

PROBING FATAL
AUTO ACCIDENT

Evidence Given in Connection With Death of Charles Hayter

Driver of Auto Tells of Occurrence—Matter of Dimmed Lights Gone Into

Coroner Dr. William Warwick opened court at Grand Bay on Saturday night to hold an inquest into the death of Charles A. Hayter, an aged resident, who succumbed on Thursday to injuries received in an automobile accident near his home between Pandanus and Inglis Friday evening, Oct. 2. The witnesses examined were: Dr. L. M. Curran, George Keeble, Miss Jeanette Keeble, Miss Lillian Hayter, Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. S. C. Clifton, Harry E. Palmer, Provincial Constable Robert Crawford and Arnold McLeese.

TECHNICAL EVIDENCE
Much of the testimony was technical concerning light projection and the effect of dimming and glazing of auto lamps. Arnold McLeese was called in this regard. He said among other things that it was sometimes considered safer to have both cars glaring at one another with full lighting than for one to dim and the other not.

Robert Crawford was present in the interests of the motor vehicle law. Hon. L. P. D. Tilley represented the Hayter family. George Keeble, the young man whose car struck the aged pedestrian, was unrepresented.

DRIVERS STORY
In giving his evidence Mr. Keeble said he was proceeding along the road way at a speed not considered fast by any means. His lights were burning. A car approached him from the opposite direction with lights on also. He said he at once dimmed his glare and answered to the side of the road. The other car did not dim. When he cleared his auto back into the centre of the road again he felt a bump and engaged the young lady in the car what it was.

He stopped the car within a few feet and rushed back, discovering Mr. Hayter lying in the road.

OTHER WITNESSES
Other witnesses told of responding to Mr. Keeble's call for help and assisting in carrying Mr. Hayter to his home about 100 yards back.

CONTROVERSY
There was a controversy in the testimony adduced as to the distance Mr. Keeble's car went after striking Mr. Hayter and as to the direction of the car to the roadside. Traffic Officer Crawford gave measurements taken upon the testimony of some who arrived on the scene after the accident.

Dr. Curran's statements had to do with the cause of Mr. Hayter's death, which he said was due to concussion.

WAS IT DAYLIGHT?
Another point brought out in evidence was as to whether it was daylight when the accident was being investigated. Dr. Curran's testimony was that it was daylight.

Another session of the inquest will be held tonight.

He's 82 Years Old Today

TODAY Hon. R. J. Ritchie, for many years Police Magistrate of Saint John, is observing his 82nd birthday, and is receiving the congratulations of many friends. In excellent health and vigorous of mind, Hon. Mr. Ritchie is enjoying the freedom from official cares that came with his superannuation after nearly 35 years presiding at the Police Court and the City Court. His delight is to recall days that were and his mind is a storehouse of interesting reminiscences of Saint John of other times in its community, social and political life.

Hon. Mr. Ritchie was born on October 12, 1843, in this city, where he also received his education. He was a law student in the office of the late John G. Campbell, and was admitted as attorney in 1865 and barrister in 1867. Entering politics on the Liberal side, he was elected for the City and County of Saint John, along with others, six successive times, never being defeated. His first election was in 1878 and he was in public life as Solicitor General for New Brunswick under Hon. Andrew G. Blair, when he resigned to accept the position of Police Magistrate and Judge of the City Court at the time Portland town came into the union.

Joint of Sixteen-inch Main on Union Street Causes Flood on Sunday

Commissioner Wigmore and the men of the water and sewerage department had a strenuous week-end, due to the high wind and the failure of a joint in the 16 inch main in Union street.

The mass piled against the gates and the pressure of water leaked two of the gates and drove them from their position. The water was shut off and after a hard struggle the men succeeded in getting the gates out and the water was turned on again.

The commissioner said that next Saturday night and Sunday he planned on clearing out the gate house and this would necessitate the shutting off of the Loch Lomond supply early Sunday morning for a time.

Sunday Trouble.
Yesterday morning about 7.45 it was seen that the pressure gauge was down to 10 pounds. A big leak was found in Union street, near the head of St. David street. A joint of the 16 inch main had split from end to end and it practically dug a trench for the main to work in when they started repair work.

The water shut up into the air until it was turned off. The greater part of the water ran down St. David street, but at least one cellar in the lower level was flooded, that of Fred Noble, St. Patrick street.

The damaged joint was replaced by a new one and the water turned on again last evening. When the water was being turned on one of the gates at the corner of David street ruptured by the triple occurrence, and dug a trench down to repair it.

The magistrate agreed to allow the matter to drop.

IS FINED $10.
A fine of $10 was imposed on James P. Russell in the police court this morning for driving past a standing street car while passengers were alighting at the corner of Prince Edward and Hanover streets on Oct. 10. Policeman Bettie testified. The driver said that the car was covered with rain and he did not realize the street car had stopped until it was too late for him to stop.

BURGLARS ENTER
WESTFIELD HOUSE

Summer Residence of Allan Rankine is Broken Into and Ransacked.

The summer residence of Allan Rankine at Westfield was broken into some time last week but this was not discovered until yesterday when Mr. Rankine went to the house. The contents of the house were badly upset and some articles stolen. The matter is being investigated.

The entry was secured, Mr. Rankine said, by climbing on the rear veranda and thence to the roof, where a small window was forced. Desks, bureau drawers and trunks were pried open and their contents strewn around. Cigarette butts were thrown around the rooms.

An old revolver, several pipes and some small trinkets were taken. Clothing of considerable value was also taken. A valuable rifle was moved from its stand but was left lying on a chair.

In leaving the thieves unlatched the dining room window and went out that way.

night and yesterday morning, winter heralded an early approach. Snow started falling here yesterday at 3 o'clock. Old residents of town state that a storm similar to this visited Bathurst on October 11, 1906. During the storm, which ceased about 9 o'clock this morning, the wind blew with great force. Trees were uprooted and branches broken off many others in different sections. The telephone service was interrupted during the evening, caused by trees and branches breaking down the lines. About 8 o'clock the whole town was in total darkness and the electric service has not yet been restored.

Between Beaver Brook and Gloucester Junction, a stretch of about 20 miles, the New Brunswick Telephone Company had 12 poles down altogether, 88 were broken, and they found 45 trees lodged across the wires at various points.

Shop Where You Do Best

No matter what it is in Furniture, little or big, be selfish in shopping. Furniture sold nowadays is so attractive and pride of ownership so tempting, you are apt to choose out of the first lot you see.

This is only human nature. The safe plan, therefore, is to go first to where you'll get a fair run for your money—where if you do buy straight off, you can say to yourself, "Oh, well, I see so much here, I don't need to bother going anywhere else."

As you see far more variety at J. Marcus Ltd., where things are in such happy taste, the prices so much lower, and their guarantees so well established—perhaps it is better to be tempted here first of all.
