"A JAR OF FRUIT, PLEASE!"

If, as we hear, recruiing among the men is not going on very briskly, let it be said in praise of the women that among them it never was better. Not a week passes but the sound the passes but the sound the passes but the sound the being organized, and how the older branches are need to be the war profession of the practices are received in an organization saying the standard. That is the true co-operative spirit—the spirit that wins the war. The young recruit in the army finds the constant drilling monotonous and wearisome, and is inclined to think it is largely unnecessary. And so it was with the women's army at first. But we have now so many veterans, such a staunch, seasoned old guard of knitters and sewers all over Western Ontario, women who know the value of the early days of rules and regulations, that soon overy centre of war work will be capable of teaching the folk at headquarters in England.

You remember the story and the trenches, and, like a refrain running through a song, sounds the old quarters in England. Problem for Parsonage Mother.

Dear Miss Grey,—1. Can you tell me how the boundary line between Canada and the United States west of Lake Superior is marked? Is there duty on articles taken from United States to Canada (unless they are smuggled), such as Port Huron to Sarnia?

Yours was a fine letter, "Parsonage Mother." I was very glad when I saw your letter. I wanted your opinion on this: Being a minister's wife, did you ever meet anyone who is deaf? There is a girl in this part who is deaf. Her friend is studying for a minister. Now, do you think she would do right by marrying him, as I don't think she would be able to help with church work on account of her being deaf? She is a nice girl, and is smart I would like "Parsonage Mother" to answer soon and give her opinion. INTERESTED.

Ans.—1. The 49th parallel is the defining mark, and as the boy in school wrote of the equator, "it's a menagerie lion running about the earth." There's parrot-learning for you!
