

THIS Sum of 180,000*l.* that may be thus saved to this Nation by the Exportation of 12,000 Hogheads of Sugar only, amounts to ten times the propos'd Bounty; and the same Proportion will hold good for any larger Quantity, as it is in the Case of the French, who export six times that Quantity to foreign Markets: Surely then so small a Proportion, to be thus advanced by the Publick towards obtaining such an Addition to the national Ballance, and also to regain a lost Trade from our natural Enemy, besides many other national Advantages, will be readily granted without Hesitation, unless the running of foreign Sugar into our Sugar Islands should be thought an Objection; but this may be easily avoided, by putting the foreign Produce of America upon * the same Footing with the foreign Proûce of Europe that shall not be first landed in Great Britain, as to Prohibition, Seizure and Forfeiture.
