

XIII. The members of the Macdonald-Robertson Seed Growers' Association are not required to pay any fees, or to undertake any obligation to contribute to the expenses necessary for managing the work connected with the organization.

XIV. It is desirable that the membership of the Association be not too large at first. It is to be borne in mind that at the present time most farmers do not appreciate the value of selected seeds; and as seed grain improved by a system of hand-selection cannot be produced at the same cost as grain grown and sold for food purposes, it will be prudent to push the growth of the Association only in keeping with the growth of demand for registered seed. However, a limited number of operating members from every county is desired.

Applications for membership should be addressed to the Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

JAS. W. ROBERTSON