

COST HEARST $1,400,000 WILL GET ABOUT 150 VOTES

His Methods of Strenuous Campaign and How They Have Worked Out.

St. Louis, Mo., July 8.—W. R. Hearst's high tide in the convention will not show more than 150 votes, and probable decreases between now and the voting will lower these figures.

The 150 votes will be the net result of a campaign expenditure of $1,400,000 in round numbers. Until the time the caravan of Hearst boomers reached St. Louis the campaign had cost the California $100,000 short of the foregoing sum, and in admitting the heavy outlay Mr. Hearst's friends said that he expected to spend $100,000 here, comparing expenses and net returns, it will be seen that each vote in the convention will have cost Mr. Hearst about $933.

The extraordinary cost is attributed to the fact that Mr. Hearst is a novice in politics and to the further fact that his advisers and managers are for the most part green hands on the political battlefield. While the congregation of personal friends, newspaper employees and mercenaries have seemed practical politics, considering money the root of office, they are said to have signally failed when met by political wisdom with age on it. One instance is pointed out as indicating the supernatural political knowledge of Mr. Hearst's most active lieutenant.

This clever and robust young man went to see a hard-faced Tammany leader to arrange things. He said he wanted to arrange a deal whereby, if Tammany would throw its strength to Hearst in the early balloting, when it became evident that Hearst could not win the Hearst forces would be thrown over the Tammany candidate.

Rudely Repulsed.
"Quit your kidding," said the Tiger headman. "Don't you know that the New York delegation is instructed for Parker, and that we're bound by the unit rule?"

Wake up, Willie.
The amount of money spent by Mr. Hearst at the finish will represent approximately the sum for which he mortgaged his New York newspapers. How much of this money was actually spent in endeavoring to further the candidate's interests will never be known. It is computed by the wise ones that many hundreds of thousands of dollars have yet been spent at all, the separate figures from Mr. Hearst.

The campaign was begun by sending United States "confidential" agents to see the ball rolling. These men studied local situations, securing in each section the most influential politicians, and then they set out to win their political convictions. In most instances these leaders were put on a payroll at a high figure, and were later amply supplied with the sinews of modern political warfare. In some cases the patriots took the job in the hope of reaping the benefit of a moneyed political party. Meetings were arranged and held, and there were in spots all over the country. All these uprisings of the people in favor of William R. Hearst were faithfully wired to the Hearst string of newspapers by a corps of correspondents, who traveled about watching the game.

Noise, Oratory and Activity.
At the convention city the Hearst candidacy has been recommended by the late electric stage effects, by noise, oratory and activity. The entire second floor of the handsome Hotel Jefferson is used for Hearst headquarters. The entire second floor of the Democratic National Committee and of many states are in this hotel, but the thousands of unaffiliated who daily would think it to be solely the possession of Mr. Hearst.

Entirely across the main entrance is spread in electric lights, "Hearst Headquarters." The letters are two feet high. From this, extending upward, are colored electric light streamers, which give an American flag, way in many-colored electric lights.

A band of stump speakers addresses throngs of the curious by day and by night in a hall formed by throwing a big net over the rooms together. Literature telling of Mr. Hearst's services to the people of his liberal intentions when he shall reach the White House, and lavishly bearing the picture of the candidate, is massed out by the thousands with buttons and other campaign knick-knacks.

Sending Endless Words.
In the building of a nearby newspaper a regiment of editors, reporters and telegraph operators send endless words to the Hearst newspapers telling of daily accusations to the ranks and prophesying that Hearst will sweep the convention, that his movement is now strong, but that under a current tide he will be turned into a restful tide that will sweep the convention. It has been noted that so far Mr. Hearst's strength in the convention has been successfully masked.

It is said that Mr. Hearst has in many instances been too trusting with his money and his confidences, and that he has often been given what is known as a "dink dip."

Mr. Hearst is gone. The business director of his newspaper interests is here for business purposes.

Dynamited the Dams.
The government was compelled to use dynamite to bring the Imperial Paper Mills Co. to a sense of reason on Lake Temagami. The lake has outlets into both Lakes Nipigon and Huron, and in 1902 the company was permitted to build dams at these points such a way as not to interfere with the natural flow of water. The public works department was to superintend the operations, but the company ignored all the provisions of the permit, and three cases of dynamite have been used in effective protest. The dams erected had caused flooding injurious to the adjacent interests.

Rattlesnake Kills Girl.
Orangeville, Ky., July 8.—In the morning of a little child, Mary, the youngest daughter of William Holladay, a farmer, was bitten last night by a rattlesnake. She was in a bed in a room on the second floor of a house, and died shortly afterward in agony.

The girl was sleeping in a bed near an open window. She was awakened by a snake crawling over her body, and as she moved it bit her on the neck. The rest of the family was aroused by her screams, but could do nothing to relieve her suffering.

His Kidney Disease and Gravel Cured
by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Tried Many Medicines, But Got No Relief Till He Used the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Roseland, Ont., July 8.—(Special.)—Mr. Samuel J. Crow, the well-known musician of this place, relates an experience that adds to the already great popularity of Dodd's Kidney Pills in this locality.

"I suffered for years with Kidney Trouble," says Mr. Crow, "which became aggravated with every attack of cold and caused much agony. The disease developed into gravel, when I was totally unfit for anything."

"I tried different remedies without the desired result, and was in much misery, when I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, when to my astonishment and delight, I immediately began to recover."

"After using five boxes, the ailment entirely ceased, and I was again enjoying perfect vigor, all of which I owe to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

The fact that Dodd yields so readily to Dodd's Kidney Pills is good news, indeed, as it does away with those terrible operations that were supposed to be the only relief from this trouble, and

RETURN TO THE OLD HOME

BRUCE OLD BOYS' OUTING

Every Town in the Old County Will Be the Brighter for Presence of Visitors.

Warkentin, July 8.—(Staff Special.)—An ideal day, perfect arrangements and the absence of any complaints combined to render the home-going excursion of the Bruce Old Boys and Girls the most successful in its history. Fourteen coaches were filled to the doors with a merry crowd of over a thousand people, all laden with baskets and packages for the old folks at home.

A very noticeable feature was the large number of women and children in the party, they outnumbering the men by about five to one. By far the greater portion was bound for the lake shore, showing that the opportunity of spending a few days on Huron's shores was highly appreciated.

The excursionists were decorated with badges and flags were distributed to the children, so that the special train bore a gala appearance as it swept thru the country. Splendid time was made, and the furthestmost of the home-comers landed at their destinations early this afternoon.

This was the main objective point, as it had been announced that the town would be en fête to meet the excursion. Most of the establishments were closed for the day and almost the entire population was at the station. The hospital board had carriages to convey the committee presenting the purse of $300 for furnishing the men's ward to the hospital, but owing to lack of time this could not be done.

A subscription was taken up on the train which realized over a hundred dollars for the hospital and this was presented to Judge Wiley, chairman of the board, by Mrs. Johnston on behalf of the ladies. Mayor McKay read an address of welcome. Col. Weir responded for the visitors, Judge Klein returned thanks and Alex. Shaw, K.C., spoke a few words.

The 2nd Battalion Band was present and played while the train was arriving and departing. Rousing cheers greeted the appearance of the visitors. There are no special celebrations being held, but every point in the county has received its quota of home-comers.
