IN HONOR OF A ST. JOHN HERO

Rochester, Eng. Tablet Commemorating Brave Death of Capt. W. H. Robinson

"Sacred to the memory of W. H. Robinson, Captain, R. E. Born at St. John, N. B., 1877. 63. Rendered valuable assistance 1897-99 as commanding R. E. W. Co. Africa. Killed in action 14, 3, 92, whilst, with conspicuous bravery blowing in the stockaded gate of the village of Tambo, Sierra Leone, West Coast Africa."

This inscription on a tablet in the cathedral in Rochester, England, bears tribute to the heroism of a former St. John man. A copy of it was forwarded to the Times by Captain John McManis, formerly sailing to this port and now in transport of war supplies. He came across the tablet and thought it would be of interest to St. John people at this time when so many of our men are winning honor on the field of battle.

Captain Robinson was a son of the late Major W. B. Robinson of this city, and spent his early days in St. John. Later he studied at the Kingston military college and then entered the imperial service. How well he served is indicated by the inscription on the memorial tablet.

"SIDEWALK HEROES" THE STAY-AT-HOMES

St. John Soldier, Writing From the Front, Tells What They Think of Those Who Will Not Fight

Writing from the battlefields of France a St. John boy gives an impression of how the men who are facing the music regard their comrades at home who could volunteer and who do not. The heroism of his comrades, their sufferings and the feeling that they are not getting the support they should from home gives a bitter tone to his remarks. He says: "St. John is full of slinkers and slackers; fellows with a yellow streak as large as Courtenay's. They breakwaters; they ought to be downright ashamed of themselves, the miserable bunch of cowards. Never mind every dog has his day; the time will come, and it is not far hence, when the whole British Empire will be mobbed; that will be the time to see the slinkers coming with their tails between their legs.

"Britain is the only nation in the war which has not mobilized its resources and some of these low scoundrels are taking advantage of the situation. They are what we call the sidewalk heroes; if you meet one of these in St. John you will know our opinion of them. I have not as much respect for a stay-at-home as I have for a German fighting in the trenches. The German is doing his bit; while the slacker is not; always take that into consideration.

"If you could see the men around me here, men with gray hair and beside them boys of seventeen and eighteen, look at France, for instance, every man is doing his bit, from the old fellow with whiskers down to the boys of sixteen. As soon as Britain adopts that method it will be the beginning of the end of the war, and not before."

FUND FOR RELIEF OF SERBIANS GROWING

Further Sums Received by Knights of Columbus — There is Great Need of Assistance

Further subscriptions to the Knights of Columbus' fund for Serbian relief are acknowledged—$25 from Joseph Allison and $10 from Richard O'Brien.

There can be no question of the right of appeal for these suffering people. Even the Belgians, despatches say, have not been placed in the straits of the gallant inhabitants of Serbia. Added to the horrors of war in their land, are the fearful ravages of disease, conditions equaling if not surpassing those of the time of great plagues of which history tells. Thousands have died for want of medical care, thousands cry out from afar to their more fortunate brothers in this war against the oppressor. Doctors are scarce, medical supplies in huge quantity are needed; it is a condition to touch the heart of all.

St. John people can help. The specific opportunity now is afforded. The Knights of Columbus are anxious to gather money and supplies and will be grateful to all who contribute.

MOOSE IN FAIRVILLE

Two Seen This Morning—Church Services Yesterday

This morning about half past six o'clock two moose came through J. H. Gregory's field evidently from the direction of Fairville Plateau. They ran along the main road and were last seen in the vicinity of Simms' factory, making toward the city.

While heavy clouds looked threatening enough several times yesterday over Fairville no rain actually fell until nearly seven o'clock in the evening. A heavy mist indicating rainfall in quantities could be noticed toward up river districts and during the afternoon lightning was also seen in the direction of East St. John. When it started to rain in Fairville, however, it made up for lost time and literally drenched everything in a half hour deluge followed by an equal period of lighter showers.

Carleton Union Lodge F. and A. M., with members of several other lodges, paraded yesterday morning to the Church of the Good Shepherd, Fairville, where an appropriate sermon was preached by Rev. Walter P. Dunham from the text: "Behold I build a house unto the name of the Lord my God, and dedicate it to Him." The service was in honor of St. John's Day, and was postponed from last Thursday. The Carleton Cornet Band rendered music effectively.

In St. Columba Presbyterian church, Rev. Walter Raynes, formerly of Fairville, and now visiting there, preached an eloquent sermon which was attentively followed by a large congregation, many of whom remained at the close of the service to congratulate the speaker and renew acquaintanceship.

