COLLINS TAKEN TO ALBERT COUNTY THIS FORENOON.

Father McAulay Identified the Prisoner and Most of the Stolen Property—Prisoner Should Not Have Been Kept in Police Cell.

Collins, the young man accused of the murder of Miss McAulay at Aberdeen, was this morning taken to Albert County for trial, and his departure from the police headquarters was somewhat interesting. It was shortly after 10 o'clock when Sheriff Lynds of Albert Co. and Father McAulay, of New Ireland, arrived at the Central Police Station, and it was 11:30 o'clock before they left with the prisoner.

Shortly after the sheriff and the priest arrived, the former with the chief of police, visited the court room where the warrant held by Sheriff Lynds was signed by Magistrate Ritchie, who in doing so remarked to the Albert county sheriff that he better bring the prisoner into court before leaving.

Father McAulay and Chief Clark went to the cells about a quarter of ten o'clock and the chief returned shortly after. In the guard room he was informed by the chief of police that the prisoner was not in the cells. At 11:30 o'clock the chief was notified that the prisoner was in the cells. In fact the chief was not overtly communicative regarding the case. At all events Sheriff Lynds was left in company with Father McAulay while the latter wrote the clergyman a lengthy conversation with the prisoner. The conversation was asked about the affair but was not of much interest. He said he stood to one end of the corridor and awaited such times as the reverend gentleman finished his conversation.

The Star learns that Mr. McAulay stood a few feet from the prisoner's cell door and for about half an hour held a conversation with the prisoner. The prisoner explained to the priest why the horse had been harnessed, and said that the first he knew of Mr. McAulay's death was when Detective Kilian told him making the arrest near Bonny.

A Star reporter saw Father McAulay speak to the prisoner and the latter said he had nothing to say on the case, that it was in the hands of the authorities. "Well could you say if the articles asked of you by the prisoner are yours?" asked the reporter. Father McAulay hesitated a moment and brought his hand to his forehead. He said he had very little when he came to me.

Father McAulay also said that a lady's gold watch had been stolen from his house. As Father McAulay, either from his own wishes or on advice of the officer, did not wish to discuss the case with the press the reporter withdrew.

Sheriff Lynds appeared up the stairs holding Collins with a handcuff and was accompanied by Chief Clark. The two went to the depot. Handcuffed, the magistrate looked at the prisoner and said, "This is the first I've seen of you, and according to law you should have been in the jail, not where you were. That's all."

The sheriff, chief of police and the prisoner then adjourned to the chief's office to await the arrival of a cab to convey them to the depot. Magistrate Ritchie was asked by the Star regarding his remarks to the priest and said according to law every man is innocent until he is proven guilty. In this case Collins was arrested and brought here on Sunday afternoon and has remained in the police station cell with nothing but a hard board seat to sleep on while he might have been lodged in jail and given a bed. "It's a case like a person might hear of in Russia," said the magistrate, "the man Collins has the right to be treated like other prisoners and if you could identify him while he is in the cell that is arranged for convicts of this class."

There was a gathering of about 30 or 40 people in the central station entrance when Collins was taken to the cab awaiting him. Handcuffed, he walked from the chief's office to the cab with Sheriff Lynds on one side and Chief Clark on the other, and Father McAulay in the rear. The prisoner looked straight ahead, with flushed face, and appeared to realize the position he was in. The prisoner and sheriff took the rear seat of the cab and Father McAulay and the chief took the front seat. The prisoner looked about at the people without the appearance of being much embarrassed. The clothing and other articles found in the possession of Collins have all been identified by Father McAulay as his property of the priest with the exception of one pair of drawers. Just before the party left the station Father McAulay was asked if he identified Collins and with a sad smile said: "Yes, I could identify him with my eyes shut." Sheriff Lynds and his prisoner left for Albert county on the Atlantic express and as they walked through the train shed were followed by a curious crowd.

ALL IS NOW READY FOR THE EXHIBITION

Many Speakers to be Present at the Opening.

Barlow's Elephants Arrived Today—The Electrical Decorations are Very Effective.

Last evening A. O. Skinner, C. J. Milligan and Mr. Brown, the electrician for the Street Railway Company, visited the exhibition grounds. Mr. Brown visited the exhibition grounds, Mr. Skinner the main building and the electrician the entrance of the main building and the effect was very fine. The side lights are of red, white and amber colors, while the lights on the arches overhead are white. This gives the whole avenue a most pleasing effect. The lights of the "Pike" were also turned on and these were most satisfactory. The front of the amusement hall is lit up with many lights. These lights are not so much for the purpose of decorating the grounds, but rather for lighting them. The exhibition will be formally opened on Saturday evening. At eight o'clock the president, A. O. Skinner, will deliver an address. Mayor Sears will speak on behalf of the city. Premier Tweedie, Attorney General Pugsley, Commissioner Parris and J. D. Hasen will reply for the province and Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Dr. Dainton and Dr. Stockton for the Dominion. Before the different speeches Harry McCluskey will sing. At the conclusion of the speeches Governor Snowball will formally declare the exhibition opened. The directors of the exhibition will act as a reception committee, while the president and two vice-presidents will be a committee to meet the governor on his arrival in the city.

