Apples, on the kidneys—oranges, for stomach and appetite—prunes and figs for the bowels. But—fresh fruit won't CURE these organs when diseased; they can only HELP to keep them well.

No man can answer for his courage who has never been in danger.—Rochefoucauld.

"More haste, less speed," and "hasten slowly," are proverbial born of experience that some things can't be hurried without loss and waste. That is especially true of eating. The railway lunch habit, "five minutes for refreshments," is a habit most disastrous to the health. You may hurry your eating. You can't hurry your digestion, and the neglect to allow proper time for this important function is the beginning of sorrows to many a busy man. When the tongue is foul, the head aches, when there is sour or bitter risings, undue fullness after eating, hot flushes, irritability, nervousness, irascibility, cold extremities, and other annoying symptoms, be sure the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition have "broken down." Nothing will re-establish them in active healthy operation so quickly as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves, purifies the blood, and builds up the body. It is a strictly temperance medicine containing no alcohol or other intoxicant.

EXPLOSION KILLED 60

Brockton, Mass., the Scene of an Awful Disaster.

Bolter Exploded in a Shoe Factory Crowded With Operatives of Both Sexes—Unknown Number of Men and Women Incinerated in Building Burned to the Ground—Specimen Instances of Wonderful Heroism.

Brockton, Mass., March 21.—The city is mourning for at least three scores of her citizens whose lives were blotted out last night by the explosion of a bolter in a large shoe manufacturing establishment in the Campello district, conducted by the R. G. Grover Co. The explosion was immediately followed by a fire, which consumed the factory, a long four-story structure, as if it were a house of cards and incinerated an unknown number of men and women, who were unable to extricate themselves from a mass of tangled wreckage formed by the terrific upheaval in the boiler-room. More than half a hundred of the employees in the building were maimed, burned or bruised by the time they reached safe ground.

Smitten Heat of an Inferno. Some had jumped in the mad rush to escape from the doomed factory, which from all parts emitted the intense, awful heat of an inferno, driving back the rescuers, who in a few moments had performed gallant service.

The explosion, which was followed by such a sacrifice of life and appalling instances of human suffering, occurred shortly after the operatives had settled down to the work of the day. Suddenly the air vibrated with the roar of an explosion. At the same moment the larger wooden frame of the factory, a four-story structure, quivered and then the rear portion of it collapsed. In a fraction of a second this section of the building was transformed into a mass of iron and wood wreckage, in the midst of which human beings were pinioned. In another moment flames broke out in the debris and death by fire and suffocation became the fate of scores of the operatives.

When the bolter exploded it passed upward almost perpendicularly, tearing a passage as it went, and killing many on the way. After rising high in the air, it descended half the distance, and averaging nearly cut, its way like some huge projectile, through a dwelling 50 feet away and another dwelling farther on, demolishing the latter structure. Here its course was stopped.

Had Narrow Escape. The house to the north of the factory, through which the exploded bolter crashed, was owned and occupied by David W. Rockwell, the engineer in charge of the bolter, who was among the killed. Mrs. Rockwell, who was sitting by the kitchen stove, had a miraculous escape from death, receiving many cuts from flying bits of timber. Crawling through the mass, Mrs. Rockwell snatched up her two children, who were uninjured, and started for the home of the nearest neighbor, Mrs. Eliza Hood. She found her cottage had been rent asunder by the bolter, the head of which was buried in the middle of the structure. Miss Ella Pratt, 78 years old, who was in the house, was knocked down and stunned, but recovered.

Veritable Fiery Furnace. Scenes of horror followed the razing apart of the factory building. Many fell into a veritable fiery furnace. In the sections of the factory which remained standing the operatives were panic-stricken as they sought escape. Many fled down the stairways and reached the street, others ran to the windows, the fire escapes in many cases having been torn away by the explosion. In desperation many jumped from the second and third storey windows to the ground and were dangerously injured. The crush on the stairways resulted in numerous minor injuries.

Scarcely had the rear portion of the structure collapsed when a tongue of flame started up from the boiler pit, communicating with the splintered wreckage, and soon the entire factory was in flames. Instant death was the fate of many who went down with the floors that collapsed. Many pinned beneath the timbers were roasted to death.

