CONDUCTED BY MRS. EDMUND PHILLIPS

At the art galleries of the W.A.A. on Wednesday afternoon a great many people dropped in on their way to other teas, to admire the beautiful new homecoming on exhibition and drink a cup of tea with Mrs. Dignum and the ladies of the executive of the association and look at the pictures. Mrs. Dignum's Muskoka pictures being the centre of admiration.

Mrs. Douglas MacDougall, Cottingham street, gave a girls' tea on Wednesday for her sister-in-law, Miss Joyce MacDougall. The hostess wore a gown of black moire, with real lace, and the guest of honor, Dignum, wore a dress with marabout trimming. Miss MacDougall and Miss MacKellar presided over the polished tea table, which was covered with lace and set glass vases of Richmond roses.

Mrs. Boardman is visiting Mrs. David McKean in Midland for a few days. Her absence from Toronto is due to her staying with Miss McKean in Elm avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Boardman are moving to Crescent, the beginning of April.

Young Lord Cawdor will be very rich when he attains manhood. For in addition to his extensive lands in Scotland, he has great possessions in Wales, which produce a rental of over $250,000 a year, and comprise some of the best agricultural land in the counties of Carmarthen and Pembroke. A feature of Cawdor Castle is the historic haythorn. It seems that the original Thane of Cawdor was directed in a dream to load an ash with gold, turn it loose, and to build his castle where it stopped to rest. The haythorn halted beneath a haythorn tree, around which the castle tower was accordingly erected. The venerable trunk is still to be seen in the dungeon of the tower, its roots spreading out beneath the floor, and its trunk penetrating thru the stone vaulting above. Against the wall of this same dungeon is the ancient iron-bound oak chest which contained the gold loaded on the donkey's back, and which was used to build the castle. Each year the Earl of Cawdor on his day assembles his guests around the old tree in the tower dungeon, to drink to the health of the haythorn. In other words to the Thane of Cawdor.

The Hope Morgan-Grace-Smith Cause Musicale took place at the house of Mrs. D. L. McCarthy, Elm avenue, when about 175 were present, among whom were: The Misses Gibson, Mrs. H. D. A question of tact. A young man who had just been engaged as commercial traveller by a Manchester firm was warned that the great fault of his predecessor had been want of tact. The young man started out and to the surprise of his employers, he began to come in at a quite unprecedented rate.

The climax came when a big order was sent in from a firm with whom the whole lot of his predecessor's business, ending in a total stoppage of business.

The traveller's employer sent for him on his return and asked him how he managed that particular miracle.

"I used tact, sir," was the reply, "as you warned me to. When I got to Mr. B's shop he came up and said, 'What firm I represented. Remembering the circumstances, I handed him my card and said, 'Why, these blooming idiots!'"
