WEDDINGS

Howland-Wisely

Miss Bessie T. Wisely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wisely, was united in marriage yesterday morning at 7.30 o'clock to Charles H. Howland of Greenfield, Mass. The ceremony which was very quiet owing to the illness of the bride's sister, was performed by Rev. W. H. Barracough.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a travelling dress of white with white hat trimmed with flowers, and she carried a large showy bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Vivian Armour, daughter of Thomas Armour, Douglas avenue, as flower girl. Miss Armour was dressed in white with blue trimmings, and carried a basket of roses. The bride's mother was gowned in black silk. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. Three young friends of the bride, Miss Hazel Campbell, Miss Alice Wilson and Miss Elsie Estabrooks, assisted at the breakfast. The bride and groom left by steamer for Boston on a tour of American cities before going to Greenfield, where they will make their home. The wedding was attended by sisters of the groom, Mrs. Finley and Miss Howland, who came here for the ceremony. The happy couple received many beautiful presents in cut glass, silver, and china. A number of cheques were also received. The groom's present to the bride was a piano.

Steele-Kennedy

Rev. A. W. Daniel, in St. Paul's church, Rothesay, yesterday afternoon officiated at the marriage of Miss Ethel Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kennedy, to R. M. Steele, of the Bank of Montreal. The bride wore a white muslin frock and white hat. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion. The wedding was a quiet one.

GOOD SHOW COMMISSIONERS DECIDE TO PAVE ORANGE STREET

Improvement for section between Carmarthen and Sydney streets—City will pay funeral and sickness expenses of Police Officer O'Leary.

At the meeting of the city council yesterday money was voted to pave Orange street between Carmarthen and Wentworth streets, and it was decided to pay the sickness and funeral expenses of the late Police Officer O'Leary.

Com. Wigmore moved that a 6 inch main be laid in connection with the Marble Cove sewer, extending from Kennedy street to the head of Rowan's wharf.

The estimated cost was $1,100. He said there was no fire protection for the street between Douglas Avenue and Main street, near Douglas Avenue, while the city is paving Main street. Ordered that permission be granted.

The St. John Railway Company offered to supply electric lighting if the city would carry on the work of paving Main street between Douglas Avenue and Portland street night and day.

Com. Potts said it was his intention to tear up the blocks between the rails and fill in with concrete. His men would work night and day in order to remove inconvenience to traffic, as soon as possible. Ordered that the city be authorized to furnish electric lighting be accepted.

The St. John Railway asked permission to install a cross-over at the Junction of Main and Mill streets, so as to enable the cars coming south to be shifted over from one track to another, so that the permission be granted.

The St. John Street Railway wrote, asking permission to raise a portion of the tracks on Main street by removing two granite blocks of the old pavement, and saying they proposed to lay new rails there. It was decided to grant the necessary permission, the work to be done at the company's expense and to the satisfaction of the city's road engineer.

A renewal lease was ordered issued to W. J. Spencer Thompson of part of lot 12 Brooks Ward at $9.50 per annum, being an increase of 10 p. c.

Engineer's Report.
The engineer submitted a report stating that building a retaining wall, concrete walk and curb, along the frontage of A. R. C. Clarke's property on Tower street, West End, would cost $1,074.

Com. Potts said the retaining wall would have to be built before the sidewalk, and he could not undertake it unless on a bond issue. He moved that the city should be authorized to walk be built. The abutters to pay half the cost of the sidewalk. The retaining wall which would be built by the city would cost $702.

The Mayor—it has been the policy to pay for retaining walls out of appropriations were made.
Com. McLellan said they should have some definite policy regarding retaining walls. A storm might destroy a retaining wall after appropriations were made.

It was decided to make a bond issue and build both retaining wall and sidewalk on Tower street.

Orange Street Paving.
The engineer submitted a report on the proposition to pave Orange street between Wentworth and Carmarthen streets. The total cost would be $7,200; the cost to abutters $3,600.

In view of the petition of abutters, Com. Potts moved that the street be paved, but said the act under which they were working was bad. Orange street was in good condition now.

An order to issue bonds to pave the street was passed.
Com. Potts moved that $1,336 be voted to place new sidewalks on Orange street between Wentworth and Carmarthen streets.

The Mayor—Will the abutters pay half the cost?
Com. Potts—No.
Com. McLellan moved that the city pay all the expenses attending the sickness and funeral of the late Police Officer O'Leary.

Com. Wigmore seconded this.
Com. Potts said the city might be too generous. He said the death of O'Leary as well as the predicament of the young man in jail was due to the system they were working under. He did not know what the bill would be and thought the city had discharged its duty.

Com. McLellan's motion was adopted.
The tender of J. H. Pullen for painting the exhibition buildings for $870 was accepted.

An order to buy 2,000 illustrated booklets of St. John now being prepared by Mr. Hurt, was passed.
Council then adjourned.

Held Pie Social.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the A.O.H. held a pie social at their room in Union street last evening which was in every way successful and enjoyable. The married ladies present acted as chaperons and were assisted by the younger members of the division. A short musical programme formed a

"A MILLION BID" PACKS THE IMPERIAL

Powerful Love Story that made New York sit up, also captures St. John.

George Cameron's famous novel "Agnes," famed for its heart-appeal and thrilling situations, was enacted on the Imperial's screen yesterday afternoon and evening under the title "A Million Bid"—the price a millionaire husband was willing to pay his bride if she would but return his affection. Let it suffice to say it was a signal triumph, not only for the motion picture form of imparting a story but for the excellent cast of players selected by Director Ralph Ince, of the Vitagraph Co. In every detail it was a grand special effort, the collision at sea being appalling in its realism.

Such pictures as "A Million Bid" are gradually taking the place of the spoken play. Theatre after theatre in important cities are being taken over for their exhibition. Little could be desired in addition to what the Imperial presented in the Vitagraph special. It was silent but powerful piece, replete in scenic effect and perfectly understandable to even the most youthful watcher. The story was not commonplace, it was unusual, yet consistent. No short-cuts to climaxes were taken; the action was measured and natural. An air of seriousness pervaded the picture throughout the five parts, and not once did the orchestra have warrant for breaking into lighter numbers.

It was as if some splendid metropolitan travelling organization had put on the play to those who sat enraptured with its enactment, and the deep impression made upon the thousands yesterday will, no doubt, be the means of filling the Imperial several times again today. "A Million Bid" is not a spectacle, it is not a melodrama, it is a human story of intense emotions, a love affair commingled with appalling happenings, avrice and mystery, holding one engrossed until the last foot of film. It will be shown again today.

Holmes and Buchanan rendered a pretty programme of songs including "The Road to Mandalay," "In the Time of Roses" and "Home to Our Mountains." From Verdi's "Il Trovatore," Mr. Buchanan used a grand piano in his accompaniments. The Imperial's next bill will include Mary Pickford and Arthur Johnston in a re-issued Biograph comedy entitled "All On Account of the Milk." The Tango Racer prize tickets are being given with matinee admissions.

pleasing feature of the evening. This took the form of vocal solos, and piano selections. At their next meeting on the first Monday in August the members of the Auxiliary will select the delegates to attend the convention to be held during that month.