ATTENDING A WOUNDED MAN; HIMSELF HIT

Frank G. B. Gorrie of St. John Gets News of Brother

HIGHLAND FIELD AMBULANCE

Shell Burst Near as He Was Carrying For Soldier — Family With Fine Military Record — Wives of Two Are Nurses

Frank G. B. Gorrie, superintendent of the Prudential Insurance Company for New Brunswick, received this morning a copy of the Dundee, Scotland, Courier, of June 16, telling of the wounding of his brother, Capt. H. G. Gorrie, of Highland Field Ambulance, Dundee Section of the Royal Army Medical Corps. Capt. Gorrie was wounded by a shell on May 30. He is a doctor and dentist. The Courier says:—

"Captain Gorrie is a son of Peter Gorrie, dental surgeon, Nethergate, and has been connected with the 3rd Highland Field Ambulance, R. A. M. C., for two or three years. He went to the front with the ambulance six weeks ago. On the day he was wounded a shell burst over the dressing station where he was working. Several men were injured, and while he was attending one of these Captain Gorrie was wounded by another bursting shell, pieces of which injured his arm and one of his fingers. The wounds were not serious, and Doctor Gorrie pluckily remained at his post. Captain Gorrie is about forty years of age, and was in practice in Dundee with his father before the war clouds burst over Europe. Two younger brothers are also with the colors. Both are in Canada. Sergeant Charles Hunter Gorrie is a bitter tone to his remarks. He says: "St. John is full of slinkers and slackers; fellows with a yellow streak as large as Courtenay's. They breakwaters; they ought to be downright ashamed of themselves, the miserable bunch of cowards. Never mind every dog has his day; the time will come, and it is not far hence, when the whole British Empire will be mobbed; that will be the time to see the slinkers coming with their tails between their legs.

"Britain is the only nation in the war which has not mobilized its resources and some of these low scoundrels are taking advantage of the situation. They are what we call the sidewalk heroes; if you meet one of these in St. John you will know our opinion of them. I have not as much respect for a stay-at-home as I have for a German fighting in the trenches. The German is doing his bit; while the slacker is not; always take that into consideration.

"If you could see the men around me here, men with gray hair and beside them boys of seventeen and eighteen, look at France, for instance, every man is doing his bit, from the old fellow with whiskers down to the boys of sixteen. As soon as Britain adopts that method it will be the beginning of the end of the war, and not before."

In a letter received by Mr. Gorrie from Capt. Gorrie on May 21, written from France before he was wounded he said:—

"You have no idea of the unsanitary condition of this part of France. It is really awful. I am not surprised at the amount of sickness. I have not tasted water since I came here, but beer, wine and coffee is the usual drink. I have been in bed for two nights, the rest of the sleep has been on the hard boards of the ambulance. However we get plenty of good food and the weather has been on the whole very fine, except about three days rain. We have been employed taking over the sick of the division and sending them to the 'leaving hospitals' farther down. We have beautiful fire works displays every night, seeing the shells bursting. There is always a large number of star shells. These are used to show up the ground so that the forces can see if there is any sign of an infantry attack. Really it is nothing but pumping shells at each other all the time. We are awaiting orders to move almost at once. We are almost always on the move.

"I did not have time to finish this letter yesterday as I was ordered off to take some wagons to our dressing station where two officers were located. The shells are flying all over the place, and nearly every house has a few holes in it, nearly riddled with bullets and shell. There was one shell dropped on a house and one officer and nine men knocked out."

THE INDRANI IS TORPEDOED

Donaldson Liner Well Known Here — Crew Saved — Hit on West Bound Voyage

The Donaldson Liner Indrani, bound from Glasgow to Quebec, has been torpedoed by a German submarine. The crew was saved. This message was received in St. John this morning without further particulars of the disaster. The steamer is well known in St. John. An unusual feature in connection with the sinking is that she was lost while on her west bound trip, most of the losses having been on the east bound voyage when nearing the British coast.

The Indrani was a freight steamer of 2,339 tons net register and was one of the oldest boats of the line, having been built in 1867. For many years she ran regularly to St. John until superseded by newer and larger craft. Her last trip to St. John was made about a year ago and at that time she was in charge of Captain Falter who has made several trips to this port. So far as is known he was in command at the time she was sunk.

The Donaldson Line has made a most creditable record in their efforts to maintain a regular service in spite of the fact that so many of their steamers were taken over by the War Office. So far they have been fortunate in escaping disaster.

The Indrani on her last eastern voyage across the Atlantic sailed from New York on May 28 by way of Boston and for Glasgow, where she arrived on June 19. The Indrani was 361 feet long, 44 feet beam and 27 feet depth. She was built at Liverpool and owned by Donaldson Bros. of Glasgow.
