CANADA AND THE PEOPLE'S SOCIALIST REPUBLIC OF ALBANIA
ESTABLISH DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS

The Secretary of State for External Affairs announces the establishment of diplomatic relations between Canada and the People's Socialist Republic of Albania.

The Government of Canada and the Government of the People's Socialist Republic of Albania, following negotiations between officials of the two governments, guided by their desire to develop relations between their countries in accordance with the aims and principles of the United Nations Charter, have agreed to establish diplomatic relations as of September 10, 1987, and to exchange diplomatic representatives, on a non-resident basis in the first instance, with the rank of Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary at a mutually convenient time.

The diplomatic relations between the two countries will be governed by the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations of 18 April, 1961, and on the basis of reciprocity.
