LOVE IN DEATH.

A Mother sits by a lowly grave,
A hillock small and green,
With two gray stones at the head and feet,
And the daisied turf between.
Silent she sits in that palace of graves,
As if traced in a dream of prayer,
And her hand oft plays with the resting grass,
As with curls of an infant's hair.

Does she think of the time when she hushed its oft,
With cradle lullabies?
Or when it hung on her teeming breast,
With a smile in its lifted eyes?

Or when she touched with a reverend hand (When its sunny years were three) The lamb-like fleece of its flaxen locks As it played beside her knee?

Or the hour when a sad and simple pall Was born from the cottage door,
And its dancing step was never heard Again on the household floor?

Does she fondly image a cherub shape 'Mid a shining angel band With star crown'd locks and garments white, With a lily in its hand?

Silent her thought; but at twilight hour Ever she smuth there,
And her hand oft plays with the resting grass,
As with curls of an infant's hair.

STARTLING DEVELOPMENT OF CRIME.

A well known business man of wealth and standing in Cleveland, has been arrested for theft and committed to jail. The Cleveland Plaindealer has the following article on the subject of these developments of crime:—
"The gentleman is hereto N. Ward, of Ohio City, has done business in Cleveland, more or less, for fifteen years, and is most respectably connected, and to all outward appearance, a most worthy member of the church. But as the evidence runs, it has been his habit for many years, to visit this city in a one horse buggy, hitch his horse near some warehouse or store, steps in to a kind of business air and, knowing that having been formerly a forwarder, a dry goods merchant and otherwise respectably connected in business, would be unsuspected, took such occasion to help himself when unobserved, to such articles as he could steal away in his buggy and cover with a ludicrous role, which he always carried with him. In this plight he would drive home to his barn shed, which was some distance from his house and in a loft through a trap door which he always kept under lock, he would deposit his self. There was no access to this garret except through said door, and that was reached by standing in the buggy under it, or by the use of a ladder. He seemed entirely in the keeping of Ward himself, his family knowing nothing about it.
What led to this discovery was the missing of a trunk from the warehouse of H. Jay and Harmon, yesterday morning. It was full of goods, and to be forwarded that day to a gentleman in Logan country—Ward was seen about 10 o'clock in the morning, by a grocer over the way, to ride up, hitch his horse as usual, and take from the street side this trunk, put it in his buggy, cover it with his buffalo robe and drive off. A search warrant put into the hands of Constable McKinney, the premises of Ward searched, the loft found, and not only this identical trunk, but several others, found; in fact a large quantity of miscellaneous articles, in all probability stolen, was discovered. The canses covering the trunk and having on it the directions, was taken off the lock broke, and the contents apparently overhauled, but not removed. A trunk stolen a few days since from the warehouse of Hubby and Hughes, was also recovered, a case of fine boots, &c., &c.

For the first theft, Mr. Ward was arrested and without examination, gave bail, $1000 for his appearance before Esquire Cleveland on Monday. He was afterwards arrested on the charge of stealing the trunk from Hubby & Hughes, and failing to give the bail required, $1500, was put in jail, where he now remains. Since his arrest, several operations of this kind known but to few, have been brought to light, and for which he has either explained, apologized, or paid, to keep secret.

It is one of the strangest as well as most pungent cases of moral obliquity known in the annals of crime. Mr. Ward is known to be wealthy, and has abundant resources to increase his wealth independent of this. He is a active business man, owns lands and houses in Ohio City, a farm and mills near, has a store in Milwaukee, in which latter he was a partner, and for which he has acted as an eastern thiving agent.—His relatives, as far as we know, are considered respectable and his connections by marriage highly respectable. It is strange, that he without any necessity, or apparent excuse of any kind, should bring this calamity, worse than death, upon himself and friends.

P. S. Since writing the above, we have visited Justice Hessemsuessler's, where a large quantity of dry goods, such as broad cloths, silks, hosiery, &c., &c. are on exhibition, taken by constable Lawrence, from the residence of Mr. Ward. Several articles have been identified, belonging to merchants on Superior street.

COMMUNICATION.

[FOR THE STANDARD.]

Mr. Editor—As the bustle and hurry of the Election is now over, perhaps it might be interesting to give a brief sketch of Capt.
Robinson's services, a gentleman whom the constituency have very justly placed at the head of the Poll, by so respectable a majority.
With these few words of preface I will commence by stating that—

John James Robinson was born in January 1811, only son of Capt. Robinson, Hon. E. L.
Co's. Service, Bengal.
This officer entered the Navy 12th August 1824, as first col. on board the Romney 51, army on flue, Capt. Wm. James Mingay, and Nicholas Lockyer, and from Dec. 1826 until July 1830, was employed on the coast of North America, in the Tyne, 28, Capt.
White and Sir Richard Grant. Volunteering then to serve on the coast of Africa, he took passage thither in the Aniol 25, Capt. Alexander Gordon, and on his arrival joined as Mate, the Dryad 42, bearing the broad pennant of Commander John Hayes.

