

One of the best balanced bills of the season is that at Bennett's Theatre this week and the enthusiasm of the first nighters augurs well for a big week's business. One of the leading features of the bill is a miniature musical comedy, "Paradise Alley," in which Max Reynolds, as a pugacious Irishman, and Irving Brooks, as a German with a passion for playing a clarinet, keep the audience on the laugh in the time between some catchy musical numbers by a clever little chorus headed by pretty Marquerite Kane and Irving Newhoffe. The Big City Quartette put up an excellent programme of vocal numbers and were the recipients of many encores, Gus Reed and Robert Webb coming in for the most of the applause. The acrobatic feature of the programme is furnished by the Abtallah Brothers, a trio of young men with some marvellous stunts in the way of muscular phenomena, their fourteen-foot leap from hand to hand, bring down the house. The Kratons with their hoop-rolling act made a hit, their control of a host of swiftly moving hoops approaching the marvellous. La Veola, the Parisian dancer who ties her lissome figure into several kinds of knots, as an interlude to some very graceful dancing, was also a favorite. Ed. Gray was much to the good with his monologue during which, in addition to some mirth provoking gags, he gave a number of capital hits of Irish and German dialect. Miss Francis Haight and E. Frederick Hawley, the headliners in the dramatic playlet of Mexican life, entitled "The Bandit." Their work was of a high order of merit and the many curtain calls with which they were rewarded, testified to the appreciation of the audience. Paul Le Croix, an eccentric juggler with a wonderful dexterity in tossing of hats and balls, and the Bennettograph with a thrilling racing scene completed the bill, on that well deserved big houses every night of the week.

Miss Lillian Russell.

Lillian Russell, as beautiful as ever and more slender than she has been in fifteen years, comes to the Grand next week with her new racing comedy, "Wildfire," in which she has made such a success in every city in which she has appeared. Her new play is a story of the race track, in which there is plenty of humor and enough strong situations to show how much Miss Russell has developed as a comedienne. Three years ago she essayed the role of Lady Teazle in a musical version of a famous old comedy. The screen scene in the play was kept intact by the adapter. This is one of the tests of a comedienne's ability. Miss Russell made such a good impression that her managers, Klav & Erlanger, determined to have her forsake lighter opera roles and play comedy parts. A continent wide tour in "The Butterfly," which was an artistic and a financial success, proved their good judgment.

The Four Huntings.

The Four Huntings in their musical comedy called "Fun in a Fool House," will be seen at the Grand next Friday and Saturday. These clever people are surrounded by a company of forty singers, most of which are girls and the performance is said to be hugely amusing. The Huntings are the best acrobatic comedians on the American stage, having had their schooling in the circus arena. Seats will be on sale to-morrow.

At the Savoy Theatre.

A capital new bill is presented at the Savoy Theatre to-morrow, and it was greatly enjoyed by large audiences. There are several feature acts on the programme, the greatest of these being Baron's Burlesque Menagerie. It is the funniest animal act seen here for years. In it large dogs, in the skins of lions, tigers, leopards, perform in a circular cage, and the act is most realistic. The trainer has a fine sense of humor, and the burlesque is rich in the extreme. A feature of the act is a cat race, the race being up instead of straightaway. Four ropes are stretched from the stage to a bar near the flies, and a cat scrambles up each. The one landing first in a basket at the top is declared the winner. A "disappearing trunk trick," involving a dog and cat, is another original trick shown, while still another notable feat is that of a dog called the "jail-breaker," one of the dogs releasing the trainer from handcuffs. Other interesting and amusing tricks are performed by the animals, which appear to enjoy the performances as much as the spectators.

Mark Sullivan did a most amusing monologue turn. He is a fast worker, and his line of talk is good and refined. Mr. Sullivan was one of the hits of the bill.

A clever sketch, "A South Dakota Divorce," was given by J. K. Emmett and Anna Morland. Both are clever performers. Mr. Emmett being a comedian of a high order, and Miss Morland being an emotional actress of no mean ability. There are some funny situations in the playlet, and they are made the most of by the duo.

