The University Gymnasium, erected within fifty yards of the College, is open to the students upon the payment of a small fee.

The Library contains at present 8,000 volumes, and additions are made to it from time to time as the funds permit. The students have also access, upon the payment of a small fee, to the Library and Reading rooms of the University in the new building just completed to the south of the College. The University Library contains over 50,000 volumes; and the Reading room, lighted by electricity, open both in the day and in the evening, affords every facility for study and research.

The generosity of benefactors has provided a number of Bursaries available for those needing this assistance. The College would be greatly strengthened by further benefactions for this purpose.

The teaching Staff of the College consists of four theological professors exclusively devoted to the work. This is supplemented in two ways: first, by the appointment of Honorary Lecturers upon special subjects; and, secondly, by the appointment from year to year of College Pastors, selected by the council from the older and more experienced graduates. The plan is for at least one College Pastor to come into residence each term for the space of a week or ten days, give special addresses daily to the students, see them in their rooms, and in every way come into close contact with them for the promotion of their spiritual life, and the edification and stimulus which may come to the students from men not very much their seniors, who are of themselves, and who, while still retaining the fresh sympathy drawn from their own student life, can speak to them with the influence and force derived from actual experience in the work.

The very important department of Practical Theology has been strengthened by the appointment of two subordinate teachers—one in Elocution and the other in Church Music—both contributing elements of greatest value in the practical training of students, and fitting them to be more