On the 10th Sep. 1831 being at the time detached in the Fair Rosamond tender, Lieut.
Commander, Sir Henry Vere Huntley, armed with 1 gun, and only 21 effective men on board, he was afforded an opportunity of assisting at the very gallant capture of the Regulo, and Rapido, slavers, carrying between them 13 guns and 140 men. For his conduct in that affair he was promoted by the Commander on a death vacancy occurring, to the rank of Lieutenant, and placed in charge of the Fair Rosamond; in about a year afterwards he returned to England in that vessel, and paid her off, but to his disappointment, was not confirmed. In December 1832, he joined the Griffin brig, Lieut. Commander James Edward Parilly, for the purpose of acting as Mate, to the coast of Africa. Before that vessel however had sailed, he was received on board the Vernon 50, flag ship of Sir George Cockburn, Commander-in-Chief on the North American station, where he was by him promoted 30th April 1834, into the Dispatch 16, Capt. George Daniell. His next appointments were 13th April 1835, to the Fort, 41, Capt. Walkin Owen Pell, and 24th March, 1836, to the command of the Skipjack Schooner, both in the West-Indies, whence he came home in the summer of 1839.
21. October 1841 to the Queen 119, fitting for the flag of the Commander-in-Chief in the Mediterranean, Sir Edward W. C. R. Owen, to whom he became flag-Lieutenant 10th March following; and in May, 1842, to the acting command of the Dravastion Steamer; in the latter vessel he continued until a few weeks after his official promotion to the rank of Commander, which took place 5th Sep.
1843. On the occasion during that period of an earthquake and hurricane, he had on board Sir Stafford Canning and suite, two Persian Princes and a Princess, together with others from the different Embassies at Constantinople, in all about 60 persons.— Towards the close of 1843 to the Orestes 18, he was sent by Sir Stafford to settle a dispute with the Pacha of the Island of Lemnos, accompanied by a nephew of the Consul at the Dardanelles, as interpreter. When matters as he conceived, had been placed on a proper footing, Commander Robinson took his departure, leaving the latter to arrange the details; as soon as the Turks imagined the Orestes had left the Island, they attacked the Interpreter, threatened to basinate him and forthwith turned him out of the Town; thus insulted, the Consul's nephew made the best of his way along a mountainous road of nine miles to the beach, where he contrived to communicate with the British sloop. Landing at once with 100 men, Commander Robinson marched back with him, and surrounding the Pacha's Palace before his highness was aware of his approach, compelled him to summon his Divan, held an open Court, and make a public and ample apology, as well for the indignities he had offered the interpreter, as for the offensive observations he had permitted to be made in regard to the Queen of England. For his conduct on this occasion he had the gratification of receiving the approval of his Admiral, of Sir S. Canning, and of the Foreign Office. His last appointments were in January 1844, to the Belvidera 38, in the Mediterranean, and in the following April, to the second Captaincy of the Caledonia 120, Capt. Alex.
Milen; he was in the latter Ship when she was fired on in four and twenty hours on the eve of a Voyage to Tangier, and received for her bravery the thanks of the Admiralty; he has been on half-pay since April 1845.

Such are some of the leading incidents in the life of Capt. Robinson. I may perhaps, at another time, point out some of the many benefits which have resulted to this County from his becoming a resident among us.— His successful endeavors to promote the construction of the Railroad are so well known, that I need only say that to him is to be attributed its present success.

Commander Robinson married at Campbello, New Brunswick, 9th July, 1839, Cornelia, second daughter of Rear Admiral Wm. Fitzwilliam Owen, and Niece of Admiral Sir Edward W. C. R. Owen.

By giving the above a place in your paper, it will oblige a,

LIFE AT TWENTY.

Dow, Jr., describes life at twenty in the following unique manner:

Friends! at twenty, we are wild as partirides. There's no such a thing as taming us; we ride that fierce, fiery, and head strong animal, Passion, over fences, ditches, hedges on to the devil, leap the five barred gates of reason without touching the curb of discretion, or pulling harder than a tit-mouse upon the strong reword of judgment. And at twenty you are perfect locomotives going at the rate of sixty miles an hour, you heat the boiler, love is the steam you sometimes blow off in sighs—and hope, fear anxiety and jealousy, are the train that you drag. At this season of life you are filled with exhilarating gas of jozance, every thing looks romantic by spells —even a jacks philosophising over a barrel of vinegar. You (both girls and boys) now read novels till your gizzards have softened into sentimental jelly, and all settled into the pit of your stomach. Oh! I know how you feel—you feel as though you'd like to soar from star to star!—kick little planets aside, take crazy comets by their blazing hair, and pull them into their right courses, sit upon the highest peak of a thunder cloud and dangle the red lightning between your thumb and finger as a watch chain and then dive into the golden sunset sea; and sport with the celestial systems, speed on, pull the nose of the man in the moon, ransack creation, knock a few panes out of Heaven, and then flutter down gently as a breeze, and find the darling object of your love mending stockings! That's how you feel.

