Assail English Divorce Law Which Binds Woman for Life to a Madman

London, Dec. 18.—Agitation for divorce reform in England has now become clamorous as a result of the unfortunate situation of Mrs. Norman Cecil Rutherford, tied by British law to a husband who is a convicted murderer and insane.

Evidence brought forward by Mrs. Rutherford left no doubt of her sanity, but a great deal of sympathy was felt for Mrs. Rutherford who thus found herself tied for life to a criminal lunatic.

Lord Birkenhead, sitting as Lord of Appeal, said of the case:

"It is an unfortunate circumstance that Mrs. Rutherford should thus be bound for the rest of her life to a dangerous, violent and homicidal lunatic, but such is the law of England."

Attacks on the archaic English law which makes a harsh situation possible are being made by writers, clergymen and laymen. John Galsworthy, among others, is writing in the press against such a law.

Some amazing school answers
Evidence That Some Students Badly Need Teaching.

It's a first page story in the Southern of recent date, the paper published bi-weekly by the students of South High School, Minneapolis, and it has more to do with a general information test in the form of two questions submitted to the seniors and sophomores. The queries were concerning current events and about persons and things that enter conspicuously into the news of the day.

From one of another who tackled the question it is learned that:

Smyrna is a candy with nuts in it, or "a cigarette candy."

Dr. Sun is President Harding's personal physician.

Gemeals is the place where the peace treaty was signed, "a savage tribe" or "a family of green snakes in Esthonia."

A Kemalist is a person who studies criminals.

A verba is something "pertaining to the spine," an action word in grammar, Greek soldiers in Northern Europe, or "a follower of Berber."

Are these high school students different from those from others over the land to whom similar questions have been put? Not at all, if we have accurate reports about the tests elsewhere.

It is probable, though not certain, that students of the same classes a generation ago would have acquitted themselves more creditably in a similar challenge of their general information on current affairs. They were exposed outside the classroom to fewer distracting influences like the motion picture play and the automobile, and they were subject as a rule to stricter discipline in the home.

Heads, if we mistake not, boys and girls get into high schools at an earlier average age now than the boys and girls of 20 or 30 years ago.

Grain Vessel in Trouble.
Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 18.—The grain laden steamer Thunder Bay, of the Canadian Steamships, Limited, which ran ashore at Morpeth's Point, near Port Colborne, Ont., on last Thursday, was reported today to be pounding heavily on the beach and in danger of breaking up.

Life and hash are what you make them.

WANTED N. B. MAN AS NEXT DETROIT MAYOR

(Special to The Times)

Fredericton, N. B., Dec. 18.—Dr. J. W. Inches, formerly of Fredericton, but for many years a resident of Detroit and in recent years police commissioner of that city, has been mentioned as a possibility for the mayoralty there in succession to Senator James Cousens, the present Mayor. Dr. Inches expressed the opinion to a gathering of friends that he was too old to be a candidate and that he desired to get away for some recreation. He recently was mentioned as one of a party which contemplated a trip to Arctic regions to hunt big game in that country.

Raymond Ernest Anderson of Lawrence Station, Charlotte County, and Miss Annie Julia Brewer of Britain were married on Monday evening at the Brunswick street Baptist parsonage by Rev. Mr. Warren.

Nel McCallion of Newmarket appeared before Police Magistrate Limerick this morning on a charge of assault with intent to do bodily harm.

He was let go on his own recognizance for trial on the 28th. McCallion said that he was thrown a double-bitted axe, at him and that he had a narrow escape. McCallion denies, and says that he was the assaulted one, the axe being thrown at him by Crowley. The incident arose in a row over a piece of land.

GREAT MARSH MATTER TAKEN UP TODAY

Members of the Great Marsh Commission met this morning and decided to have B. M. Hill, provincial road engineer, G. G. Hare, city engineer, and Mr. Torrens, C. N. R. engineers, Moncton, get together and take up the matter of the aboudeau in all its aspects and after a thorough discussion of all the phases, make such proposals and suggestions as would tend to bring about a remedy of existing evils.

When this has been done the commissioners will meet again to decide on a course of action.

Mr. Torrens, who was at the meeting this morning, was told of the promises of the C. N. R. with respect to the Great Marsh and the aboudeau. He said that all superfluous piling under the Jardine bridge, so called, would be removed at once and that the C. N. R. State, and it co-operates with State and local health departments in the suppression of epidemic and the correction of conditions affecting health which might become a menace to the nation.

The many activities of the Public Health Service during the year are described in the report, including, among others, the study of diseases of man for the purpose of finding effective means for the control of preventable diseases; studies in industrial hygiene and in the pollution of streams and the dissemination of human excreta. Rural sanitation is said to be one of the most productive and economical of the co-operative functions of the Public Health Service from the standpoint of measurable results.

One of the scientific accomplishments of the year is the development of a new gas for the fumigation of vessels for the destruction of disease-bearing insects and vermin without injury to vessel or cargo.

The necessity for, and the value of, the Public Health Service in the case of certain late manifestations of epidemics.

Threatened outbreaks of plague in several localities have been controlled, and the importation of yellow fever from Central and South America has been prevented.

A feature which has attracted popular attention is the giving of advice by wireless to ships at sea by medical officers of the Public Health Service as to the care of seamen or passengers who may be injured or ill. This service has been helpful to ships which do not carry physicians.

Public Health information has been sent out to the public from a number of broadcasting stations. This service has been developed with very little expense to the government.

USE HYDRO TO RUN LATH MILL

(Fredericton Gleaner.)

Indicative of the boom conditions in the lath business is the decision of the Fraser Companies, Limited, to increase their daily output from 1,000,000 to 1,300,000 daily.

The Fraser Companies are operating many of their mills this winter for the manufacture of laths and now machines are being added to their equipment at a number of their plants, including the Victoria Mills in Fredericton.

Not taking advantage of the hydroelectric power available from the power line from Nepisiquit Falls, near Bathurst, the Fraser Companies are now opening a new winter mill on the Miramichi not far from their Nelson plant for the manufacture of laths.

Never in history has the Fraser Companies employed as many men in connection with Victoria Mills in this city as at present. Lath, shingle and planing machines are being operated, and in addition large operations in cutting lathwood are being carried on within a short distance of the mill, bringing the total number of employees up to about two hundred, or more than during the summer season.

Estimates of the Fraser Companies' tonnage of long lumber for their various mills this winter range upwards of 150 million feet, and in addition large quantities of pulpwood for their mills at Bathurst and on the Miramichi are being taken out.