The juggling act of Marriott Brothers and Gilbert Eldred was something of a revelation. They whirled heavy hoops like pinwheels, and closed the turn with a vehicle novelty. A horse and rig were brought on the stage. The horse was taken out of the shafts and one of the members stood on its back and juggled the rubber tired rig as one might do with a doll's carriage.

Joe Echel and Minnie Dupree did a good song and dance turn. The buck dancing of Miss Dupree was the best thing in the act, and brought down the house.

The rest of the bill was up to the standard of Savoy attractions, as follows: Sharp Brothers, black faced singers and dancers; Two Roses, clever instrumentalists; Max Freeman, contortionist, and moving pictures of the Dieppe automobile race in France. The motion pictures were especially fine, and held the audience to the close.

The management announce the appearance at the Merrick street play house shortly of two of the best features playing vaudeville to-day, the Great Sevengala and the Alexandroff Troupe of Russian dancers. Sevengala is heralded as the king of hypnotists, and the act comes with flattering endorsements from the press and public. The transmission of thought by telepathy plays an important part in the programme, and is said to be entirely different from all other acts of the kind, not a word being spoken during the experiments, the tests being suggested by different ones in the audience. The Alexandroff Troupe, a world's greatest Russian dancers, made a tremendous hit at the New York Theatre, and is admitted to be the best attraction of its kind on the stage. It is composed of eight boys and four girls.

Used Her Photograph.

Miss Annie Webb, of Toronto, has commenced an action against Mr. Ambrose J. Small, proprietor of the Grand Opera House, for $2,000 damages. Plaintiff claims that the defendant published a copy of a photograph of herself in a programme of the Grand Opera House, the plaintiff being described as Florence Rossland. A person bearing the name of Florence Rossland was actually taking part as an actress in the play, "The Fatal Flower," referred to in the programme.

"Jerry From Kerry."

Patrons of the Grand are to have "Jerry From Kerry" next Monday evening. This company, which is headed by the old-time comedian, John Patten, and the successful young entertainer, Wm. Fletcher, carries a superior concert band and orchestra, and gives a high-class comedy production, which will be appreciated by all.

Heather Quartette To-night.

Those who attend the concert and recital in Association Hall to-night will be delighted with the programme. The Heather Quartette is composed of all stars. Each voice has been artistically cultivated, and the four are well balanced. The harmony produced is inspiring. They make a specialty of Scotch songs. Miss Grace Merry is an excellent first rank, a charming personality and an expert in dialects. A high-class programme is assured, and it is under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Reception Committee there are two good reasons why this Association Hall should be filled to-night.

BIG TIME PIECE.

St. Cecilia Chapter Gave it to the Savoy.

The members of St. Cecilia's Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, sprang a little surprise on the management of the Savoy Theatre yesterday afternoon, when the officers of the society called on Mr. William Stroud and Manager Appleton and presented the theatre with a beautiful grandfather's clock, Mrs. Burkholder, President of the chapter, made the presentation on behalf of the members, and explained that it was a token of their appreciation of the kindness of the management of the Savoy in placing the theatre at their disposal on different occasions, so that funds might be raised for the worthy objects of the organization.

Mr. Appleton made a happy reply and declared that it was a pleasure for the management of the theatre at any time to do anything it could for the ladies of the society. Mr. Stroud also expressed his appreciation of the beautiful gift, and invited the Daughters of the Empire to call on the Savoy at any time they desired for assistance in their worthy work.

The grandfather's clock stands just inside the main entrance at the theatre. It is about six feet high, and a brass plate on it bears the inscription, "Donated to the Savoy by Cecilia Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, January 13th, 1908." Nothing since the opening of the popular Merrick street playhouse has tickled the management quite as much as the big timepiece, which adorns the lobby, and it was much admired by the crowds that passed through the portals last night.

CANADIAN WRITERS.

Interesting Address at Centenary Literary Meeting.

