Writes Farewell Note On His Collar

TORONTO, Sept. 33.—The body of Harry H. Unsworth, of Fergus, Ont., 35 years of age, and employed as a traveler, was found at the end of Bloor street viaduct where it crosses the Rosedale ravine. He had evidently taken off his collar and written a note on each side of it. On one side he expressed regret for the sorrow he had caused his lady friend, and requested all to aid his mother, sister and brothers. On the other side was written Good-bye, nice old world, though I have not been happy at times. yet I have drawn a good deal of pleasure from life, and though my last act may be rash, yet God is merciful, and Christ died even for me. Good-bye all. Dick, don't forget my last request. Forget all, as I have, and Christwill forgive us."

KIWANIANS TO HELP

Will Undertake Extensive Child Welfare Work in City.

Child welfare work as undertaken by the London Kiwanians continues with even renewed zest. At the conclusion of Friday's luncheon, the local members responded generously to the appeal for firancial aid from Kiwanian Kenneth Murray.

The latter explained one pathetic case that had been brought to his attention within the past few days, that of a crippled youngster, whose chances for the future would be greatly improved by immediate medical treatment. the case of a little fellow with a de-formed foot, and although Kiwanian Murray had been offered aid by different public-spirited citizens, he preferred, he said, that the cost of the treatment be shouldered by the club, each member contributing his share.
On Thursday, October 13, the Kiwanians will hold a dance at the Winter Garden, the proceeds of which will be placed with the fund for the aid of the 56 fatherless youngsters who are wards of the Kiwanians.

The last announcement of the distric convention which occurs in Montreal October 7 was made at Friday's gathering. A special car leaves on the C. I R. on the night of the 6th. Kiwanians from Windsor, Galt, Hespeler and other Western Ontario points will accompany

PAYS $5 TO FIND OUT SPEED OF HIS AUTO

George Chantler paid $5 and costs into police court Thursday morning, but in return received information that his auto could travel 26 miles in an hour. He told the court that he did not think it was "in the car." Another point in his defence was that at the time of the speeding his son was driving a woman to the hospital, and it was necessary to speed.

However, the officers who took the number of the auto, testified that car was being driven away from the h pital. The defendant then stated that his son, who was driving, was bring-ing other members of the family home from the hospital and they wanted to

FARMERS' CLUB ISSUES SUPREME COURT WRIT

Supreme court action has been com menced by the North Dorchester Farm-ers' Club against Gordon Harris, for-merly manager of the society, for an accounting of all money received since January 16, 1919.
