MATER DOLOROSA.

Because of one dear infant head With golden hair,
To me all little heads
A halo wear;
And for one saintly face
All babes are fair.

use of two wide, earnest eyes Of heavenly blue,
Which look, with yearning gaze,
My sad soul thru,
All eyes now fill mine own with tears
Whate'er their hue.

Because of little death-marked lips
Which once did call
My name in plaintive tones,
No voices fall
Upon my ear in vain appeal
From children small.

Two little hands held in my own,
Long, long ago,
Now cause me as I wander thro'
This world of woe,
To clasp each bady hand stretched out
In fear of foe.

The lowest cannot plead in vain-I loved him so. _ -C. C. Hahn.

Wear Satin This Winter.

"Indeed, it is to be a satin season," says Grace Margaret Gould. "Not the says Grace Margaret Gould. "Not the satin of our grandmothers, so stiff and heavy, but a light, soft, supple material, with a wonderful lustre of its own, which adapts itself marvelously to the new clinging type of gown.

"Paris is wild with enthusiasm over the satin gilet. A gilet, you know, is a little vest. One of the smartest of these imported small garments, and one which American women are sure to like, is made of black satin bands shaped to the figure and each finished in a point. This gilet is single-breasted and buttons in the front. Combined with the satin is a band of Persian emboidery forming the top. This is a peculiarity Frenchy touch and is sure to be much the vogue. The contrast of the beautiful Persian colors with the shining black satin is most effective, and one of those little things which the French make so important. Such a vest as this will prove most serviceable to the woman with a limited wardrobe. It will give a new look to a last year's suit, and an attractive look, too.

"A vest of this sort is generally worn."

"A vest of this sort is generally worn with a cutaway coat, but I suggest that it be made so that it can take the place of an overblouse and be worn with a guimpe of filet net."

a worker draws so low a salary for any length of time. If she is worth training, she is quickly worth more money. From $312 a year the salary usually jumps to $500, and increases with the usefulness and executive ability of the worker, $7000 being the maximum salary."

Anglican Y.W.C.

A rally of the club known as the Anglican Young Women's Club, in connection with the Georgina House, will be held this evening in St. George's Schoolhouse for the purpose of registering for the various classes for the coming season. Five-minute addresses will be given by prominent clergymen, together with readings, drills and vocal selections, and a very pleasant evening is anticipated. A cordial invitation is extended to all young women interested in the club.

Fred who was a week ago smitten with a attack of pneumonia from which there is little hope of his recovery. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely empire gown of ivory duchess satin with garnitures and white satin streamers. The maid of honor, Miss Olive Cooper of Clinton, was attired in a dainty princess gown of pale pink eolienne over taffeta and the bridesmaid, Miss Mabel Ross of Wingham, wore a very pretty princess gown of white soft silk. The groom was attended by Mr. Duncan B. Gilles of Toronto. On account of the serious illness of the bride's intended and only the immediate friends were present.
