Local Pedagogues Remain in Toronto To Witness National Exhibition.

Members of the party of public school teachers, including eight from London, Charles McConnell, a policeman at Syron Sanatorium, was slashed across the throat with a razor in the hands of Thomas Kechego, a Muncey Indian, whom he was bringing to London as Kechego and Hubert Cody, another Indian, had been arrested by County Constable Byron Dawson, in Springbank Amusement Park about 11 o'clock teachers will remain in the Queen City or a charge of drunkenness. Dawson who had handcuffed the Indians to one another called on McConnell of asistance. The Indians were loaded into Dawson's car and the party was passing through the village of Byron, when McConnell, who was sitting in the rearseat with the prisoners, commenced to yell. Dawson stopped the car and drew ris billy, which he was forced to use on Kechego.

When the Indian had been overpowered, a razor, which had been bedly broken in the mix-up, was taken away from him. Kechego had already inflicted a severe wound requiring him sittches, in McConnell's neck.

The two prisoners were hurried to London, where medical attention was failed for both McConnell and Kechego.

Kechego and Cody were lodged in the county jail. They have been remanded to appear in county police court before Squire W. H. Chittick a week from today for trial.
