Now that the Manitoba movement for the year has begun, information for emigrants urnished by those acquainted with the country must prove both interesting and profitable. The Winnipeg Times gives the ollowing estimate of the first year's needs of a family of settlers :

Yoke of exen..... ing fee.....

This amount it deems sufficient to tide a family over until they have raised something both for home consumption and sale.

The anti-liquor legislation of Kansas is afficiently stringent character to delight the heart of the most thorough prohibitionist. Not only are all the ordinary forms of sale and drinking prohibited, but even the use of sacramental wine is forbidden to the sacramental wine is forbidden to the churches. In Lawrence last Sunday an Episcopal minister referred to this feature of the law. He said :---"The law absolutely forbids the use of wine in the sacrament, forbids the use of wine in the sacrament, punishing the minister who so administers it with two years' imprisonment in the peni-tentiary, and shutting up the church itself as a public nuisance." But the reverend gen-tleman declared that while willing to render unto Gæsar the things that are Gæsar's, he should also render unto God the things that are God's, and should continue to administer the Lord's supper at all risks. This law may be justly described as an outcome of prohibi-tion gone mad. n gone mad.

One is perplexed to decide whether it is gnorance or perversity that causes some Canadian papers to misrepresent and decry Canada. The Ottawa Free Press, for instance, writing of manufactories and manufacturing, says :--- "We cannot use water-power as our neighbours do, simply because our rivers are ice-bound about half the year." Here are two misrepresentations made in one short sentence. Everybody who knows anything knows that the winters are quite as severe in the eastern and north-western States as they are in Canada. In fact the winter just clos-ing has been more severe there than here. It is also the fact that many Canadian manufac-tories are run by water-owner all the year tories are run by water-power all the year round. When steam is called in to supplement water-power, it is because the water supply is insufficient during the hot and dry summer season. Our Ottawa contemporary's misstatement will be eagerly seized upon by the emigration agents and land speculators of the United States.

" It is a solemn thing to get married," said an old lady to her daughter. "But it is a leal solemner not to get married," was the rejoinder. It seems to be quite a solemn thing to be married even in fun in the United States. In New York, some time ago, a young couple were married in the presence of a large party, as a scene in some private theatricals, and a legal friend of the parents notified them that the marriage was actual instead of ficti-tious. The case was taken through the several courts to the Supreme Court of the State, where they were untied, and received some good advice. The court explained that in the State of New York a man and a woman, who State of New York a man and a woman, who are competent to marry, may, without going to a minister or magistrate, without previous public notice given, with no form of ceremony, civil or religious, and with no record or writ-ten evidence of the act kept, and mersly by words of present contract between them, take upon themselves relation of husband and wife, and be bound to themselves, to the State, and society as such. This reads like an American rendering of Scotch law, and such has makes amorous fooling a dangerous pastime. fooling a dangerous pastime.

young man was a little while ago very anxious (on paper) to row Wallace Ross; on public form he cught to be glad to get on a match with Trickett. I have no reason for supposing that Trickett would accept the challenge if it were issued, unless it be that if Trickett cannot beat Boyd he will have no earthly chance in the American regatas this coming summer. A race between the pair would be interesting; the chief difficulty in the way is too little money on the part of one man and too much bounce on the part of the other.--Referee.

Carlyle and Tobacco. Dyspepsia, as every one knows by this time, was Carlyle's especial thorn in the flesh. Like all persons troubled with that exasperat-ing complaint he tried medicine and diet, but without success. Tobacco is often pronounced one of the chief causes of dyspepsia, although as many non-users of tobacco suffer as those who love the fragrant weed. Carlyle thus relates his experience on that point :---"I had ridden to Edinburgh, there to com-sult a doctor, having at last reduced my com-plexities to a single question. Is this disease except by regimen, if even so? This ques-tion I earnestly put; got response, 'It is tobacco, sir; give up tobacco.' Gave it in-statly and strictly up. Found, after fong months, that I might as well have ridden sixty miles the opposite direction and poured my sorrows into the long hairy ear of the first jackass I came upon as into this select medical man's, whose name I will not mention." THE WEEKLY MAIL, TORONTO, THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1881.

Teaching the noble red man how to delve and plough and sow and reap may not be the pleasant pastime which it looks to be from a afe distance. We have heard no complainte from our instructors in the North-West, but the United States officials represent the task as a difficult and disheartening one. The In-dian's ponies are with infinite difficulty persuaded to wear a harness and pull a plough. The cornfield is marked out, and the young The cornfield is marked out, and the young fellow is instructed how to hold and drive. When he is able to make a few furrows unassisted the white farmer goes off to teach some other agricultural aspirant. Then the sisters, cousins, and aunts of the industrious brave come from the village to taunt him for making a squaw of himself by doing squaw's work, and to offer him some of their gar-ments as his proper apparel. The chances are that he forgets his team to make angry retorts to their sarcastic remarks, the ponies run away, the plough is broken, and he aban-dons the field to lead his old life, gorging himself with Government beef as long as his weekly rations last, and going hungry the rest of the time. But we have demonstrated in Canada that such difficulties are not insuperable, and there is no sufficient reason why our neighbours should find them so.

