Terra Nova Arrives.

COMMODORE OF THE FLEET HAS HEAVY TRIP OF FAT.

S.S. Terra Nova, Capt. A. Keen, the Commodore of the fleet, arrived in from the Northern Seal Fishery at 6 o'clock last evening. The Terra Nova looked very deep in the water as she steamed towards Bowring Bros. South side premises, where she was soon moored. The Terra Nova reported five 1,000 young harps, and 7,000 old harps, a total of 12,000 seals; and is expected to turn out over 400 tons of fat. Capt. Keen like the other skippers of the fleet reports a very stormy spring, while ice conditions were very bad. Capt. Keen said that old seals were very numerous and if his ammunition held out a full load would have been secured.

The body of the young man Nesbitt, who died of an infection of the throat early in the spring, was brought back by the ship and prepared for interment at his home in Pouch Cove. The Ranger, the last of the sealing steamers on the front will remain out for another week and has every chance of securing a good load. She has 65 tons of coal on board which is sufficient to last her for another ten days.

REV. G. O. LIGHTBOURN DELIVERS
INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS.

The members of Llewellyn Club attended the last of the Bible Conferences for the season in Canon Wood Hall last night. The lecturer, the Rev. G. O. Lightbourn, delivered a masterly and instructive address to the young men on "Religion in Terms of Power," which concluded a series of lectures on "Value, Personality and Power." The series of lectures so ably delivered by Rev. G. O. Lightbourn have been greatly appreciated by the members and the Rev. gentleman is to be congratulated for his very instructive discourses.

"The Wife's the Worst, Drive on the Cart."

The following poem prefaces the "Wife or the Widdy," the first story in Volume 2 of Wilson's "Tales of the Borders":—

"There was a criminal in a cart
Going to him was granted;
The crowd and cart did stand,
To see if he would marry a wife.
Or, otherwise, choose to die!
'Oh, why should I torment my life?'
The victim did reply.
'The baron's bad in every part—
But a wife's the worst! Drive on the cart.'"

Repairing Linoleum.

When linoleum has worn into holes in parts where it is most used it always adds a touch of shabbiness to a room. This trouble, however, can easily be remedied in the following way. Chop a few corks into small pieces; a good idea is to put them through the mincing machine. Then mix the cork with some strong liquid glue and work this into the hole in the linoleum. Place a chair, or any similar article, near the spot to prevent people from treading on it, and when the repaired spot is quite dry rub the surface with glass paper. Keep at this till everything is smooth and level.

Although the hole is filled up the patch will show, so it is a good idea to color it to match the surrounding linoleum.

A box of water-colors will be useful here, and if the tinting is done with great care there is no reason why the repaired part should not be almost invisible.

Mountain Disintegrating

A great mountain disintegrating so fast that it is discernable day by day—a thing that ordinarily takes thousands of years—is a geological freak that is occurring in the mountainous regions near Vienna, Austria.

The Aussee Sanding, rising over 5,000 feet, is simply collapsing. Its great cones and pinnacles of rock are crashing and tumbling as if undermined by gnomes.

The forests that clothed the slopes lie flat or move slowly and steadily downward, sliding into the water, and the turf carpet moves with them. Over three and three-quarter miles of territory are involved in the movement, and hundreds of sightseers view the convulsions from opposite slopes.

The phenomenon has been in progress for many months, with gradually increasing acceleration. One scientific explanation is the presence of an abnormal quantity of water in the chalky limestone core of the mountain, causing the collapse of great caverns and the slipping of strata.

IN THE BALANCE.

THE ISSUE CLEARLY STATED.

Within a fortnight will be recorded the decision of Newfoundlanders as to whether they are to be governed by representatives of all the people or whether they will be satisfied to be ruled by a Party controlled by Cooker, Campbell and Squires.

The welfare of Newfoundland is in the hands of her people to-day and what ever happens during the next few years will be traceable more or less to the contents of the ballot box as revealed on Thursday, May the 3rd.

The Parties are being weighed in the balance and we do not doubt the result, for Newfoundlanders of intelligence who have contrasted the records of the opposing leaders must fully realize the inferiority of the Squires-Cooker policy especially in the light of what has happened since the election in November 1919. We shall soon know whether corporations such as those behind Squires and Cooker are to rule Newfoundland, or whether independent men will be entrusted with the task to govern us justly and equitably and with the determination to please the men who put them there and not the corporations who would buy them were such possible.

To every man who loves his country and desires its future welfare, we appeal to mark his ballot on Polling Day for the Opposition candidates. Every man who remains away from the poll or who votes for the Government, votes against men who are appealing for the suffrages of the honest and independent electors, and every man who fails to respond to that appeal does himself a great injustice. Go in your thousands then and vote to save this country from the further continuance of the misrule of those who in less than four short years have undermined its prosperity and impoverished its people.

The men now in power merely want to remain there so that they may reap more of the filthy lucre in which they have revelled the past four years, while you have starved or else had to break rocks or shovel snow to get a bite to eat.

Are you satisfied to see a continuance of this sort of thing for another four years? If not do your duty like men. March to the ballot box and help in the glorious cause and make the victory one that shall be forever remembered in our political annals as the one in which Newfoundlanders made a determined effort to drive out the incompetents and succeeded in keeping their independence and freedom against the machinations of a crowd who reduced this country to a lower level of misery than it had ever seen before. The Squires-Cooker faction has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. No more will Cooker's mad schemes menace our finances. No more will Fish Regulations and scandals of every kind impoverish our Treasury and compel reckless and ruinous taxation. No more will Squires and the corporations behind him impose upon the will of the people by their apparent simplicity which holds a design calculated to wreck the stability of our country. These men have been found wanting in the first principles of statesmanship and should be got rid of without delay.

Therefore, every man should do his duty and help in the work of saving the country. Inaction or apathy is no use when fighting is required. It is up to all men of independent opinion to help to roll up the majorities that will be heralded forth on the boards when the ballots are counted and the news is blazoned forth that the country has decided to go for BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

Obituary.

MISS M. CROFT.

The settlement of Aquaforte mourns the passing of Miss Mamie Croft, which occurred rather unexpectedly on Monday, April 9th. The deceased, who was in her 20th year, had been ill for only a few days before she passed away. The late Miss Croft was of an affable disposition, full of life, and to know her was to love her. She leaves to mourn a father, mother, six sisters, two brothers and a large circle of friends. May her soul rest in peace.