Today chronicles the arrival of Barlow's elephants in St. John. They will be housed, during their stay here, in a new hall which has been built for them near agricultural hall. The buildings are now nearly ready for the opening and it is expected that by Saturday evening everything will be finished. The exhibition hall will this year have some unusually good exhibits. The motor boat show will be of much interest, while the break making exhibit of T. S. Simms and Company will be the best that has been seen here in many years.

He attended all the meetings at city hall for many years and was closely in touch with matters of civic interest. He was an excellent reporter, a ready writer, and had unusual ability in the gathering of news. He made friends on all sides and was one of the most popular newspaper men in the province. MEMORIAL WINDOW IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Will be Unveiled Tomorrow Afternoon. Erected to the Memory of Rev. John deSoyres—Another Memorial Will Also Be Unveiled.

Tomorrow afternoon in St. John's (Stone) Church, the large memorial window commemorating the life and work of the late Rev. John de Soyres will be unveiled. A number of the lady members of St. John's church got together and by their efforts raised funds for the purchase of the window. The ladies in a very short time acquired the sum needed, and the window was ordered of Munich, Germany. It was shipped here in May, and arrived some time ago. It has just been placed in position, and tomorrow afternoon a special service will be held, when the window will be unveiled.

The de Soyres memorial window has been installed opposite the Smith memorial, and the two windows correspond. The one which will be unveiled tomorrow, occupies the entire window space extending back to the gallery. When the committee had raised funds enough to purchase the de Soyres memorial, discussions took place over the subject to be chosen. "The Sermon on the Mount" was finally selected, and this will be recognized to be a very appropriate subject, by all who knew the late Mr. de Soyres, who was very fond of this portion of the Scriptures. A new top has been placed on the Smith window to the memory of members of the church who have died in recent years. The tablet will also be unveiled tomorrow in memory of Mr. Soyres. The wardens and vestry have installed it. It is made of brass and engraved by R. H. Green.

It will be placed on the chancel, and will correspond with the tablets already there, which are in memory of Rev. Mr. Armstrong, rector preceding Rev. John de Soyres, and F. W. Daniel, Esq., who was a church ward for 25 years.

With the addition of these new memories, St. John's (Stone) Church is most improved, and the historic edifice will have a beautiful appearance. There are now three very handsome windows, the Smith memorial, installed by G. Sneyd Smith, and his parents; the chancel window which is the largest, costing nearly $4,000, and the de Soyres memorial, which is to be unveiled tomorrow afternoon.

TARIFF WILL DEPEND ON THE FIELDING APPEAL CASE. If it is Promptly Dealt With All Will Be Well—If Not, the Parliamentary Session Must Be Postponed.

(Special to the Star.) TORONTO, Aug. 30.—The debate referring to the appeal in the Fielding case, says: "It is thus obvious that as Mr. Fielding has been conducting personally the inquiries preliminary to the new fiscal legislation, his presence in the House of Commons is a necessity while it is in progress of enactment. If the appeal against the election court judgment is promptly disposed of, there may be no necessity for his departure from the ministerial programme. If a final decision is unduly delayed, it may become necessary to suspend him from the ministerial programme of parliament and putting off the tariff question till the following session. As the chief reason for an unusually early session is the introduction of a tariff bill, the former of these alternatives is much the more likely to be accepted. In any event it is the country at large, not either Mr. Fielding or the government, that will have most reason to regret the protraction of the election case."

JAMES TITUS OF HAMPTON, DEAD. HAMPTON, N. B., Aug. 30.—James Titus, an aged and much respected resident of this village, passed away last evening. Mr. Titus had only been ill for about a week, but it was seen from the first that he could not survive. Mr. Titus, who was seventy-three years of age, was for many years connected with a mercantile business at Upland and later at Sussex. During the past few years he has been engaged in the real estate business. Mrs. Titus, his widow, is now confined to her bed through illness as the result of the sad blow. The funeral will be held on Saturday at ten o'clock, after which the body will be taken to Sussex for interment.

Another Drowning on the River. A Man Named Allen Missing From One of the Steamers.

St. John Man Dead at the Capital—Prof. C. C. Jones to Apply for Chancellorship of the U. N. B.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Aug. 30.—A young man named Allen, about 20 years of age, belonging to Oromocto, is reported drowned. Allen attended the church picnic at Fredericton Junction yesterday. He was one of the passengers last night by the Annie Currier on the return. When the boat arrived at Oromocto, the man was missing. He is supposed to have fallen off the boat and been drowned, as he was subject to fits. A grasping party left Oromocto this morning to grapple for the body. Allen was last seen on the boat about half way up the Oromocto river. No less than fifteen drunks were roped in by the Fredericton police last night and this morning for drunkenness. Yesterday was pay day on the sewerage work and the men blew in their earnings. The members of the Birches entertained J. Fraser Winslow at their camp last evening and presented him with a Dutch clock. Mr. Winslow leaves for Canning, N. S., tomorrow where on Monday he will be married to Miss Elsie Holden of St. John.

