

But I must bring this pamphlet to a close. Enough has been presented herein to show the importance of discovery and the value of the treatment, so far as possible to prove such value without a personal application of the process by which to test its merits. The individual work of every owner of this pamphlet.

And in conclusion it seems to the writer that the hour has at last arrived in the revolutionary progress of the race, when there remains no longer any good excuse for ordinary diseases getting a foothold in a normally sound and healthy organization, especially where this treatment is known, and where it is conscientiously and vigorously employed.

And I confidently look forward to the near future when the new physical and metaphysical philosophy, Substantialism, and the new hygienic treatment for preventing and curing diseases of all kinds and with drugs of any description, shall join hands as twin sisters born of our progressive civilization and commissioned from heaven to inaugurate their dual crusade for enlightening and blessing humanity.

SUPPLEMENT TO OUR HEALTH PAMPHLET

After some six months' experience and observation since first issuing our Health-Pamphlet,* and after hearing from several thousand persons who have used the new treatment in the cure of almost every form of disease known to therapeutics, we are now prepared to announce the treatment and re-affirm its inestimable value as a drugless remedy for most diseases, and with all the emphasis that our words are capable of pressing.

* The first copy was issued in April, 1889.