A large audience attended the lecture in Centenary lecture hall last evening, and it proved one of the events of more than usual merit, provided by the Centenary Literary Society. The lecturer, Prof. L. E. Horning, of Victoria University, recently returned from Germany, gave a delightfully interesting talk on Canadian poets and writers of prose. The professor gave a terse review of Canadian literature, including such writers as Judge Haliburton, Major John Richardson, Dr. Alger, Robert Barr, Eric Bunt, Miss Duval, J. H. Burnham, Sarah Dunn, Miss Norman, Duncan, W. A. Fraser, Ralph Connor, Sir Gilbert Parker, Chas. Roberts, Dr. Drummond, Lampman, Miss Wetherell, and many others, reading several selections from Bliss Carman and W. W. Campbell. Prof. Horning says there is a great literary future for Canada if the writers will omit irreverent humor, and cultivate the pure imaginative and creative in life, which appeals most to the hearts of the people. A vote of thanks was passed to the lecturer on motion of Mr. S. F. Lazier, seconded by Mr. E. S. Hogarth. During the evening Miss Georgina Mills played a piano solo, and Miss Ward and Mrs. J. E. Magee contributed greatly to the pleasure with vocal solos.

The city of Toronto cannot collect the business tax from private clubs. This is the opinion of City Solicitor Chisholm, based on a decision of the Court of Appeal in the case of the Ridgely Club, Ottawa. The Court of Appeal decided that the club in question was not liable for the business tax, as it did not carry on a business which paid dividends or made profits.

This completed the last year's business, and arrangements for the ensuing year were made.

T. J. Coughlin was elected chairman, and Father Leyes was re-elected secretary.

The Striking Committee consisted of the following members: J. Reding, H. J. Thomas, M. Keeting, G. Southworth, P. J. Galvin and J. Sullivan. They made the following recommendations:

Mr. H. N. Thomas was appointed representative on the Art School Board, and Mr. J. M. Brown on the Library Board.

The following were appointed to wait on His Lordship, the Bishop, to request him to act as superintendent of Separate Schools: P. J. Galvin, H. N. Thomas and J. Sullivan.

Owing to the expiration of the insurance policy of $12,750, it was proposed to insure one half, $6,375 in the Guardian Insurance Co., represented by J. F. Egan, but this was defeated by 7 to 4, it finally being decided to insure the total amount with Mr. J. P. Dougherty, the agent who had previously arranged the insurance.

The action of the members expressed their appreciation of the services of Mr. Bird, who went over the books at the City Hall and secured the information by which the board was successful in collecting considerable money due it from the city.

Mr. Bird has served as chairman of the Finance committee before.

BRITANNIA RINK.

Wednesday to be Maintained as Big Night.

Wednesday night will, as usual, be a big one at the big roller rink on Barton street. The management is bound to keep Wednesday evenings open for its big events. This Wednesday night will be a big one. Two give-and-take numbers, something altogether new in the way of roller skating, but very familiar to dancers, will be put on one for ladies and one for gentlemen. Besides this, six couples' skating numbers and six all skate numbers will be put on and a most enjoyable time is assured all who will attend.

The band has arranged a select programme of skating numbers for that evening, and some of the prettiest skating music ever played will be heard. Britannia Rink ceiling was built with an idea to sound, and the band, being placed near the ceiling of the building, the music can be heard by the skaters while at any part of the floor, a quality that can be claimed by very few rinks where either roller or ice skating is enjoyed.

On Friday evening the third event of the one-night series will be skated. In one of the first two events of the series the race has been to a finish, and the same will be true of Friday night's event. Many winners of prizes in the former two-mile events will be competitors and one or two dark horses are said to be among the entries.

SKATING PARTY.

Another roller party was held at the Britannia Rink last evening, when Miss French and Miss Lucas had about forty of their young friends there to enjoy two hours' skating. After skating the party went to the home of Miss French, 152 Grand avenue, where lunch was served, after which dancing was indulged in until an early hour, after which the gathering broke up, thanking both young ladies for the pleasant evening spent.

