S. T. Wood Explains How Coming of Steamships Changed Old Order—Points Out That Citizens, the Railways and Others Are Building a Greater City—Some of Our Advantages Referred To.

(S. T. Wood in Toronto Globe). St. John, N. B., Jan. 19.—This is a city with not only a past and a future, but a live and active present. The site is lofty and picturesque, almost mountainous in aspect, and ever growing a populous city cannot efface its rugged grandeur. Almost every street opens a framed picture, with a background of receding hills or a close skyline cut by a rocky elevation. The famous reversing falls is a natural feature of continuous interest where the St. John river empties into the harbor. When the river is down and the river flows the normal habits of river life are a picturesque fall over a rocky ledge to the harbor level. When the tide rises and the river is turned back along John's rise to the terrace and the river flows the normal habits of river life are a picturesque fall over a rocky ledge to the harbor level. WEDDINGS UNKINDLY WITNESSED AT SOUTH BAY

Yarmouth, Jan. 16 (Special).—St. Andrew's church was the scene of an interesting event this morning at 7.30, when Jennie, eldest daughter of Thos. Feder, vicar of the late Cape Feder of Halifax, was united in marriage to Thos. Feder, son of Chatham, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Father Young. The bride's wedding gown was of white serge, and her traveling suit blue broad cloth with hat to match. The couple left for St. John this morning.

FOUND WANDERING ON ROAD YESTERDAY MORNING IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Yarmouth, N. S., Jan. 16 (Special).—A wedding took place this morning at 8 o'clock in the Wesleyan church, the contracting parties being Mildred Craig MacLaughlin, youngest daughter of Mr. Lyle MacLaughlin, and Hugh Henry Lyle, wireless operator on the government steamer Stanley. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. M. Hill. The bride, who was unattended, was wearing a traveling suit of blue cloth with hat to match. For St. John, where they will for the present make their home.

Both Hands Frozen—Refuses to Divulge Name, But Says He is Only Three Months Out from England—Proceeds to City.

An unknown man who seemed either unwilling or unable to give any better account of himself than to say that he came here from England, had a rather tough experience in the neighborhood of South Bay yesterday morning. Both his hands were frozen and he refused to divulge his name. He is only three months out from England. He proceeded to the city.

Right on the high-up fence is where you can look down on Mr. Pig. An 'n' relation's walkin' round. Some of 'n' little, some is big. He can't have on a nice pink dress. Cause he won't try so very hard. To keep his clothes real clean, I guess.

Conferece With Premier

Asked regarding the company's ports, he said Halifax will be their winter port and Quebec the summer, with Bristol the port of call. The last sailing to Halifax will be in April. While in the city he had an interview with Premier Hazen, who gave him the view of securing desirable settlers for the Maritime provinces in connection with the C. N. R. operations. Sweden, Norway, Holland, Denmark and Belgium will all be visited. Mr. Howell has secured a number of immigrants in London and he formerly was with the Salvation Army, but resigned to accept his present position with the C. N. R. in October last. The Young Man, an old country periodical, pays him a splendid tribute and under the caption of A Napoleon of the settlement of no fewer than 50,000 British immigrants.

Ottawa, Jan. 23.—It is in the near future, and outside city servants, to sit for city and municipal officers will be required to determine their government.

The question of civil municipal officers was discussed by R. L. Borden, who was accompanied by John Gibbons, who was a member of the Municipal Council.

Time for a Change.

"I think the time has come when the government and the government whether any man in the government and carrying out the government's policy, should not mean that any man not resign but would be a not seek municipal election." Lenox, Conservative view.

Mr. McGivern, of Ottawa, was hard to get good places and he did not look dark ahead. The 3rd and Dr. Daniel, who endorsed the view of Mr. Borden said that Wilfrid's view was the correct one.