When it suits the purpose of the moment the Opposition organs vigorously denounce the Orangemen as bigoted, but when facts arise which show that many members of the order are more liberal than their critics, the latter rail against the very liberality of which they profess to have a monopoly. Certain members of the Orange order, who are Conservatives in politics, having supported the nominee of their party in East Northumberland, are held up to scorn by Grit newspapers. There are Grit members of the order whom no reasonable being would expect to oppose the candidates of their party. Why, then, should life-long Conservatives like Messrs. Boyrell and Merrick be abused by the Bowell and Merrick be abused by the "Liberal" press for acting upon their politi-cal convictions? The fact is that there is more unreasonable bigotry and narrow vin-dictive intolerance, political and religious, to be found in the Grit newspaper offices of this country than in the lodges of any society known to the people. Messrs. Bowell and Merrick are entitled to praise rather than to be the society which they took in ander vouring to secure the election of a political ally, whose religious opinions were his pri-vate concern, but whose political views were public property. abuse for the part which they took in endea

Judge Tuley said that men who stand high in science, judges who adorn the bench, attorneys, solicitors, clergymen, physicians, literary men of the highest ability, and in fact, men in every walk and condition of life, honestly believed in these phenomena, and so it would be the sheerest nonsense for him to hold that belief in the phenomena known as spiritualism was, per se, any evidence of un-sound mind. It might lead to unsound mind, but not necessarily so. During a heavy storm on the Texas coast, one day last month, a small sloop, contain-ing two men, was capsized off a place known as Edwards' Point. Both men succeeded as Edwards' Point. Both men succeeded in crawling upon the up-turned keel of the sloop, but they were still in great danger of being washed away and drowned. Hours and hours passed, and when the storm abated the waves ran higher than ever. The clinging sailors were almost exhausted, and one of them at last let go, but he was caught by his companion and lashed to the boat. Finally, the waves carried them to within a mile of the house of Mr. Evans, on the shore, and a daughter of Mr. Evans, and the through a spyglass. The daughter was only 14 years old, but, as there were no men in the house at that time, she determined to go to but not necessarily so. Church Collections. A congregation, which has about 400 com-municants, had taken up a collection, which the treasurer was about to count. The editor

The Empress of Austria. Francis Joseph wasreally in love, or fancied he was, and for a time the union proved a sufficiently happy one. The Empress had been accustomed to imbibe daily a glass of Bavarian beer at her dinner. To this the court officials of Vienna objected, and her with the her network here are a set court officials of Viena objected, and her right to her national beverage was only secured by the direct interposition of her husband. But the Emperor's heart was too large for a single affection, and the Empress had a temper of her own. It is said she once horsewhipped a gentleman on the grand stair-case of the imperial palace. Smarting with his wounds, the chastised one rushed into the presence of the Emperor and demanded re-dress. His majesty shrugged his shoulders, and bestowed upon him the order of the Iron Crown, fifth class, whereat Vienna laughed all themore. By-and-bye the august couple entered on that arrangement which (in ecclesiastical matters, be it understood) is so dear to the intellect of Dean Stanley; they agreed to differ, and have remained exseat sat a man whose whole appearance be-spoke comfortable circumstances. He got his purse open, and as a half dollar pushed itself to the front he took it out and laid it in his hand. Next a quarter came out, and was laid beside the half. Then a dime looked out, and was passed on to the com-pany of its superiors. At last the long-looked for cent appeared. It was picked out and placed between the lips until the other coins were replaced in the purse and the purse in the pocket, and then it was held in the fingers until the basket came and carried it off to celieve the suffering families. Per-haps that cent represents the value of the treasure. Iaid up above by the one who be-stowed it." stowed it."

Chased by Wolves.

Chased by Wolves. Mr. Chas. W. Mocers, formerly of Freder-icton, and Mr. W. S. Tompkins encountered what was supposed to be a pack of wolves, while travelling through a lonely place near Temperance Vale. After a long and exciting fight, during which they discharged the con-tents of two revolvers, they only escaped with their lives by the presence of mind of Mr. Mocers, who threw one of the robes from the sleigh. This act delayed their speed, and, reaching a clearing, they soon came to their Freedom of Speech. While the Parnell party were having their immings—before the Speaker's rules shut their mouths—they did keep the ball rolling pretty well, as appears by the following calculation which some curious lover of figures has pub-lished. In the debates on the Address and on the Protection Bill, 35 members of the Parnell section spoke 714 times—giving an average of 20 speeches per man. Out of this 35 there were 15 who spoke 489 times—or an average of 32 speeches per man ; and out of this 15 there were 10 whe spoke 356 times, which gives an average of 35 speeches apiece. What have we got for 714 speeches—for this enor-mous expenditure of energy, time and elo-quence? Is it a case of "Muckle din an' nee 'oo, as the deil said when he clippit the co"?

Cures, Where Other Remedies Fail.

"No." "Anything to do with the census ?" "Anything to do with the census ?" "Nothing of the sort. Why do you ask ?" "Why, I saw you coming out of a house on Sproat street the other day with two chairs, a broom, and an ottoman flying after you, and I said to myself that you were an official or agent of some sort, and had unintentionally offended the woman." "No, I'm no official or agent," replied the man, in a lonesome voice. "I live there, and that woman was my wife. Savey?" "You bet !" was the sympathetic response, and they crept closer together and took a chew from the same box. - Detroit Free Press. NOBTHPORT, WIS., May 6, 1879. JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Sir, —I have been using your medicine for over a year now and with the best effects. I have used 12 bottles of the Hypophosphites, and it has made a hew man of me. I have been alling over six years with a number of diseases, but lung difficulty was the most pro-minent. I have been under the care of a most mean docted and here the care of a minent. I have been under the care of a great many doctors, and have taken quantities of medicine without any apparent benefit, but appeared to be still growing worse and weaker until I accidentally came across one of your circulars, and was constrained to try your medicine, and I found its effects were almost magical upon me, and I was a surprise to my-self and friends, having gained so rapidly in flesh.
