The Grave-digger.

Oh, the shambling sea is a sexton old,
And well his work is done.
With an equal grave for lord and knave,
He buries them every one.

Then hoy and rip, with a rolling hip,
He makes for the nearest shore;
And God, who sent him a thousand ship,
Will send him a thousand more;
But some he'll save for a bleaching grave,
And shoulder them in to shore—
Shoulder them in, shoulder them in,
Shoulder them in to shore.

Oh, the ships of Greece and the ships of Tyre
Went out, and where are they?
In the port they made, they are delayed
With the ships of yesterday.

He followed the ships of England far,
As the ships of long ago;
And the ships of France they led him a dance,
But he laid them all arow.

Oh, a loafing, idle lubber to him
Is the sexton of the town;
For sure and swift, with a guiding lift,
He shovels the dead men down.

But though he delves so fierce and grim,
His honest graves are wide,
As well they know who sleeps below
The dredge of the deepest tide.

Oh, he works with a rollicking stave at lip,
And loud is the chorus skirled;
With the burly note of his rumbling throat
He batters it down the world.

He learned it once in his father's house,
Where the ballads of old were sung;
And merry enough is the burden rough,
But no man knows the tongue.

Oh, fair, they say, was the bride to see,
And wilful she must have been,
That she could bide at his gruesome side
When the first red dawn came in.

And sweet, they say, is her kiss to those
She greets to his border home;
And softer than sleep her hand's first sweep
That beckons, and they come.

Oh, crooked is he, but strong enough
To handle the tallest mast;
From the royal barque to the slaver dark,
He buries them all at last.

Then hoy and rip, with a rollicking hip,
He makes for the nearest shore;
And God, who sent him a thousand ship,
Will send him a thousand more;
But some he'll save for a bleaching grave,
And shoulder them in to shore—
Shoulder them in, shoulder them in,
Shoulder them in to shore.
—Bliss Carman.

A Romany Tent.

By Lalia Mitchell.

When you bring your pledge of a lasting love,

A love that is fond and free,
Oh, whisper not of a castle high
Or a yacht that sails the sea.
I want no tale of a palace fair
That towers over loch and lea;
But a table set in the open air
And a Romany tent for me.

When you whisper words that should please me well,

When you woo me, Sweetheart mine,
Oh, paint no picture of wealth and power
Of silks and of jewels fine,
And breathe no word of the jostling throng.

For my heart would fain be free;
I go where the woodland paths are long,
And a Romany tent for me.

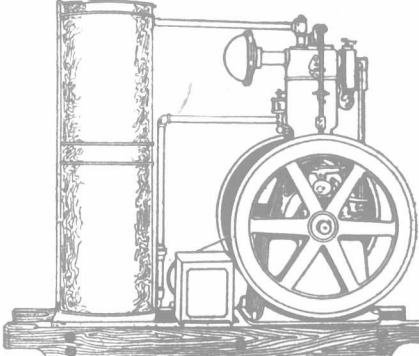

Will you meet my wish, will you walk my way?

Will you chart the flower-strewn lea?
Will you curb your pride, will you keep the faith,
The faith of my company?

I will bear no yoke, I will wear no brand,
But my heart shall be true to thee,
So give me the world for a home, and love

In a Romany tent for me.
