

AVERAGE 14,000 IN IMMIGRATION

Total of 141,609 New Citizens
In Last Ten Months

MANY ARE FROM U. S.

Exceeded Total From Britain In December and January

OTTAWA, March 1.—Immigration to Canada, including Canadians returning from the United States, has averaged a little over 14,000 a month for the 10 months of the fiscal year up to and including January, according to a statement just issued by the department of immigration and colonization. The total is 141,609.

Regular immigration, not including returning Canadians, amounted to 102,575, of which 49,363 were British, 12,721 from the United States and 24,491 from other countries.

For seasonal reasons, January represents a low point in Canadian immigration.

The efforts of the department of immigration and colonization are directed toward encouraging immigration of farmers and farm laborers, who do not arrive in numbers during the winter months. January immigration totaled 2,007, of whom 542 were British, 622 from the United States and 843 from other countries.

Canadians, who in January returned to Canada after a residence of six months or longer in the United States and declared their intention to remain permanently in the Dominion, totaled 1,715. The number of such returning Canadians since the beginning of the fiscal year is 25,022.

MAKING FRIENDS

It doesn't take long to count up a scow's friends. Friends and serious looks not only give a bad start to acquaintances in business and everyday life—they generally mean a bad finish, too.

Notice how the men of just usual ability who make a habit of being pleasant to everybody get along. They travel ahead while more accomplished men are marking time and complaining about it.

The business of life is made simpler by understanding the business of smiles. They're both on a give-and-take basis and good things come the way of the fellow who makes it pleasant for you to cross his path.

You never met a more cheerful lot of buying and selling offers than you'll find regularly among the A-B-C Ads.

INSULIN TREATMENT FOR CANCER SUCCESSFUL

Experiment Made On Mice By Prof. Silberstein, of Vienna

VIENNA, March 1.—(Associated Press Cable.)—Successful use of insulin in preventing the recurrence of cancer in mice is reported in a paper read by Prof. Frederick Silberstein, of the Vienna Institute of experimental pathology, before the medical association here. Prof. Silberstein also stated that the development of cancerous growths slowed down or ceased entirely on continued treatment with maximum doses of insulin for mice not operated upon. The physician appealed to his colleagues to administer to human patients the largest possible doses of insulin, when, owing to a too great spread of the swelling, an operation was impracticable.

Prof. Silberstein's report has caused a pronounced sensation here.

BURFORD VETERAN OF FENIAN RAIDS DEAD

Charles Cornelius Kent Was One Of Pioneers of Simcoe

SIMCOE, March 1.—Word has been received here of the death of Charles Cornelius Kent, of Burford, the last of his family and one of the pioneers of Simcoe. The deceased was 82 years of age and was born in Simcoe, living in this district all his life. He was the son of the Rev. George Kent, who came to Simcoe in 1820 and who owned and operated a farm on which the greater portion of the business district here now stands.

The market place here was a gift of this pioneer and one of the business streets is named in his honor. He served in the Fenian raids with the military band of the Fenwick Rifles, of Simcoe, and was an outstanding man of this vicinity.

TO RECEIVE FIRST MAIL OF WINTER

Government To Send Ship To Magdalen Islands

QUEBEC, March 1.—Entirely cut off from the outside world since the closing of navigation on the St. Lawrence River, the residents of the Magdalen Islands have waited and waited for the elusive "postman." But no mail has been forthcoming for the very good reason that postmen do not, as a rule, take it upon themselves to risk their lives in walking from the nearest mainland for a distance of 100 miles or so to deliver mail matter. For some months now these letters have been piling up at a post-office in N. S. and other points in that vicinity.

But now comes the news that instructions have been issued by the federal department of marines and fisheries to the commander of the G. S. Montcalm, which is now at Louisbourg, to make preparations for the voyage to the Magdalen Islands.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 28.—The coast guard patrol to-day seized the British schooner Pesquid, which was driven by a gale from her anchorage off the Rhode Island coast last night and was obliged to take shelter in the lee of the old harbor at Block Island. The Pesquid, according to the coast guard men, has 2,500 cases of liquor aboard. Her skipper, it is understood, will protest the seizure on the ground that it was illegal because his ship was disabled and was seeking shelter. He made no effort to dispose of any of the liquor while at Block Island.

Billy Atwood is sure of an Education

Frank Atwood had the right idea when he took out a $100 North American Life Child's Endowment Policy for his baby son, Billy.

"Some day," said Mr. Atwood, "I'm going to send Billy to University—going to give him a good education."

"Of course the best laid plans might go astray, but Billy's Child's Endowment Policy provides for every possible contingency."

"For instance, I might die to-morrow. In that case, there would be no more premiums to pay—but Billy would receive his $5,000 in 1940, just as I planned."

"If Billy died before the age of fifteen, I would receive back every cent I'd paid in—plus interest."

"If Billy died after his fifteenth birthday, I would receive the full amount of the policy."

Is your child's future provided for as securely as Billy Atwood's? It might pay you to investigate this unexcelled "Savings, Protection and Investment" policy.

The attached coupon will bring our booklet, "Child's Endowment." Write for it to-day.

Though You Eat Heartily You Still May Be Undernourished

MALNUTRITION—the failure of the body to secure sufficient nourishment from its daily foods—is the real source of most of our present-day ills. Not only the poor suffer from it. It takes its toll from those whose tables are loaded with food as well as from starving people.

Food in plenty, yet undernourished—what, then, is wrong? It is the inability of the body to extract from the food the nourishment it needs.

Carbohydrates are the nourishing food-elements your body must have. They are your greatest source of strength and vitality. Most foods contain carbohydrates to a greater or less degree. But very few contain them in a form in which your body can readily use them.

Grape-Nuts does. In Grape-Nuts carbohydrates are available for your body in a form which it can easily assimilate. The vast store of them contained in the whole wheat and malted barley from which Grape-Nuts is made, comes to you in the form of dextrine—the most acceptable of all to your body.

Try this delicious food for breakfast or lunch tomorrow. Serve Grape-Nuts just as it comes from the package, with milk or cream. It is delightfully appetizing and very inexpensive—four teaspoonfuls, which is sufficient for each serving, costs less than one cent. All grocers have it in the wax-wrapped package.
