ANARCHIST HEADQUARTERS.
Special Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Dec. 29.
Some of the evening papers assert that the police investigations of the recent burglaries conducted by a band of Russians show that London was the headquarters of a gang which carried on extensive robberies to secure money with which to further an anarchistic propaganda. Literature preaching anarchy has been discovered among the burglars' effects, as well as explosives, which might be used in the construction of bombs for the purpose of safe blowing. Translators are engaged on bundles of letters discovered, and which, according to the newspapers, make important revelations. Several anarchistic clubs have meeting places in the East End, where the burglars lived, but they have not been molested as the members confined their activities to writing and making speeches. The papers say that the Government is likely to change its policy in this respect, as it is already indicated in the recent suppression of an anarchistic paper. Neighbors of the burglar who was fatally wounded at the time three police officers who had interrupted a burglary were shot to death, state that the man recently made a trip to America and that he received mail from that country.

Relief for Distressed Fishermen.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—Will you kindly give me space in the columns of your paper to make a few remarks concerning a letter which appeared in your issue of Dec. 16th, under the heading "Shipwreck Relief," signed by Theophilus Hart, of Lady Cove, Trinity Bay.

Mr. Hart says he was shipwrecked on Oct. 10th at Bolster's Rock and he and crew were looked after and fed by Thomas Clark of Bolster's Rock and that the latter cannot get paid the amount of $28.00 for board and lodgings.

The facts of the case, Mr. Editor, are these: Mr. Hart applied to me on board the S. S. Invermore and said he had lost his schooner. I told him to go to Bolster's Rock and get a place to stay as the steamer was going north and we would take them on board coming south and bring them home. On our return, Clark presented me with a bill for board and lodging of the wrecked crew. But as Clark had been given sufficient provisions by the Government to carry him through the winter, and money would be no use to him at that time in the season as there was nothing there for him to purchase, I then gave Clarke two barrels of flour extra and some other things which would balance against what he had lost by the wrecked crew, and Clark was quite satisfied, and I am satisfied myself that the Government does not give Clark one cent. Mr. Hart and crew were brought to Trinity and turned over by me to Magistrate Lilly, with instructions to look after and despatch them to their homes as soon possible and which I have no doubt he did.

I would like to remind Mr. Hart that I myself haven't been always fed with a silver spoon as I have been a fisherman myself for twenty-five years and have learned by experience how shipwrecked or any other distressed fishermen should be looked after, and during the past two years I have had a good number of such cases to look after, but I venture to say, there has been no complaints. Mr. Hart says his case may make it bad for other fishermen who may be placed in the same predicament. Don't worry yourself over that, Mr. Hart, as I can guarantee you that no distressed fisherman will be treated wrong while I am there to look after them.

Thanking you for space, Mr. Editor, and wishing you the compliments of the season, I remain,

Yours truly,
JOSIAH GOOSE,
Relieving Officer, Labrador.

Obituary.

MRS. KENNEDY.
There passed peacefully away at her home in Trepassy on the 21st inst. Susan, beloved wife of William Kennedy. Deceased was a Miss Butler, and was born at Trepassy in the year 1851, where she grew up under the guidance of her parents. At the age of eleven, under the care of her aunt, Mrs. Gooley, she went to Buffalo, U.S.A., where she entered school, studying hard for six years. Returning to her native home in the year 1868, specially trained in English and French language, she opened a school, and for several years labored enthusiastically for the education of her young pupils. She was one of those teachers who knew how to use influence in school, appreciating that much more is gained by good advice and kind words than can be expected from harsh measures. Her gentle ways gained for her great respect and the overlying esteem of her faithful young charges. Later she resigned her position as school teacher and married, performing all her duties with love and cheerfulness, making her home one of happiness and contentment. In her early years Mrs. Kennedy was a fine healthy woman, but as she grew older her health began to fail. Gradually she developed a cough, till in the end she became a victim of consumption. As her age advanced so did her disease, and she died at 3.30 o'clock on Wednesday evening. Deceased leaves a husband, three sons and two daughters (all unmarried) and two brothers to mourn the loss of a good and virtuous wife, kind and loving mother and sister; also a large circle of friends and relations. Funeral took place at 2.30 on Friday afternoon, and was attended by a great community of relatives, friends and acquaintances. To the grief-stricken relatives we extend our sympathy.