At a meeting of the Burns memorial committee last evening it was arranged that $4,000 had been paid in and $800 more subscribed, not yet collected. Of the amount, $500 comes from the John Society and $30 from the Burns Memorial Society. John McKean's check for $500 has been received.

Samuel Beatty, aged 79, a native of St. John, died here this morning from pneumonia. He was a well known citizen and had been suffering from the illness for some time. It is understood that Prof. C. C. Jones of Acadia will be an applicant for the position at the University made vacant by the resignation of Chancellor Harrison. A special meeting of the University senate is called for the 8th of September.

WILL SEE THE EXHIBITION FREE OF ALL CHARGE. Many Persons Have Taken Advantage of the Star's Offer of Free Tickets.

Hundreds of people will see the St. John exhibition for nothing, and still the fair will not lose a cent. The lucky ones are those who have secured the Star's free season tickets. It was anticipated when the offer was first made, that such an inducement would add largely to the circulation list of this paper. The result has been far better than was expected, as very large numbers of readers have placed their names on the lists. In offering these tickets the Star desired to do good to all as possible of those who now purchase paper regularly and the Star would to a certain extent be less subject to fluctuations in circulation due to the condition of the weather which affects street sales. A rainy day makes a difference of over a hundred in the circulation of this paper and this variation it is desired to do away with by making regular subscribers of all readers. Thus the Star will be delivered at any home in the city, Carleton or Fairville, or will be mailed to any address, and in addition a season ticket good for thirteen admissions will be given free to those who before the fair, and all who desire these free tickets should apply at once.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The Herald today says: "Frederick Cromwell and Adrian Iselin have retired from membership in the finance committee of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, though retaining for the present at least, their seats as directors. Through no official announcement of their retirement was made, the fact became known after the regular monthly meeting yesterday of the board of directors. Thomas Muley, president of the Empress Industrial Savings Bank, who is one of the recently elected directors and who was not associated with the Mutual Life during the McCurdy era, was named to fill the vacancy in the committee caused by Mr. Cromwell's retirement. Dumont Clarke, a lawyer who was a member of the old board, but whose record was in no wise impeached during the Armstrong inquiry, succeeds to the place in the committee vacated by Mr. Iselin.

HAVANA, Aug. 30.—A fight took place last night at Calabazar, Havana province, between insurgents and fifteen rural guards. The result of the latter retreated, with one man wounded. Judge Forbes Severely Reprimanded Mrs. Baker and the Prisoner for Their Conduct—The Kerrigans Not Yet Arrested.

The county court was resumed this morning at ten o'clock and on inquiry of Judge Forbes it was stated that the Kerrigan brothers up till that time had not been arrested. The case was set over until tomorrow morning. Judge Forbes addressed the grand jury and gave them the case of the King vs Wm. Hanley for rape on an eleven year old girl named Baker, also the King against James O'Brien for robbery.

The grand jury were out until 11:45 and on return Foreman Chas. Jones said that the jury found no bill against Hanley, but a true bill against O'Brien, who is charged with robbing a man named Forsythe on the Shanmore grounds last week. The foreman of the jury also said that they had a recommendation to make. He said it had been brought before the jury that the case of the jail yard is not high enough to prevent the prisoners from looking into the adjoining property of Leinster street and that the prisoners in the jail can be seen creating and undressing. This is extremely offensive, and if a higher fence was erected these scenes would be stopped and persons on Leinster street could not converse with persons in jail. They recommended that a higher fence be erected. Judge Forbes thanked the jury for calling attention to this matter and said he would place their recommendation before proper authorities, as he thought people outside the jail should not have a chance to converse with people in the jail.

The jury were then discharged and it was stated to the judge that the jail fence was at present thirty feet high, and that the citizen who had complained had been offered stained glass windows for the rear of his house as a further protection. Judge Forbes then called Mrs. Baker and her eleven-year-old daughter and explained that the grand jury had decided that Hanley was not guilty of assaulting the little girl. "It simply means that the grand jury do not believe you or your daughter, and from now look well for a woman to have eighteen citizens disbelieve her. You ought to look after your child. I have heard she is often on the public square and is very forward, and as for yourself, you should not meet men on the street and drink liquor with them. You have not been long in this country and the community will not put up with such conduct. If you do not reform you will get into serious trouble. You should not be out in the morning at four o'clock drinking with men. Your husband is a hardworking man and you should do better in the future and look after your child."

Hanley was then brought into court and before being discharged Judge Forbes told him that he better reform, that he had no right to be around the streets at four o'clock in the morning with a bottle of gin in his pocket. "I warn you," said the judge, "that you had been found guilty of this crime you would have received 20 lashes on your bare back. You have been under the shadow of it, and have just escaped. Your parents are decent people and that may have had something to do with the jury bringing in no bill. You were given the benefit of the doubt and cleared of one of the most disgraceful crimes that has been recorded in this city. You had better reform for your actions are only leading you on to such a punishment as that you have just narrowly escaped. You can go."

The court was then adjourned until tomorrow morning.