Neil Taylor, who on December 21st had his neck broken at St. Thomas by falling into a sewer excavation on which he was working, succumbed to his injuries in the hospital on Monday.

LIBRARY AND TOWN COUNCIL

Held Organization Meetings in Dundas Yesterday.

Mayor Moss Outlines Work for the Year.

John Maule Gives Banquet for the Firemen.

Dundas, Jan. 14.—(Special).—The annual meeting of the Public Library was held last evening, Miss Annie Watson, the President, in the chair. There was a good attendance, including a goodly number of ladies, many of them attracted, no doubt, by the announcement that Mr. Robert McKechnie would give an address on the establishment and early history of the institution, and this he did in a most interesting and entertaining manner, and for which he was given a hearty vote of thanks. A report of the address will appear in to-morrow's paper.

Mr. J. J. Steele made a motion, suggesting that instead of selling the used magazines and periodicals for the past year, as has been customary, that they be donated as has been desirable to the directorate. The motion carried.

Mr. Saunders is a short address moved that the directorate be given authority to re-arrange the reading room and library, and have them better lighted and made more attractive in appearance.

The following financial statement was given for the past year:

Balance on hand	8 49
Membership fees	265 49
Legislation grant	129 20
Municipal grant	350 00
Rents	175 38
Sundries	11 97
Total	887 57
Expenditure—
Rents, light and heating	825 62
Salaries	248 07
Books, fiction	5 13
Magazines, newspapers, etc.	61 25
Insurance	11 34
Taxes	191 17
Card catalogue	79 97
Sundries	79 97
Total	887 57

Among other items of interest gleaned from various reports submitted were the following:

Total number of books in library, 8,188; volumes issued during the year, 8,350; number of daily papers, 6; number of magazines, 21; number of weekly publications, 9; reading room open 14 hours every day, except Sunday; number of members who paid for maintenance during the year, 242; premium paid for insurance on books, $21.

A memorandum book is kept in the library, in which any member is requested to enter the name of any book deemed desirable for the library, of which the Library Committee will, when ordering, take note.

W. F. Moore, Chairman of the Library Committee, in a short address, said that the directors in selecting magazines and other literature for the reading room had invariably given preference to Canadian and British works. He made mention of the small number of religious books taken from the shelves. Another matter he called attention to was that criticism from the local press during the year.

Miss Watson, the President, in her address spoke encouragingly of the work, during the past year. The book purchases, she said, had been small, owing to the amount required to provide the new system of cataloguing.

J. J. Steele spoke of the portraits of some of the old-time Presidents, that adorned the walls, and suggested that efforts be made to secure the portraits of as many past Presidents as possible. The donors of denominational, and the town, papers, were thanked for their kindness, and the Auditors, J. C. Brown and C. H. Moore, were thanked for their services.

Balloting for directors for the ensuing year resulted in the following being elected: Miss Annie Watson, Miss Sara Bowman, Mr. F. Moore, Rev. James Grant, J. J. Steele, W. R. Saunders, Dr. E. C. Jones, C. H. Moore, N. McPherson.

Following the adjournment of the annual meeting the newly elected directors met and appointed officers and committees for the ensuing year, as follows:

President, J. J. Steele.
Vice-President, Rev. James Grant.
Secretary, Dr. E. C. Jones.
Treasurer, W. R. Saunders.
Finance, W. R. Saunders, Rev. Jas. Grant, Dr. E. C. Jones.

Library—W. R. Saunders, W. F. Moore, Miss Watson, Miss Bowman.
Property—J. J. Steele, Dr. Jones, N. McPherson, C. H. Moore.
Entertainment—Dr. Jones, N. McPherson, Miss Watson, Miss Bowman.

Town Council Meeting.

