemberg and the Crown Prince of Germany were operating, fighting was still going on with alternate advances and retreats, but without any great change in the situation."

"Thus the first phase of the battle of the Marne is turning out, in favor of the allied armies, since the German right wing and centre are present in retreat."

"On our right the situation remains without notable change in the Vosges and around Nancy, which the Germans have tried to bombard with some long range guns."

"The general situation has thus been completely transformed during the last two days, both from strategic and tactical points of view. Not only have our troops stopped the Germans' march, which they thought was a victorious one, but the enemy has fallen back before us at nearly every point."

MILITARY STATEMENT.
The French military authorities who heretofore had confined the information made public concerning the military operations east of Paris, to laconic statements very general in character, today gave a lengthy description of the most important battle since the beginning of hostilities.

Evidently, the left wing of the allied armies facing the northeast have borne the brunt of the engagements in which the French took such a prominent part that they are the object of the highest compliments on the part of the French military men.

The combat, according to the official announcement, seems to be developing into an abandonment of at least the German positions held by the Germans who, it is announced, are retiring along a greater part of the line. This retirement is said to have been for 45 miles at some points.

Furious onslaughts sometimes by the French and again by the Germans occurred about the centre of an extensive line in the vicinity of Vitry-Je-Francois.

GERMANS ARE FURIOUS.
Three great German armies commanded by General Von Kluck, the Crown Prince Frederick William and the Duke of Wuertemberg, effected a junction and repeatedly hurled themselves against the French positions with the greatest vigor, but they were not able to achieve the seeming object of breaking the allies' centre and thus dividing the Anglo-French armies.

The French and British offering an equally effective resistance, eventually compelled the Germans to withdraw. The fighting continued throughout last night and the allies' position, it is understood, was improved today.

A rainstorm caused great difficulties in the marshy districts, but did not stop the operations. The fusiliers of the troops and the artillery duel proceeded all day. It is believed that the retiring Germans suffered more than the allies from the storm, as their withdrawing columns were encumbered with baggage and ammunition wagons.

PIERCING WORK OF ARTILLERY.
Some idea of how the Germans were harassed by artillery fire during their recent retreat was obtained in a visit to the fields near Meaux, the scene of a severe fight yesterday.

The German infantry had taken a position in a sunken road on either side of which were stretched in extended lines hummocks, some of them natural and some the work of spades in the hands of German soldiers.

Besides many bodies were forty or fifty empty cartridge shells, while fragments of clothing, caps and knapsacks were scattered about. This destruction was wrought by batteries a little more than three miles distant. Straggling clumps of wood intervened between the batteries and their mark, but the range had been determined by an officer on an elevated position, a mile from the gunners. He telephoned directions for the firing, and through glasses watched the bursting shells. Sprawling in ghastly fashion, the faces had almost the same greenish gray hue as the uniforms worn. The road is lined with poplars, the branches of which are severed by fragments of shells, were strewn among the dead. In places whole tops of trees had been torn away by the artillery fire.

GERMANS FIRE LOW.
The wounded who during the first three weeks of hostilities were transferred to provincial hospitals, are beginning to arrive in Paris. It is remarked that most of the wounds are in the feet or in the limbs and generally not serious, indicating a tendency of the Germans to fire low. Another peculiarity is that the Singapore and Algerian riflesmen seem nearly all to have sabre wounds on the arms and shoulders, evidence of their charges upon German cavalry and gunners. Some of the wounded state that many of the German cavalrymen seem to be tied to their horses; in many instances British soldiers apparently seem to be hanging over the necks of their horses, and in one case a French soldier pierced a Uhlans with his sabre, rearing himself at the same time a lance thrust that made him fall, rearing himself at the same time a lance thrust that made him fall, rearing himself at the same time a lance thrust that made him fall.

Interests of humanity should not be sacrificed to them." The ambassador's statement, which underwent the scrutiny of officials and caused the inquiry, charged first that Great Britain was attempting to draw the United States into the European war by asking that American warships go to Turkey, agitating "before the eyes of the United States the spectre of a massacre of Christians."

Turkey Has Provocations.
He explained that while there had been some measures of Turkey, the victims "suffered not as Christians, but as political agitators engaged in undermining the Ottoman state." He spoke of the acts of other foreign peoples under provocation, mentioning Russia, and then said: "And since a large number of American papers are still with Great Britain and France in this affair, I will permit myself to say that the thought of lynchings which occur in the United States, and in the Philippines should make them chary of attacking Turkey in connection with acts of savagery committed by her under provocation, compared with which the economic competition of an Italian, or the sniping of a Filipino, or even the outrage of a negro are as nothing. Supposing, for the sake of argument, that the negroes were discovered to be engaged in a conspiracy with the Japanese to facilitate the invasion of the United States by the latter, how many of them would be left alive to tell the tale?"

The above paragraph caused considerable discussion in diplomatic and official circles, but the delicacy of the present European situation, it is known, led the president and Secretary Bryan to the conclusion that what might be regarded as an indiscreet statement in time of peace could be ignored at present on account of the critical situation produced by the European war.

TO CURE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES
Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parment (double strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it ¼ pint of hot water, and 4 ounces of molasses granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose promptly ends the most distressing head noises, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucous discharges from the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there are restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.

Important—In ordering Parment always specify that you want Double Strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send 75c to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Anne street, Montreal, P.Q., who make the specialty of this ad-vt. $12.19, 25c