Heroes and Heroines Live Yet! By this time nearby citizens had arrived to assist the employes who aided in the rescue of their fellows. The task became momentarily more difficult and perilous, for the heat from the fire was almost unbearable. Then it was that acts of sacrifice and heroism were seen. One man, whose legs were caught under an iron beam, cried to the rescuers that they could not extricate him and to help the girls behind him. Stretching out his arms, he lifted several girls, one by one and passed them to the rescuers. Then the fire reached him and he died.

Begged to Be Shot. A woman who was entangled in a shoe machine cried out that she was dying and commanded the rescuers to attend to others who might live. She begged to be shot. Soon the flames enveloped her.

Treasurer C. O. Worsnon, of the Grover Company estimated the loss of the factory at $200,000, and the aggregate of loss on the burned structures was placed at about $50,000. The Grover factory, machinery and stock were insured for $200,000.

CARBOLIC ON HER HEAD.

Emma Heath, Aged 14, Dies in Kingston Hospital. Kingston, March 21.—An unfortunate accident took place at the General Hospital. Emma Heath, aged 14, was being treated for anaemia and was also troubled with vertigo. A nurse had taken her over to the sink to bathe her head and had poured out some carbolic acid in a dish intending to dilute it. While she was putting the bottle back on the shelf, the girl took the dish and poured the pure acid over her head, probably thinking it was diluted, as the same treatment had been given before. The nurse at once applied the antidote, alcohol. But all efforts were unavailing, and the child soon after became unconscious and died.

within two hours, with all the symptoms of poisoning. Coroner Munde made an investigation and declared death was due to shock and carbolic poisoning, and decided an inquest was unnecessary. The family are in destitute circumstances, both parents being in the hospital, and the children cared for at the Orphan's Home.

Swept Over the Falls. Niagara Falls, March 21.—An Italian called Frenchy, while shoveling ice out of the entrance to the Canadian Niagara Power Co.'s forebay, lost his balance and slipped into the rushing waters of the main river, and was swept over the falls about 10.30 yesterday morning.

Dead Bodies Recovered. Fire Creek, W. V., March 21.—The search rescue party, which was organized to enter the Burnshurst No. 1 Red Ash mines to recover the bodies of the 24 men who are believed to have been killed by the explosions Saturday and Sunday, were able to enter the mine yesterday.

Deaths in the Flood. Elmira, N. Y., March 21.—The Chemung River and its smaller tributary streams, which went on a rampage and did considerable damage Sunday, all receded yesterday, owing to the sudden drop in temperature. Three deaths, two in nearby villages and one in this city, resulted from the flood Sunday.

Forced to Leave Homes. Meadville, Pa., March 21.—The streets in the southern and western portions of the city are inundated and scores of families have been forced to leave their homes. Many people are homeless and considerable property has been destroyed at South Sharon by a sudden rise in the Shenango River.

A GOOD DEAL OF NON-SENSE.

ABOUT "BLOOD PURIFIERS" AND "TONICS."

Every drop of blood, every bone, nerve and tissue in the body can be renewed in its own way, and this is from wholesome food properly digested. There is no other way and the idea that a medicine itself can purify the blood or supply new tissues and strong nerves is ridiculous and on a par with the folio-de-rol that dyspepsia, or in fact, is a germ disease, or that other fallacy, that a weak stomach which refuses to digest food can be made to do so by irritating and inflaming the bowels by pills and cathartics.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure indigestion, sour stomach, gas and bloating after meals, because they furnish the digestive principles which weak stomachs lack, and, unless the deficiency of pepsin and diastase is supplied, it is useless to attempt to cure stomach trouble by the use of "stimulating" cathartics, which have absolutely no digestive power, and their only effect is to give a temporary stimulation.

One grain of the active principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat, eggs and similar foods, and experiments have shown that they will do this in a glass bottle at proper temperature, but of course are much more effective in the stomach.