A MATCH FOR THE QUEEN.—There is now residing at Hayle, and a native of the place, a man, named Joseph Harris, carpenter, who was married the same day as Her Majesty Queen Victoria. His wife was delivered of a daughter the day after the Princess Royal was born; of a son the day after the Prince of Wales was born; and as Her Majesty was subsequently delivered of a prince, or princess, his wife also presented him with a child of the same sex as the Royal infant, and the day after each was born; and so she has continued to do up to Thursday, the 2nd day, when she was delivered of a son; thus making seven children, and an equal number of sons and daughters as her Majesty has princes and princesses, Mrs. Harris only allowing her royal mistress to take the lead of her by one day.

Tremendous Storm at the West-Railroad Accident, and Loss of Life.—Damage to the Shipping.—Great Break in the Canal.— Albany, Saturday, July 6th.—A very severe storm occurred here, and at the West, last evening, which has proved very destructive.
In the canal there were three breaks; the first at Port Jackson, which is 250 feet in length; the second at the head of lock number 37, and the third on the seven-mile level.
The water at present is so high that it is impossible to ascertain the extent of the last two. The Utica railroad bridge, known as Schenck's bridge, near Sprakers, was carried away before the express train from here arrived. The night being dark, and the engineer not knowing of it, he proceeded, when the train ran into the creek. The locomotive and baggage cars are badly broken; the engineer and firemen are missing, and supposed to be lost. A number of the passengers were also injured. No train from the West has arrived yet. The barn of Mr. Stephen Sharp, at Greenbush, was struck by lightning and destroyed, with a large stock of hay.
The schooner Rockaway, with a cargo of lumber, was struck, and her mast shattered.
The hull is not injured. The sloop James K. Polk was also struck, and received slight damage. The storm raged so severely that the pavements in the streets were carried away, and the grounds were much damaged and torn up.

P. M.—Nothing definite is known as to the damage by the breakers in the canal, except one of two hundred and fifty feet, at Fort Jackson, will take ten days to repair.
A man was killed at each of the railway accidents on both the up and down trains; in the former, another man is said to be missing.

FROM HAVANA.—The British Steamer arrived at Mobile June 21, from Havana, June 27. The Contoy prisoners are still in close confinement, and the American Consul is not allowed to communicate with them. General has embittered the Spaniards against him; and they have openly threatened to assassinate him. The German town is at anchor in the harbour, ready to receive him in the event of his leaving the city. Havana is still in a state of siege. Cholera has almost disappeared.

THE ELECTIONS.—Since our last, we have received the returns from the four remaining counties, consequently the list of members is now complete, and we have an opportunity of judging of the extent of the change which has been made throughout the Province.
Northumberland.—The Hon. Mr. Rankin, and Messrs. Johnston, Street, and Williston have been elected for this County.
Albert.—Messrs. Stives and Styles are elected for Albert. The latter is a new member.

Restigouche.—The Hon. J. Montgomery and Mr. Barberie, the former members have been returned for this County.

Victoria.—The accounts from this new and verdant Country inform us that the Hon. Mr.
Parlow and Mr. Rice have been elected.

There are twenty two new members elected including the new County of Albert, which sends one old and one new representative.
Thus, more than one half of the old members have been consigned by the people to that obscurity from which it is to be regretted they ever emerged.—New-Hispan.

Storm at the West.—On Friday evening there was a severe storm at Albany, and west of there which has proved very destructive.
In the canal there were three breaks; the
length, and will take ten days to repair; the second at the head of lock number 37, and the third on the seven-mile level. The Utica railroad bridge, known as Schenck's bridge, near Sprakers, was carried away before the express train arrived. The night being dark and the engineer not knowing of it, he proceeded, when the train ran into the creek.— The locomotive and baggage cars are badly broken; the engineer and firemen missing, and supposed to be lost. A number of the passengers were also injured. No train from the west had arrived at Albany on Saturday evening. The storm raged so severely that the pavements in the streets were torn up, and at the cemetery the bridges and trees were carried away, and the grounds were much damaged.

A FIRE AT BROOKLYN.—A fire occurred on