Twelve men were killed instantly, one died shortly after the accident and three others died in the hospital. In addition 12 others were seriously injured, and it was stated to-night at the House of Mercy here, the hospital to which the injured were removed, that it was feared that two of the patients would die.

INCREASED LOBSTER CATCH.
Special Evening Telegram.
PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 29.
The fishermen of Maine caught 19,938,542 lobsters during the year 1910, for which they were paid $2,145,204, according to Commissioner James T. Donohue. This is three million more than the previous year and nearly twice as many as in 1908, when the catch was 11,000,000. The steady increase in the lobster catch in the last five years is attributed by the Commissioner to the present method of propagating employed by the State and the better enforcement of the short lobster law.

Smashed the Windows

At 4 p.m. yesterday Michael Whalen who was only released from the Penitentiary on the 24th inst., after doing two months for assaulting Sgt. Mackay, appeared opposite the Supreme Court frenzied from liquor. Suddenly he picked up a large stone and hurled it with great force through one of the windows of the office of the Chief Clerk. The missile passed just over the heads of Messrs. Butler and Kent who were at their desks, and striking the opposite wall knocked off a large section of the plastering. He then sent another stone through another window in the office, and walking down the steps opposite the police station started in to bombard that department. The first stone he hurled hit the stones of the building, but the next went crashing through the glass. Sgt. Mackay sat reading the Telegram just opposite the window and the stone passed over his head. He with Sgt. Byrne and Constable Lawlor ran out and arrested the man who violently resisted, and after a hard struggle was placed in the cells. The broken glass was valued for $20.

Again Convicted.

At New Trial on Charge of Dynamiting a House.
Oakland, Cal., Dec. 24.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Isabella J. Martin, charged with having dynamited the home of Superior Court Judge Ogden on March 11th, 1907, returned a verdict of guilty last night, recommending the defendant to the mercy of the court. The verdict marks the end of the second trial of the case. In the first trial, at which testimony was given that the woman had plotted to kill several public men, she was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. An appeal to the Supreme Court brought an order for a new trial. During the trial the accused woman conducted her own case. The evidence showed that Mrs. Martin plotted to destroy the residence of Judge Ogden, because of the jurist's alleged unfairness toward her in the trial on an insurance case in which she was interested. "Baby" John Martin, who she claims is her own child, testified at both trials that he set the dynamite and fired the fuse under fear of death at the hands of Mrs. Martin if he failed.

The Flag Question.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—By what authority does the Allan Line steamer Numidian fly the pink, white and green flag at her foremost head? This flag is not the flag of Newfoundland, as she has no flag but that of the British Empire. It is distinctly a society flag.

Yours,

At the Poor Asylum.

The annual tea was given at the Poor Asylum by the ladies of the mission yesterday, assisted by St. Prisca's. The Christmas Tree was a great success owing to the kindness of outside friends who sent such generous gifts. The inmates thoroughly enjoyed the event especially the concert, and the old songs rendered reminded all of the happy days of their youth. The ladies in charge are deeply grateful to all who assisted in any way to make this event a success. Several new names have been added to the Mission list, and considering the good that can be done it is hoped that many more will join and help to make the lives of these poor people as bright and cheerful as possible. The work of giving teas is kept up at intervals throughout the whole year. The Mission was founded by Lady Thiburn and Mrs. J. E. P. Peters thirteen years ago, and nobody but the Recording Angel knows all the good that has been done since through its instrumentalities. The coming year it is hoped to bring about still greater activity in the work of the Mission.