The inaugural meeting of the Town Council was held yesterday, when Mayor Moss, Reeve Lawson, Deputy Reeve Spittal, and all the new members of the Council took the oath of office. His Worship's address recommended repairs to the roadways of York, Baldwin, Hatt, Hounslow, Criss street, particularly on what is known as Grafton's hill. Material could be procured from the creek and the roads made good at little cost.

McMurray street bridge, which has been under consideration, should be permanently built. The grading and enlargement of Grove Cemetery should be forwarded as early as possible. Steps should be taken to secure a renewal of a public library. His Worship stated he had been assured of sufficient funds to support and maintain the library from a private source. The water supply, although at present ample, was not of a permanent or satisfactory condition. He favored nothing but permanent sidewalks to be laid in future. A very important question to be considered by the new Council was the expiration of the town lighting contract which he believed should be taken up, and a much better service obtained both in quantity and quality, for less money than under the present contract.

The following members will compose the various committees, the first named being chairmen:

Finance Committee—Councillor J. W. Lawson and whole Council.
Board of Works—Reeve Lawson, Councillors Bertram, Lunn, Spittal and Mayor.

Fire and Water—Councillors Newitt, Bertram, Lawson, Mount and the Mayor.

Property—Deputy Reeve Spittal, Streets, Lawson, Brannigan and the Mayor.

Street Lighting—Councillors Mount, Lawson, Lawson, Bertram and Mayor.

Court of Revision—Councillors Lunn, Deputy Reeve Spittal, Brannigan, Mount and Mayor.

Special Industrial and Railway—Councillors Bertram, Spittal, Lawson, Lawson and Mayor.

Joseph Thompson was appointed school trustee to fill the vacancy of James Bertram, who is retiring.

Auditors—William Dixon and H. C. Davis.

Board of Health—E. A. L. Clarke was appointed for a three-year term.

Fence Viewers—Fire Chief Knowles, R. Hyde and Wm. Dillicks.

Fire Brigade Banquet.

The Dundas fire brigade were right royally entertained at a banquet given by John Maule, proprietor of the Central Hotel, last evening. Chief Knowles and Deputy Chief Lamden and about 50 members of the brigade, with their friends, assembled at the Fire Hall, and marched to the Central Hotel, where Mr. Maule had tables spread with a bountiful supply, and a most efficient staff catered to the wants of the firemen.

After supper C. C. Wilson was appointed chairman, when the customary toasts were proposed and responded to.

Chief Knowles, on behalf of the Fire Department, thanked Mr. Maule for his generosity in giving a supper annually to the boys. This was only one of the many acts of kindness Mr. Maule had shown the brigade. He was always a friend, and ever willing to assist the department. He regretted Mr. Maule was about to leave Dundas, and hoped to be able to call on him when he took over the Flamboro Hotel in Hamilton. The chairman also spoke highly of Mr. Maule as a good citizen, and regretted his departure from town. Mr. Maule had made an enviable reputation as a sportsman, always willing to contribute to anything to forward the interests of the town, and what was more, his charity knew no bounds. Mr. Wilson praised the firemen for their good showing on Civic Holiday. If the celebration this year took the form of an old boys' reunion, it was intended to devote one day to a firemen's demonstration. The various sporting clubs in town would feel they were losing a good friend in Proprietor John Maule, of the Central, and closed his remarks by calling on Chief Knowles, who, after reading an address, presented Mr. Maule with a gold clock with the inscription: "Presented to John Maule by the Dundas Fire Department, 1908. Mr. Maule replied briefly, and thanked the donors one and all; he also regretted leaving Dundas, where he believed he had as many friends as any citizen. He was a fireman at heart all the time, and always felt it a pleasure to assist in any way his town's brigade. The Dundas firemen would always find a welcome in the hotel in Hamilton, where he proposed moving to, and were it not that he thought it to better, his condition, he would be quite willing to live in Dundas, and hang round the boys. Chief Knowles, Mr. W. H. Unifield, reading by R. Karch; speeches by James small, F. Burton, F. Nelson, Deputy Chief Lamden, Wm. Mart, B. Carson and Jos. Hourigan.