There is probably no remedy so universally used as Stuart's Tablets, because it is not only the sick and ailing, but well people who use them at every meal to insure perfect digestion and assimilation of food. People who enjoy fair health take Stuart's Tablets as regularly as they take their meals, because they want to keep well, prevention is better than cure, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do both; they prevent indigestion and they remove it where it exists. The regular use of one or two of them after meals will demonstrate their merit and efficiency better than any other argument.

Flour Mill Gutted.

Beaverton, March 21.—About 9 o'clock Sunday night a fire broke out in the large brick flour mill owned by Alexander Dobson, caused by an overheated furnace of the electric light plant. The mill is completely gutted, leaving only the walls standing. About 20,000 bushels of wheat and flour were destroyed. The loss is estimated at about $40,000. The total insurance is about $14,000, insured in several companies.

HER MOTHER CALLED HER.

Ethel Bell, Formerly of Hamilton, Takes Carbolic Acid.

Windsor, March 21.—Lonely and brooding over the death of her mother, which occurred at the family home in Hamilton nearly two years ago, Ethel Bell, aged 15 years, a pretty brunette, attempted suicide at the home of her sister, Mrs. Merchant, 419 McClellan avenue, Detroit, Sunday night by swallowing carbolic acid.

Prompt medical attention may save her life, although her mouth and stomach are burned.

"I dreamed I saw my mother," said the girl, "and then I was so lonely and unhappy I wanted to go to her. She stood with her arms outstretched calling me just as she used to do, and I tried to put my arms around her neck and then I knew it was only a horrid dream and swallowed the poison."

Last night the nurses at St. Mary's Hospital says Miss Bell is very low, and her death may come at any moment. In her delirium, the girl calls pathetically for her mother, and assures her that she will soon be with her.

KILLED BY HIS FATHER.

Coroner's Jury's Verdict on the Death of William Phelan.

Montreal, March 21.—The members of the jury, after having heard the evidence, declare that William Phelan died in Montreal on Saturday morning, March 18th, from a fracture of the skull, caused by blows administered by the father of the deceased.

The above is the verdict which was given by the jury at the inquest held yesterday morning over the body of William Phelan, 17 years of age, who died shortly before noon on Saturday, of injuries inflicted by his father, while lying asleep in bed at his home, 42 Dorion street.

Coroner McMaston, before the commencement of the inquest, instructed the jury to render a verdict according to the facts as disclosed by the evidence. It might appear certain that the elder Phelan was insane at the time of the tragedy.

Peace With Mad Mullah.

Rome, March 21.—In concluding peace with Great Britain, through the mediation of Italy, the Mad Mullah has obtained permission definitely to occupy Illig, a village on Italian territory 160 miles from Obbia, which was the base of operations in the last campaign led by Gen. Manning. Coast rights are granted the Mullah, qualified by a prohibition of trade in arms and slaves.

Blake Makes Speech.

London, March 21.—(C. A. P.)—Edward Blake made his first considerable speech of the session in proposing to reduce the civil service estimates by several hundred pounds, on the ground that the report of the land commissioners, relating to the administration of the Irish Land Act, had not been made public. The Government, however, obtained a majority of 74.

THE DEAD MARCH.

Hats off, friends, for the funeral train The dead was with me and great We honored him, the living man; We bury him in state. Horses with sable housings decked, Plumets, wreaths—all pride can ask; Sorrow makes housings at his bier And Envy wears a mask.

Look how his dust is reverenced! Let God accept his ghost! We give him noble sepulture And praise our utmost. We fire the streets with soldier And mournful thousands throng to see His empty bier go by.

We wish his soul fair voyaging In that untraced domain; We set our sighs to beats and bars, His melody complain. Can you not think you it there? As down the road it comes— That silver grief of clarionets, That muffled woe of drums?

Hear you the tread of marching feet, The undulating chord? Can you not think you it there? As down the road it comes— That silver grief of clarionets, That muffled woe of drums?

What if our lamentations fade Upon the idle air? Even our fruitless message holds The enrichment of prayer. We do not crave God's pittance Some pray to be in vain. But by our hearts beneath His feet To pour His glory in.

Whoever serves his country well has no need of ancestors.
